House Committee Approves 'Gestapo Bill'

EDEN SUGGESTS IT'S TOO EARLY TO PLAN PEACE

Pours Cold Water on 'Blueprints.'

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on page 2.)

Washington, D. C., March 18.—At a secret conference with congressional leaders and the committees on foreign relations today, Anthony Eden, British secretary of foreign affairs, poured icy water on the enthusiastic plans for elaborate and idealistic peace planning now.

According to members of congress attending the session, Eden imparted the unmistakable impression that he was opposed to any attempts now to plot the post-war settlements, especially concerning boundaries and territorial acquisitions.

Eden told the group, according to members, that embarrassing situations might develop if the allies dealt too speedily with peace problems while they are still at war. He emphasized that the question of future boundaries and territorial dispositions should be left until the peace conference.

Had Russia in Mind.

Members said that, of course, they had in mind Russian territorial claims against Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania, and part of Poland. Eden is known to be sympathetic toward Russia. He negotiated the 20 year treaty of friendship and alliance between Russia and Great Britain.

And there were reliable reports that Russia and Britain have agreed on joint domination of post-war Europe, with Britain recognizing Russian territorial claims. Informed quarters here claim that one of the primary reasons for Eden's visit to the United States now is to soft pedal imposition of the Atlantic charter and four freedoms on Russia now, especially the declaration by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill against territorial aggrandizement.

No Blueprint Now.

In the words of one conferee who heard Eden, he felt that there should be no detailed blueprint now for post-war conditions, that there are general understandings which are sufficient for the time being, and that experiences of the war will fill in the details to be considered when the peace conference is held.

The conferees said they were also impressed by Eden's voluntary statement that Britain had no secret agreements or understandings with her allies. They said he appeared to go out of his way to make this statement, recognizing indirectly the reports on Anglo-Russian intentions to dominate Europe.

They said the youthful foreign minister did not mention Russia specifically in connection with post-war plans or treaty obligations, and he was not pressed further by those present.

Cool to Senators' Plans.

When asked about establishment now of such an international organization of the allies as proposed in the Ball-Burton-Hill-Hatch resolution now pending in the senate, Eden made somewhat evasive replies, but commented about exercising caution on post-war planning and didn't afford encouragement to the creation of such a second league of nations now, according to those present.

Eden, who is a member of the British war cabinet, reiterated the pledge made by Prime Minister Churchill that England will help the United States in the Pacific against Japan if Hitler is beaten first.

Nazi Morale Affected.

He declared that German morale undoubtedly has been affected by the continuous bombings by the allies, but that we should not count too much upon cracking German morale very soon. Germany's man power problem has increased and her air power is not as favorable any more.

He said that the enemy made three great mistakes. These were: [1] Hitler's failure to attack England after siege of Dunkirk; [2] the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, and [3] Germany's attack on Russia, instead of trying to get oil supplies by going down thru Turkey.

Eden made a short statement, lasting about 20 or 25 minutes, speaking

CRITICS ASSAIL GRANT OF POWER AS 'TOO BROAD'

Pledge Floor Fight to Curb Measure.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Amid expressions of grave apprehension over extension of the administration's war powers, the house rules committee today approved legislation requested by the justice department providing heavy penalties for various "hostile acts" against the government.

Substantially the same measure has been denounced by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] as "the most dangerous piece of legislation that has been presented for passage in the history of this country."

Opponents of the bill—the so-called war security legislation—warned that it would promote nation-wide snooping and give the administration's hands a powerful weapon for striking at the freedom of the press. It was sought by the justice department on the pretext that it is needed to reinforce weaknesses in the laws covering sabotage.

Would Allow Death Penalty.

The measure would provide penalties up to death or life imprisonment for committing or attempting to commit hostile acts with intent to aid a country with which the United States is at war. It also would impose penalties up to 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for failure to inform the federal bureau of investigation or other agency when some one had "probable cause to believe" that another was committing a hostile act.

It was said that this would lead to snooping on a grand scale, encouraging false accusations and recriminations. Critics who predicted a snooping epidemic have termed the measure a "Gestapo bill."

The bill defines as one of the hostile acts the acquiring or obtaining access to data which might be calculated to aid the enemy. It was said this proviso might be construed so as to permit government infringement upon freedom of the press, subjecting a paper to severe penalties for possessing information, even tho it did not intend to use it under the voluntary censorship code.

Vow Move to Curb Bill.

In reply to questions by Representatives Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] and Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.], Oscar J. Cox, assistant solicitor general, assured the committee that the proposed law could be used only against persons who committed the acts defined in the bill. He emphasized that the intent to aid an enemy would have to be clearly shown.

However, several committee members professed to be still dissatisfied and promised to wage a vigorous fight for limiting amendments when the matter reaches the house floor.

"It is too broad as it stands," Fish declared. "Congress is determined to protect the basic rights of Americans and must be especially careful in acting upon any measure that might affect the freedom of our press."

Warns of Oppression.

Rep. Halleck warned that the bill's sweeping provisions could easily become instruments of oppression.

The committee took the unusual precaution of having a stenographer take down Cox's assurances as to the reason the measure is requested, with the stipulation that they will be made a part of the record on its consideration.

The senate version of the measure has had a checkered history, having been reported once by the small vote of 6 to 2 and later brought back into committee for reconsideration following blasts by Wheeler and others. It is now buried in a subcommittee.

Red, White and Blue Shoes Are Banned by Germany

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 18 (AP).—Norwegian authorities had authorized a shoe factory to produce 20,000 pairs of shoes with wooden soles and paper composition tops. Then the Germans suddenly ordered the production stopped, according to reports reaching here. The Nazis had discovered the shoes were colored red, white, and blue.

FRENCH GUIANA JOINS GEN. GIRAUD

Colony in South America Cuts Ties with Vichy.

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—French Guiana's government has broken away from Adm. Georges Robert, high commissioner at Martinique, and joined forces with Gen. Henri Giraud, high commissioner of French North Africa, the French military mission here said today.

The mission, headed by Gen. Emile Bethouart, received word that the governor of the colony on the north coast of South America and the mayor of its capital, Cayenne, had telegraphed their allegiance to Giraud.

The announcement came simultaneously with reports in Washington that the food situation was serious in Martinique, from which the United States has been withholding food shipments.

Ships Reported Sought.

Robert's authority has extended over Martinique, Guadeloupe and French Guiana. Thus far he maintained what he called an attitude of neutrality toward the war against Germany and has refrained from aligning himself with Giraud and other Frenchmen in a complete break with the Vichy régime of Marshal Petain.

The Giraud forces are understood to be anxious to obtain the use of French ships held by Robert at Martinique, including the aircraft carrier, Bearn, several cruisers and auxiliary vessels, and six oil tankers.

Guiana is the site of the notorious French penal colony, Devil's Island.

VICHY SET UP RULE.

The Vichy government announced last Sept. 29 that it had established local councils to rule France's western hemisphere possessions. French Guiana, Martinique, and Guadeloupe were affected.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced Nov. 23 an agreement with Adm. Robert, as a result of which American occupation of French Guiana, Martinique, and Guadeloupe was regarded as unnecessary. Details were not disclosed. On March 8 Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles said food shipments to Martinique had been suspended in November.

French Guiana long has been considered a danger spot for the allies, especially as a potential if not actual base for axis U-boats.

City to Extend Gala Welcome to First Lady of China Today

Chicago yesterday prepared to look her best for the arrival today of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of China's generalissimo.

In the city's Chinese community, Cermak road and Wentworth avenue, buildings were washed, painted and hung with gay decorations. Signs of greeting were in shop windows. Everywhere there was an air of festivity as Chicago's Chinatown prepared a welcome for the first lady of China.

At the Drake hotel, employés prepared the three room suite that will be occupied by Mme. Chiang. A new mattress was taken into the bedroom. In the dining room that looks out over Lake Michigan a chambermaid flicked dust from the glistening table. The spacious living room and the tiny kitchenette were tidy, homey.

Many Policemen in Guard.

The personal safety of Mme. Chiang was not ignored. Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, announced, after a conference with Capt. Thomas Callaghan, United States secret service chief for this area, that 70 policemen, four policewomen and a number of secret service men will be on duty to guard Mme. Chiang and her entourage of 30 when they arrive.

Capt. Prendergast said 60 uniformed policemen will be at the station. Six motorcycle policemen, four detectives and four policemen will attend Mme. Chiang until she leaves Chicago. Twelve policemen will be detailed at the Drake hotel, he revealed.

The climax of Mme. Chiang's visit will be her appearance Monday night in the Chicago Stadium. Her address, at 10:15 p. m. will be broadcast. Other speakers scheduled are Mayor Kelly, Gov. Green, Director Oveta Culp Hobby of the women's army auxiliary corps, and Paul G. Hoffman, national chairman of United China relief.

Plan Musical Program.

Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens' committee to greet Mme. Chiang, announced completion of the Stadium program.

Among organizations to participate in the event are American Legion national champion drum and bugle corps of Commonwealth Edison post; Great Lakes Training station choir; Women's Symphony orchestra; Metropolitan Church choir, directed by J. Wesley Jones; Polish Women's Alliance of America and Echo chorus, and the Chinese Children's Rhythm band.

Dr. Chang-lok Chen, Chicago consul general, will be host at a reception for China's first lady from 5 to 7 p. m. today in the Gold Coast room of the Drake. Mme. Chiang is scheduled to visit Chinatown Sunday afternoon.

EVEN SHROUD MAKERS CAN HELP WIN WAR, MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS

Philadelphia, Pa., March 18 (AP).—A shortage of shrouds in Africa was cited by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight as an example of how a worker might handicap the war effort unknowingly.

Speaking at a war bond rally in Upper Darby, she said "The sultan of Morocco told our men in North Africa that one of the most important things for his people is white cotton cloth. It is used to make shrouds, and Morocco has been short of shrouds for a long time.

"Now people in this country who make their cotton cloth may well be tempted to take a day off and go fishing, and I can understand that very well. In peacetime, this is a very low paying industry, and there is a great temptation to take a day off now that pay is better. But we need that cotton cloth, so that a day off might mean lost lives on our North African battlefront."

HINT U. S. BUILDS PLANE CARRIERS BY THE DOZENS

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—A hint that the United States is building a large number of medium size airplane carriers came today in a disclosure by Henry J. Kaiser, the shipbuilder, that 12 shipways at Vancouver, Wash., are being used for this type craft.

Kaiser made this known when talking with reporters at the White House, where he called to give President Roosevelt a model of the first ship, to be launched April 5 and sponsored by Mrs. Roosevelt. He said the rate of production is expected to reach six a month by the end of the year.

The shipbuilder did not reveal many details of the craft, but it was evident from what he did say that they are formidable ships altho not first line carriers.

He described them as 487 feet long with a 514 foot flight deck and intended to serve either as a carrier or an aircraft transport. The standard carriers of the Enterprise class are 761 feet long.

Protest WMC Freeze of War Contracts Here

William H. Spencer.

War production in the entire Chicago area will be disrupted by the war man power commission's order freezing war contracts, James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers association, declared last night. Donnelly, who is in New York, and will go to Washington, D. C., to confer with those responsible for this order and urge its withdrawal, issued his statement thru his office here. The WMC also ordered a 48 hour week in the Calumet area effective May 1. This action also stirred protests.

On the other hand, Dean William H. Spencer, regional director of the WMC, declared that the newest regimentation order will affect only the Calumet area for the present and therefore not affect the steel industry in the general Chicago area.

The order reclassified the Greater Chicago area, including Cook county, except the portion south of 82d street and east of Ashland avenue, Lake, McHenry, De Kalb, Kane, Du Page, Kendall, Grundy, and Will counties into "Group II.", where a labor shortage is expected within six months, and designated the Calumet area as "Group I.", indicating an existence of an acute labor shortage.

Includes Parts of Three Counties.

The Calumet district includes Porter and Lake counties, Indiana, and the part of Cook county south of 82d street and east of Ashland avenue.

For Group I., the WMC recommends that no war contracts be renewed if they can be placed elsewhere, that a 48 hour week be imposed, and that hiring be controled by the United States employment service. The Calumet district has an estimated labor force of 285,000 workers.

"It is stated," Donnelly said, "that this order of the WMC means the restriction of placing of new contracts and the restriction of the extension and renewal of existing contracts in this, the greatest war production industrial region in the United States.

Affects Contract Renewals.

"According to our understanding, the placing of an industrial area in Group II. means that no new contracts for war production are to be placed in that industrial area if facilities for such production can be found elsewhere, and that no renewals of existing contracts are to be made in that industrial area that would require the contracting industry to employ any additional workers.

"But, as we understand it, the order does not involve the withdrawal or reduction of contracts already held in the area, regardless of how much new hiring they may require for their fulfillment.

"This order of the WMC in Washington will, in our opinion, have a seriously disruptive effect upon war production in this entire region. The order was issued without approval of the representatives of the industries in the Chicago region. We know of no facts that would justify this order. Unless it is withdrawn, the loss to the war production effort will, in our opinion, be great and irreparable."

Shortage Statement Challenged.

The WMC's labor shortage label on the Chicago area also was challenged by Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce. He said Chicago can absorb an additional huge war plant employing 30,000 workers without feeling a labor pinch.

"The designation of Chicago as a

Await Indictments

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 18.—Indictment of seven to 12 Chicago labor and racket chiefs mentioned in the Hollywood strike threat extortion trial of Willie Bioff and George E. Browne by a federal grand jury will be announced here within 36 hours, it was learned today.

The group, referred to by Bioff and Browne as "the boys in Chicago," was said by United States Atty. Mathias F. Correa to be composed of super-racketeers.

Bioff and Browne, both convicted, have been in the federal detention pen here while describing more fully the Chicago group to the grand jury.

BY ORVILLE DWYER AND GEORGE HARTMANN.

The federal jury in New York which, on Oct. 6, 1941, convicted George E. Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theater, Stage Employés' and Motion Picture Operators' union, and Willie Bioff, the union's west coast representative, heard only part of the story behind the tremendous trimming which these two members of Chicago's Nitti-Ricca-Campagna gang had given the motion picture industry and its employés.

Browne and Bioff were convicted of extorting more than a half million dollars from movie officialdom. In the New York trial the testimony of their various extortions added up to $1,200,000.

But the jury that convicted them did not know that while Browne and Bioff were extorting fortunes from the movie officials, they were at the same time approving wage cuts for the men they were paid to represent, selling out the workers, operators, stage hands, stationary engineers, electricians, ushers, cashiers, janitors and scrub women—selling them out so that it might be easier for the movie officials to pay the extortion money to the gangsters.

Principals in Double Racket.

This story tells how this double racket was worked:

First as to the actors who worked out the double steal—extortion and sell-out:

WILLIE BIOFF—A former office boy for the Capone mob; had been sentenced to jail on a pandering charge, and after evading sentence for many years was a Bridewell convict for a year. In the New York extortion trial he had boasted that he had made

GEORGE BROWNE—President of the big international union with 125,000 dues paying members. Browne had the title of Bioff's boss. In reality he was Bioff's servant thru Browne's inability to stay sober. And Bioff in turn was servant to the real bosses of the old Capone gang in Chicago—Nitti, Ricca, Campagna.

Maloy Killing Laid to Gang.

The Chicago Caponeites had begun to gain control of the motion picture workers and the film industry when Tommy Maloy, the dapper Chicago chief of the motion picture operators, was killed by a gunshot blast while driving thru Burnham park to the loop. That was Feb. 4, 1935. The Nitti gang was believed to have contrived Maloy's death. No arrests were made. The mob had Browne ready to step into Maloy's shoes.

Browne was soon president of the international alliance, a governing group, and he ruled the Chicago operators' local personally until December, 1935. Then a set of puppet officers was elected. Nick Circella, who called himself Nick Dean, a muscle man for the Caponeites, had been carried on the pay roll of the movie operators under Browne at $22,000 a year. Dean's title was "Mr. Browne's personal representative." The hard earned dues of the motion picture operators went to make sure that "Mr. Browne's personal representative" lived in style and comfort. Circella is now with Browne and Bioff in federal prisons.

After Bioff had organized the workers in the film studios on the west coast and Browne had the operators by the throat, it was a simple matter

BRITONS SALUTE NANCY ASTOR, BUT WITHHOLD VOTES

Plea for Women Amuses Parliament.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 18.—Foreign Undersecretary Richard Law told the house of commons today that the foreign service will now be opened to both rich and poor, but that determination of the future position which women will occupy in that department of government must wait until after the war. Nancy Langhorne Astor immediately protested that women have already proven themselves equal or superior to men in diplomatic service.

"I got my nationality by marrying an Englishman, but I got my tradition by being born in a country that is permeated with the English way of living—Virginia," Mrs. Astor said. She was cheered by fellow members of parliament for this remark, but she found no voting support for her main argument.

Mrs. Astor said that when she went before the Schuster committee [appointed in 1934 to study the question of admitting women to the British consular and diplomatic services] one high foreign office official, a former ambassador, bitterly opposed the admission of women. This, she recalled, caused her to remark: "You would not have kept your job without your wife." "And it was true," Mrs. Astor continued. "No man has ever been a greater failure than he was."

Shocked by Remark.

She deplored how the foreign office has been dominated by France, "shell shocked" since the last war, and quoted the late Austen Chamberlain, former British foreign secretary, as saying: "I love France as a man loves his mistress."

"Well, a man has no business having a mistress," Mrs. Astor exclaimed. "It shocked me at the time."

Warming to her plea for their admission to government service, Mrs. Astor said that women exert a great influence upon men in the service and observed, "More women have ruined men, than men have women." The pride of the country is its women and yet, she added, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden feels that they must wait until after the war before he will accept their services.

"I wonder," she continued, "what he will say to Mme. Chiang Kai-shek when he is in Washington." When Richard Stokes, Laborite, suggested, "Perhaps he will kiss her," she scolded, "Don't be offensive."

Asks Funds for Career Men.

Undersecretary Law previously had pointed out that proposals for reforms should be contained in a white paper. He said there is muddled thinking about the foreign office and that the office did not formulate the foreign policy, but carried out that which was agreed upon by the government.

As to the admission of men without means to the foreign service Law said, "If we are going to throw the service open to them, it is not going to be much good unless we see that when they get in they are enabled to live decently and do a decent job on their pay."

"The day is gone forever when a diplomat can concern himself solely with those fascinating questions of high policy and leave the bread and butter questions of economics to more vulgar minds," he observed.

The government has budgeted an increase of $5,804,000 for its foreign service.

All of North Dakota Goes on Mountain Time April 1

Bismarck, N. D., March 18 (AP).—Gov. John Moses today signed a bill which places all of North Dakota on a mountain war time basis, effective at 1 a. m., April 1, for the duration. North Dakotans west of the Missouri river already are on mountain war time, with the eastern section on central war time. The change will effect residents in 39 of the state's 53 counties.

JOHN A. MALLOY, CHICAGO EDITOR, DIES SUDDENLY

John A. Malloy, executive editor of the Chicago Herald-American and a regional director for the Hearst newspapers, suffered a fatal heart attack early today. A fire department inhalator squad worked for more than an hour in an attempt to revive him.

His death occurred in the Chez Paree, where he was when stricken.

Malloy started in the newspaper business in Chicago as a reporter for the Chicago Daily News in 1918. Later he was a reporter for the Chicago Herald & Examiner, and a sports writer for the New York American.

Built Up Boston Paper.

He returned to Chicago in 1927 as city editor of the Herald & Examiner, and was tranferred back to the New York paper two years later in the same capacity.

His first managing editorship was with the Boston Advertiser, a struggling tabloid, which he is credited with building into a successful newspaper.

He returned to Chicago in 1938, both as editorial supervisor for the Hearst newspapers and as managing editor of the Herald-American.

Malloy, who was 47 years old, was born in Chicago, and attended St. James school and high school on the south side. He also attended the University of Illinois.

Stricken a Year Ago.

Malloy suffered another heart attack a year ago in Albuquerque, N. M., while en route to the west coast. He was taken off his train and hospitalized for several weeks.

He was on friendly terms with scores of stage and movie celebrities, few of whom visited Chicago without telephoning him. His office was a gathering place for hundreds of former employés and associates. His home was in the Drake hotel.

PREDICT COUNTY TAX BILL DELAY UNTIL LATE APRIL

The probability that tax bills for Chicagoans will not be mailed out until late April became more certain yesterday. As the law requires that taxpayers have 30 days before the first penalty date, this would mean that penalties might not be due until about June 1.

The county board of tax appeals still must decide about 60 claims for changes in assessments of personalty as made by Assessor John S. Clark. When these have been settled and the changes recorded by the assessor, the books go to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn.

Flynn said yesterday that his work was up to date, but that it might require 10 days to finish it after the rest of the books are available. The compiling and mailing of bills is the task of the county treasurer. His office indicated that this would take 10 days to two weeks.

rather nervously from notes, and then submitted to questioning by the members of congress. He said he realized that England did not approve of all that the United States did and that we felt the same about them at times, but for reasons of collective security we were bound to work together.

Reaction to the conference was generally favorable, altho there was some questioning as to the results achieved.

Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, said that "as a result of this meeting my view is that prospects relating to the war were very encouraging."

"My view is that the governments of the United States, Russia, Great Britain, and China, in the active conduct of this war, are in complete harmony and are working in unison. I think Secretary Eden's visit and personal meeting with a large group of senators and congressmen will have a very fine effect on harmonious concord between Great Britain and the United States."

Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], one of the leading noninterventionists before the Pearl Harbor attack and who attended the conference with Eden, had a different impression of its significance.

"It was a privilege to enjoy the opportunity to hear one of the No. 1 spokesmen of our allies, and the discourse, off the record and informally, on our progress and our prospects," said Nye.

D.A.R. DEMANDS TWO TERM LIMIT ON PRESIDENCY

Illinois Society Declares Views on Alliances.

Delegates to the 47th state conference of the Illinois society, Daughters of the American Revolution, called by unanimous vote at their opening session yesterday for a constitutional amendment limiting the term of office of the President of the United States to two terms.

They also adopted a resolution listing basic principles which should be incorporated in peace agreements among the allies. These principles were stated as follows:

"Complete sovereignty for the United States in the question of determining the strength of its military establishment on land and sea, at least until such future time as international limitation of armaments has become an undisputed fact; the right of this nation to determine its own immigration policies; continuance of the American method of ruling over the territorial possessions now under control of the United States, and no abridgment of the constitutional guarantees to the citizens of this country."

Petition to Congressmen.

Prefacing the Presidential two term resolution was the observation that "there are rampant mighty forces seeking to overthrow democracy" and that against these the Constitution of the United States of America presented "the greatest bulwark of human freedom in the world today." The resolution was expressed in terms of a petition to Illinois representatives in congress to lend their aid "to the strengthening of that Constitution by effecting the passage of an amendment thereto limiting the term of office of the President of the United States to two terms."

Post-War Planning.

The Illinois D. A. R. made this statement on policies to be followed by the United States in post-war planning:

"This organization wholeheartedly supports the idea of the setting up of international machinery for making and keeping the peace of the world thru the coöperation of national governments in a continuously sitting Council of Nations, but we unalterably oppose any political union of the United States with other nations that would deprive this government of free and independent action in its relation with other nations."

Because of war conditions, the state meeting, which is being held in the Palmer House, is an abbreviated two day session instead of the customary four day conference, and strict limitations have been placed on speech making.

Mrs. William H. Pouch, president general, who is attending the Illinois congress, officiated last night at a drawing to determine the winner in the annual good citizenship pilgrim contest. The prize, a $100 war bond, went to Miss Mary Koehler, Benson High school girl, sponsored by Gen. Henry Dearborn chapter.

ACTION 'STRAIGHT FROM HELL,' HERO SAYS OF JAP RAID

Four service men, representing battle veterans from nearly all the major theaters of war, returned to Chicago yesterday to tell stories of the fighting ability of American soldiers and sailors.

One of them, Edgar Daniels, 30 years old, a coxswain in the coast guard, had seen action in Africa, where his ship was the first to land troops for the invasion; in Guadalcanal; in New Caledonia, and in other islands in the South Pacific.

Coast Guard Fighter Thrilled.

His most thrilling experience, he said, was shooting down two Jap planes that attacked his ship during landing operations on Guadalcanal. He told this story of the encounter:

"We were preparing troops for disembarkation when a flight of 33 Jap torpedo planes came after us. The captain sang out the emergency battle station order and things began to pop with action straight from hell. I was captain of a gun crew, so I was right in the middle of it.

"We let the first trio of planes come down to water level, and began to fire. They were forced to pull up so their torpedoes missed the boat. The next bunch came screaming out of the sky, loosed their torpedoes and then attempted to strafe our decks. We got one—it kind of fluttered over the ship and crashed into the sea.

U-Boat Sneaks Into Convoy.

"The other plane we shot down had a pilot who tried to get too close to our ship. All in all, I think the gun crews in that convoy accounted for about 23 out of the 33 planes."

In the African invasion, Daniels said troops from his ship were constantly under attack by enemy planes, and three transports were sunk. He believed they were sunk by a submarine that sneaked among the convoy.

Daniels is visiting his wife, Marie, at their home, 4829 North Paulina street during his leave. He expects to return to the east coast.

An army private, Lawrence Krumwiede, 26 years ago, of 108 West York road, Bensenville, passed thru Chicago yesterday on his way to the army hospital in Battle Creek, Mich. Krumwiede, radio operator in a heavy tank, landed in Africa on Dec. 8. He immediately was sent to the front lines and on Dec. 10 a shell destroyed his tank and wounded him seriously.

Awarded Purple Heart.

He was greeted at the station by his wife, Norma, and his brother, Henry. He has been awarded the Purple Heart citation. Before enlisting in the army on Feb. 14, 1941, he worked in Chicago as a rigger.

Robert A. Olson, 22 year old marine private, arrived home on sick leave after contracting malaria at Guadalcanal. He described the fierce fighting in the jungle, but said the Japs were not the worst enemy.

"Sooner or later," he said, "every one gets sick."

Horrors and heroism that accompanied the sinking of an army transport in the North Atlantic with the loss of 600 men were told by Lt. William H. Arpia, 511 Melrose street, captain of a gun crew aboard the ship.

The lieutenant, a former lawyer, said submarines were detected almost from the moment the ship left the east coast.

He said hundreds of soldiers thrown into the icy waters attempted to help others, displaying no panic.

PURSE STOLEN; KNOCKED DOWN.

Mrs. Frances Kelly, 28 years old, 5734 Winthrop avenue, a waitress, was knocked down yesterday at Broadway and Ardmore avenue by a thief who stole her purse containing $35.

WAUKEGAN AIR FORCE MAN HELPS TO DOWN 3 ZEROS

The parents of Lt. Thomas Durkin, 24 years old, of Waukegan, learned yesterday how their son, a bombardier, helped shoot down three Japanese Zero planes and damaged a fourth during an air battle last January over New Guinea.

Lt. Thomas Durkin.

Pilot of Lt. Durkin's plane, a B-24 Liberator bomber, was Lt. Roy Olsen, 26, of Cedar Falls, Ia. Their bomber was one of the four which engaged 25 Zeros, shooting down 12 and damaging six. All four American planes returned to their base with no casualties.

Lt. Durkin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Durkin of 329 North Utica street, Waukegan, said their son recently wrote that during a two weeks' furlough he saw 27 movies and ate 30 steaks.

ILLINOIS FLYER, AWARDED MEDAL BY NAVY, KILLED

Thomas J. Jeffreys, 24 years old, recently awarded the navy air medal and promoted to chief aviation metalsmith for heroism in the Aleutian islands, was killed in an airplane crash in Alaska March 14, according to word received yesterday by his uncle, James W. Jeffreys, 118 North Washington street, Elgin.

Young Jeffreys was graduated from Dundee Community High school in 1937, and enlisted in the navy four years ago. His father, Claude W. Jeffreys, formerly of Carpentersville, Kane county, now lives in Burlington, N. C.

Mrs. Hannah Peters, 810 Oakley avenue, Elgin, was advised yesterday that her son, Marine Pvt. Howard E. Huffine, 21, is alive and a prisoner of the Japs in the Philippines. Last June, the government listed Huffine as missing.

GLORIOUS SPRING BATHES CAPITAL IN EMERALD FIRE

Laughing Sun Helps Dim Thoughts of War.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Spring with all its splendor has captured the war minded national capital.

As unobtrusively as a fifth columnist, the vernal season crept into the city early in the week. In a few days spring's green banners appeared everywhere.

The grass on the lawn of the White House, which was buried under a mantle of snow a few weeks ago, began to come to life as the first robins dug for early worms.

Roses Awakening.

The chill raw air softened under the warmth of the laughing sun and leaves shot out under the soft caresses of gentle winds. In residential sections Paul Scarlets and other climbing roses have put forth leaves.

Everywhere forsythia shrubs are about to burst into their golden showers. Iris are well up. The soft silver fur of pussywillows is being hidden by the bright yellow flower.

Blue, white and yellow crocuses—sentinels of spring, dot lawns. Hedges are at the point of bursting into green bombshells. Each night has found magic greens deepening in the capital.

Down in the tidal basin the famous cherry trees, once known as the Japanese cherry trees even tho their original home was in Jap conquered Corea, are about to blush into clouds of diaphanous pink.

The trees which attracted hundreds of thousands of visitors will be a thing of joy to the capital any day. Another warm sun or two will crown them with glorious pinks around the Potomac park lagoon, where the Washington monument is poised like a silver lance.

Nature's Annual Spectacle.

There will be no war with beauty in the capital. When the blossoms come, thousands upon thousands of service men and workers will go to nature's annual spectacle to forget the war in a draught of beauty.

While some other areas of the country are snow streaked or shivering under rough March winds, spring has kindled Washington with an emerald fire which is drawing workers' eyes to the window.

This year the appearance of spring has taken on a note of surprise unknown to peace time years. Everywhere the advent of spring is hailed with prayerful thankfulness, as tho the gayest season of the year might have been among the things proscribed for the duration.

26 Army Nurses to Assist in Red Cross Recruiting

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—The war department today assigned 26 army nurses, among them three who served on Bataan, to help the American Red Cross recruit 30,000 nurses for the army nurse corps this year. The Bataan nurses are 1st Lieutenants Leona Gastinger, assigned to Atlanta; Ruth Straub to Chicago, and Beth A. Veley to San Francisco. The nurses will interview applicants, evaluate their credentials and receive requests for specific assignments.

APPROVE PROBE OF ANY MOVES TO CUT NEWSPRINT

House Group Asks Inquiry to Protect Press.

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—The house rules committee today approved an investigation of any government plans to curtail production of newsprint.

This specific inquiry was written into a resolution of Rep. Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.] which primarily seeks to find out whether any federal agencies are planning to institute broad grade labelling of products.

Would Determine Scope.

Newsprint reduction and "standardization" of brands, leaving "nothing for anybody to advertise," would be "a terrible blow to the newspapers," Rep. E. E. Cox [D., Ga.] observed.

Halleck said he knew of some proposals to grade commodities—"take off the brand names, and put on some grade or victory name"—under the guise of a war conservation measure. His resolution provides that the interstate commerce committee shall determine whether inclusion of such proposals falls within the scope of war conservation.

Meanwhile a drastic program of standardization to conserve paper supplies was recommended to the war production board today by representatives of the commercial printing industry.

Urge Revised Grading.

The recommendations, drafted by a committee of the United Typothetae of America, called for a reduction of about 66 per cent in the number of weights, grades, and sizes of paper stock. Committee members estimated this would result in a saving of 8 to 10 per cent in paper consumption.

E. W. Palmer, deputy director of the printing and publishing branch of the war production board, said that altho a 10 per cent additional cut in paper supplies scheduled to be made effective next month had been postponed, there was no assurance that a further curtailment would not be necessary eventually.

HITCH-HIKER WINS FREEDOM.

Howard Selander, once questioned in connection with the murder of Mrs. Lillian Galvin and her maid in Evanston last fall, was discharged in State street police court yesterday when arraigned on a minor charge. Police arrested him as he hitched a ride on a truck Wednesday.

WALLACE TELLS COSTA RICA NEED OF FREE TRADE

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 18 (AP).—Vice President Henry A. Wallace, in the first official stop on his Latin American tour, told the Costa Rican congress today the world after the war will have a "tremendous" producing capacity and that this, together with a free interchange of goods, will be "humanity's greatest blessing."

The Vice President asserted the theory of continuous production and easy interchange of goods should "be accepted and followed by all." Success of this interchange will in itself create the necessary industrialization, the Vice President maintained, as well as the importing capacity of each country. He warned that the world's "tremendous" producing capacity after the war should be carefully organized for the exchange of the greatest quantity of goods among the greatest number of people.

This great producing capacity, he continued, will be the means to "peace and Christian democracy" and will not entail the exploitation of small countries.

Gen. Emmons Decorated for Aerial Achievements

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the Hawaiian department, United States army, has been awarded the distinguished flying cross for "extraordinary achievement while taking part in aerial flights in furtherance of the development and expansion" of the air forces. The war department's announcement today said his citation referred to many aerial missions involving long-over-water flights and "an outstanding flight thru enemy war zones" to a conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Australia.

ASSAILS FEDERAL WASTE OF PAPER IN FRANKED MAIL

Free Postal Matter Held Propaganda Junk.

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—A survey of the cost of handling franked mail was recommended to the senate appropriations committee today by a subcommittee which voted to reverse house action cutting off the use of free postal matter by government departments and agencies.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] voted to substitute for the house approved restriction an amendment to the $1,098,000,000 treasury-postoffice supply bill directing the budget bureau and the postmaster general to survey the cost of franked matter and report to congress within 60 days.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.], a member of the subcommittee, declared there was good reason to be worried about the nature and amount of material that is going out of government departments.

Tells Propaganda Waste.

Holding aloft a sheaf of government press releases, Lodge told the senate that they were a small part of "one day's batch of government propaganda" which had been sent to the Springfield [Mass.] Daily News.

"It's just junk and a shameful waste of paper," Lodge quoted the editor as saying. The Massachusetts senator said he thought those responsible ought to use more common sense and "put their own house in order" before urging additional economies in newsprint.

Supplementing this, Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] read a newspaper article saying the office of war information is preparing a series of publications as a guide to popular thinking on post-war problems. Taft described this as "domestic propaganda" that entailed a serious waste of paper and man power.

69 Billions for Navy.

Expected speedy approval by the appropriations committee of the revised treasury-postoffice measure was designed to bring it next week before the senate, which yesterday voted $5,557,000,000 in deficiency appropriations and contract authority for the navy, boosting the total amount made available to that branch to more than 69 billion dollars since July 1, 1940.

While Republican Leader Charles L. McNary of Oregon pointed out the navy still had 16 billions in unexpended balances, the senate passed a measure making 4.3 billions in cash and contract authority immediately available for operations, maintenance, and repair of the seven ocean fleet. This will be in addition to larger amounts to be requested in the regular naval appropriations bill.

BIDDLE REPORTS U. S. INTERNS 4,163 ENEMY ALIENS

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle announced today that he has ordered the internment of 4,163 persons of enemy alien nationality arrested by the federal bureau of investigation since Dec. 7, 1941.

In the same period 3,257 were paroled and 1,151 were released outright. About 500 cases remain to be decided, Biddle said.

Aliens arrested are given a hearing before a board of prominent citizens, which makes a recommendation to the attorney general, who has the case reviewed for his decision.

U. S. and Mexico Sign New Agreement on Lend-Lease

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—Mexican Ambassador Francisco Castillo Najera and Secretary of State Cordell Hull today signed a new lend-lease agreement. The new treaty, terms of which are confidential, supercedes the agreement between Mexico and the United States signed March 27, 1942.

RUSSIANS SMASH GERMAN BLOWS IN KHARKOV SECTOR

Score New Advances in Drive on Smolensk.

LONDON, March 19 [Friday]—(AP).—German infantry and tanks are counterattacking endlessly "in an attempt to retrieve lost positions" along the Donetz river below Kharkov, where the Red army yesterday captured an important town, Moscow announced early today in a communique. The Russians also told of continuing Russian successes in the sweep toward Smolensk on the central front.

The Russian bulletin, recorded by the soviet monitor, indicated massed German tank and motorized infantry attacks in the Chuguev sector, 32 miles southeast of Kharkov, had failed to penetrate Russian lines or to recover the lost ground.

It added that "all other attacks have been repelled with heavy losses" on the Donetz basin front.

Seize Several Localities.

On the central front the Russians said they were rolling toward the Nazi anchor of Smolensk, some 40 to 50 miles away, despite fierce German resistance.

Many places fell to the onrushing Red army yesterday.

"The enemy suffered heavy losses in man power and equipment," the communique said.

One Russian column smashing southward from Bely captured several populated places and wiped out a German garrison.

32 Localities Captured.

The midday communique yesterday said the Russian armies of the center had captured 32 localities south of Bely. Vakhody, 9 miles west of the Vyazma-Bryansk railway and 60 miles east of Smolensk, also was taken.

The midnight communique did not mention the Lake Ilmen front, but the noon bulletin yesterday said the Red army driving on Staraya Russa had seized 10 villages.

[The Germans yesterday said they were gaining in the whole region between Kharkov and a sector northwest of Kursk. Russian forces southeast of Kharkov were reported annihilated after being encircled. The Russians were declared to be renewing their attacks south of Orel. Soviet drives south of Lake Ilmen were reported broken. The German radio, however, said the Russians had made a breach in the German lines and were making an encircling attack on Staraya Russa.]

STANDLEY SHOWS U. S. WAR FILMS TO RED OFFICERS

MOSCOW, March 18 (AP).—Adm. William H. Standley, United States ambassador to Russia, has taken another step to acquaint the soviet with the scope of United States war activity by inviting Red army officers to view news reels showing Pacific battle scenes and workers turning out tanks, planes, and ships. Some of the films depict American women in war activities.

Standley declared recently that the soviet people were not being fully informed of the aid they are getting from the United States. His declaration had international repercussions, but the soviet radio and press thereafter reported American statements about war aid sent to Russia.

The ambassador plans to give the films to the soviet motion picture industry for whatever distribution it sees fit to make of them.

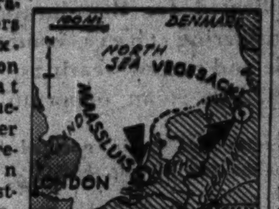
GERMAN U-BOAT BASE RAIDED BY YANKEE BOMBERS

Lose 2 Planes, Down Many Nazi Craft.

LONDON, March 18 (AP).—A strong force of American Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers poured explosives on a U-boat construction center near Bremen in northwestern Germany today and destroyed or damaged many of the 75 to 100 Nazi fighters which attacked them almost continuously on the 800 mile round trip.



Arrows indicate targets of raids.

Two of the big American bombers failed to return, a communique said.

Flying unescorted, the American airmen broke a 48 hour lull in the daylight offensive by striking at Vegesack, whose large yards, the communique said, are "principally engaged in the building and repair of submarines."

R. A. F. Strikes in Holland.

R. A. F. Venturas bombed targets at Maassluis in the Rotterdam area of Holland during the day, and all returned.

German raiders struck back at Britain late tonight, bombing an East Anglia area.

The United States communique said "many hits were obtained" on the Vegesack yards. It added: "Heavy opposition from enemy aircraft was encountered and many of them were destroyed or damaged."

Returning pilots said swarms of Nazi fighters met the American airmen over the North sea and fought them also on their return. Gunners said they were too busy fighting to keep an account of the number of enemy planes they hit. One said: "It was just like shooting clay pigeons."

Plane Bagged by Chicagoan.

One German plane was shot down by Sergt. Adam C. Wygonik of 1740 West 21st street, Chicago, a top turret gunner. On his return to his base, Wygonik said: "The navigator and I shot at him. That's all there was to it. He must have been out of control, because he just missed us by about 10 feet."

One hero of the raid was a bombardier in a Flying Fortress who was hit by a piece of anti-aircraft shell just as his plane flew over the target. Despite the wound, the bombardier strained, reached the bomb levers, and released the bombs. Then he died.

Yanks' Sixth Raid in Month.

A gunner in another bomber almost landed on the target himself. He fell out of his plane when the door of his ball turret opened accidentally, but he managed to grab hold by one hand. After dangling in the air for a short time, he managed to pull himself back into the turret to continue firing at German fighter planes.

The American raid was the fourth United States attack on Germany proper and the sixth this month for the heavy bombers which have blasted Rouen, Lorient, Rennes, and Abbeville in France and the rail junction of Hamm, Germany.

TELLS HOW LONE AIRMAN GUARDED A BRITISH FLEET

Mediterranean Force Long Without Carriers.

LONDON, March 18 (AP).—A single fighter pilot was the sole air defense for the British eastern Mediterranean fleet for a time early in the war, the admiralty disclosed today.

From such a humble beginning grew the mighty fleet air arm which, the night of Nov. 11, 1940, struck a paralyzing blow at the Italian fleet in Taranto harbor.

The story was told by the admiralty in a booklet, "East of Malta and West of Suez," which detailed the work of the eastern Mediterranean fleet in the first 18 months of the war.

Had No Carriers for Nine Months.

This fleet was without aircraft carriers for the first nine months of war, the admiralty said. Then, in May, 1940, the 20 year old carrier Eagle—since sunk—arrived from the East Indies.

She had two squadrons of torpedo planes and later acquired four fighters. But there was not a fighter pilot aboard. So for a while the flying master of the Eagle, Comm. C. L. Keighley-Peach, went up alone to defend the entire fleet.

On one occasion he went up with a bullet still in his thigh from a previous encounter and shot down an attacking enemy plane.

Bag 11 Enemy Planes.

Later Keighley-Peach trained two bomber pilots as fighter pilots, and among them they destroyed 11 enemy aircraft and "somehow contrived to preserve the fleet from a major casualty," the booklet said.

"In the early days of the war our naval forces achieved at sea the sort of thing that the R. A. F. did in the battle of Britain," it added. "Malta, Suez, and Alexandria might all have fallen if the British navy had not succeeded in maintaining its control of the eastern Mediterranean during the first 18 months of the war. . . .

Italian Flyers Miss.

"Our whole position in the middle east would have been endangered and the axis might have reached the Indian ocean from the west. The landing of the allied forces in North Africa would have been prevented and 780 allied ships of 6,500,000 tons never would have arrived in North African ports."

The Italian air arm, the booklet reported, dropped nearly 400 bombs on the British fleet in 22 attacks without causing any damage or casualties.

"The Italians showed a wholesome dread of British gunnery," the booklet asserted.

Spellman Gives Damaged African Churches $2,000

ALGIERS, March 18 (AP).—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York made a gift of $2,000 for North African churches damaged by the war in concluding his visit with Archbishop Laynaud in Algiers.

'FOREIGN PLANE' QUOTES WRONG, CANADIANS TOLD

TORONTO, Ont., March 18 (AP).—S. G. Hibben of Bloomfield, N. J., said today he had told the Illuminating Engineering society and the Electric Club of Toronto that a plane with foreign markings could approach within 200 miles of New York City without detection.

Hibben, director of applied lighting for the Westinghouse Electric company and chairman of the I. E. S. defense committee, was reported last night to have said that "foreign planes have been detected 200 miles from New York City" and that enemy planes had been over North America proper—"out around Vancouver."

Hibben said today: "What I told the boys was that a plane with foreign markings could approach within 200 miles of New York City without detection and that a foreign plane was known to have been in the vicinity of the city of Vancouver."

STEAL 9 CASES OF WHISKY.

Two gunmen held up Frank Mancione, a porter, as he opened the tavern at 710 South Western avenue yesterday and stole nine cases of whisky and 10 cartons of cigarets with a total value of $800.

AMERICANS DRIVE ON PORTS AFTER CAPTURING GAFSA

Rommel Defends Key Road Center in Tunisia.

BY DREW MIDDLETON.

[War Correspondent of the New York Times.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, March 18.—American infantrymen thrust forward today toward the tactically important town of El Guetar, 72 miles northwest of Gabes and the Mediterranean sea, after a swift 30 mile advance yesterday had occupied Gafsa and rewon much of the Tunisian territory lost to Marshal Erwin Rommel in mid-February.

El Guetar, 12 miles southeast of Gafsa, stands at the junction of two roads. The better road runs southeast to Gabes, main supply port for axis troops in the Mareth line. The other goes northeast to Mahares, also on the sea.

Axis forces are mounting artillery on the hills to the north of El Guetar. The Americans have consolidated their positions at Lalla, a tiny hamlet southeast of Gafsa, and in the hills six miles east of the town.

The New Enemy Line.

It is probable that the new enemy line runs from Faid pass in central Tunisia south to the mountains between Sened and El Guetar, with the salt lake, Chott El Fedjedj guarding the southern flank and the Mareth line.

[An Associated Press dispatch said American patrols pushed toward Sened station, 28 miles northeast of Gafsa, on the road to Mahares, but added that unseasonable rains drenched the front Wednesday night and yesterday, holding offensive activity to a minimum. No further contact was reported with the Germans and Italians after they were pushed from Gafsa. A British radio broadcast said a second allied spearhead from Gafsa was pushing along the road to the Nazi held port of Sfax, but this may have referred to the action in the direction of Sened station.]

Improve Mareth Positions.

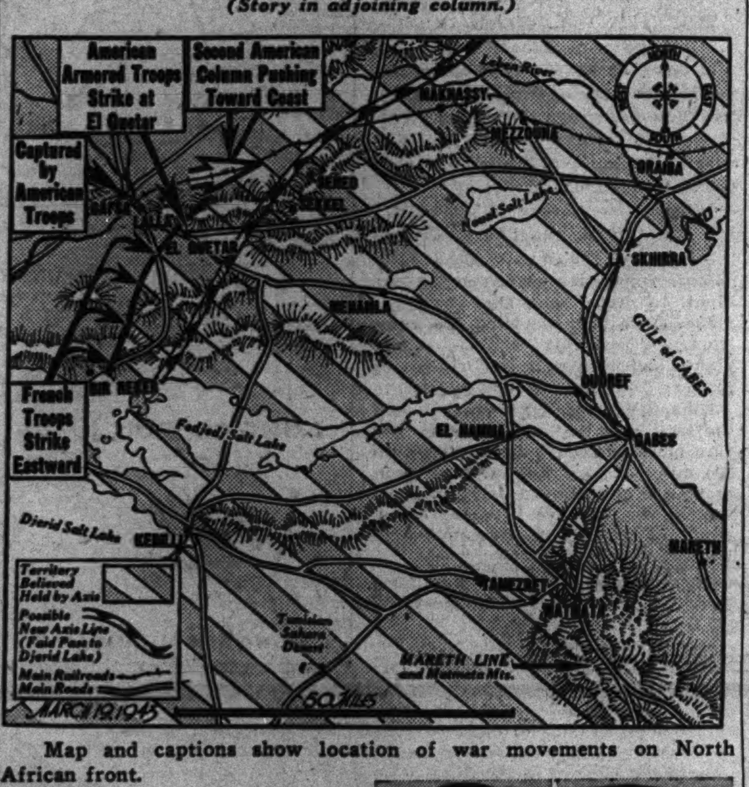
One hundred miles to the southeast the northern wing of Rommel's nemesis, the war hardened British 8th army improved its positions Tuesday night and yesterday while patrols of the southern wing mauled the enemy and captured some prisoners.

[The German communique said "strong enemy infantry attacks against the south Tunisian front were repulsed with heavy losses." The Italians said 100 prisoners were taken, but neither communique bore out the German propaganda assertions that four tank and infantry divisions had been hurled by Montgomery against the Mareth fortifications.]

Rommel took the offensive only in northern Tunisia, where two battalions of German infantry from Sedjenane attacked along the Tamara road at 9 a. m. yesterday. After hard fighting elements of the British 1st army gave ground. The British launched a counter-attack in the afternoon and regained what ground had been lost. Fighting is still continuing in this area where rain and deep muck impede anything but infantry operations.

Fighting in Tunisia

(Story in adjoining column.)



Map and captions show location of war movements on North African front.

Appointment of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton (left) as commander of all United States forces on the Tunisian front was announced yesterday. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall (right).

SEES GAFSA FALL

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. FORCES ON THE TUNISIAN FRONT, March 17 [Delayed].—Scarcely a month after checking Marshal Erwin Rommel's break thru in bloody Kasserine valley against a thin line of battered and tired soldiers, a revitalized and reorganized American army stormed down the hills today and took Gafsa in renewing the battle with Rommel.

The recapture of Gafsa actually was its third occupation by American units. This reporter witnessed all three. Col. Edson D. Raff's task force took it on Nov. 17 and after retiring took it again on Nov. 22. The Americans withdrew without loss on Feb. 14 when Rommel pushed thru Faid pass in central Tunisia.

Yanks Operate as a Whole.

In today's operations American forces in Tunisia operated as a whole for the first time. The coördinated drive, which found our air force encountering only one enemy plane, apparently was too heavy for the axis.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in chief in North Africa, also released for publication the name of the new commander of American forces in Tunisia, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., and the fact that the forces are composed of three divisions, the 1st, the 34th, and the 1st armored, which made the initial North African landing.

Patton replaced Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall because armored forces are expected to play a major rôle in the coming actions and it is known that Eisenhower considers Patton his best armored force general.

Regained by Veterans.

Today's advance was accomplished by a force of men experienced in fighting along the length of the Tunisian front—from Tebourba to El Guetar.

[Other dispatches said the 1st division was in the vanguard and that the first armored and 34th were operating in the Gafsa vicinity, but did not participate in the recapture of the town.]

Soon after the attack started at 10 a. m. the roads southeast and south of Gafsa were reported clogged with vehicles. Twelve tanks were left as a screening force.

Billy Mitchell medium bombers blasted Gafsa in a terrific bombardment for 15 minutes before the doughboys stormed down the hill northwest of the town and came around its base. Other columns, also supported by heavy artillery fire, drove against the town from the west, north, and northeast.

Approaching the town our progress was slowed by extensive mine fields which had blown out the roads, but engineers managed to open a way speedily with their mine sweepers—which are like metal floor mops—uncovering hundreds of mines.

Nick's Sheep Not Needed.

Capt. Nick Malitch, a rugged Russian formerly in the French Foreign Legion, had a flock of 50 sheep ready to drive over the mine fields to explode the charges as he did with herds of swine before the Maginot line, but he was not needed.

Our patrols entered Gafsa at 11:45 a. m. and found the town looted, many picturesque buildings and the old Beau Geste fort ruined, and few Arabs around.

One dead Arab lay beside the road. How many of the enemy were killed or wounded by the shell fire is not known, but we had taken Gafsa without loss.

NEW ZEALANDERS TOLD THEY MUST SHARE WAR LOAD

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, March 19 [Friday] — (AP). — Outlining New Zealand's policy in the Pacific during a man power debate in the house of representatives, Prime Minister Peter Fraser declared today it was vital that New Zealand shoulder her full share of the war burden.

"Our American friends have come down here to fight the Japanese and we have not remained passive," Fraser said. "They have given us a greater sense of security.

"This is one of the countries where there are good advantageous bases from which to fight, and we are glad to have them. It would be cold admiration if we stood by in the Pacific, where we have our nearest menace, and cheered while standing back."

Cuba Arranges Prisoner Exchange with Germany

HAVANA, Cuba, March 18.—Cuba will exchange Germans held at the Isle of Pines concentration camp for Cubans now prisoners in Germany and occupied countries, Dr. Emeterio San Tovenia, minister of state, said today. Cuba has several hundred axis citizens in the concentration camp. The number of Cubans in Europe is believed to be small.

Fight Germans, Algiers Radio Urges French

LONDON, March 18 (AP).—The Algiers radio, in a broadcast recorded here by the Associated Press, appealed to the people of France today to resist the Germans and promised that "the allied nations will come soon and deliver you."

PATTON, EXPERT ON TANKS, LEADS ARMY IN TUNISIA

Known to His Soldiers as 'Blood and Guts.'

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, March 18 (AP).—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., 57 year old offensive minded American armored force specialist, who has succeeded Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall as commander of United States troops on the western Tunisian front, is called "blood and guts." He is regarded here as the outstanding American armored force executive since the death of Maj. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee in August, 1941.

[Dispatches from the front said the change became known generally there on Wednesday and indicated it had taken place earlier, after Marshal Rommel's February offensive thru Faid and Kasserine passes.]

Promoted Week Ago.

Patton, nominated as a lieutenant general only a week ago by President Roosevelt, is a veteran of 30 years in the army. He served in the United States punitive expedition against Pancho Villa in 1916-'17 and was in charge of the headquarters outfit of the first AEF ship to Europe and was an aide to Gen. Pershing.

Patton won the distinguished service medal for forming and leading the first American tank unit into battle in France and earlier this year received the oak leaves decoration for his work in the North African campaign.

Would Like to Meet Rommel.

Patton, who commanded American forces in the Morocco landing is colorful in speech and action. Before the Morocco landing, his order of the day read:

"We shall attack and attack until we are exhausted and then we shall attack again."

Patton had bivouacked watchfully for months in French Morocco, which borders Spanish Morocco, following the American landings. His troops had subdued French resistance in Morocco swiftly in the hardest initial fighting of the African campaign.

Patton has been quoted as saying of his expressed desire to meet German Marshal Rommel in individual tank combat:

"The two armies could watch. I'd be in one tank, Rommel in another. I'd shoot at him; he'd shoot at me. If I killed him, I'd be champ. If he killed me—well, he won't."

AFRICAN INVASION MEDAL GIVEN TO CHICAGO FLYER

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Air force officers and enlisted men who operated planes carrying troops from England to North Africa during the invasion nights of Nov. 7 and 8 have been awarded the air medal, the war department announced today.

The citation said the success of the mass flight "contributed immeasurably" to the carrying out of the initial phases of the North African campaign.

Illinois men awarded the medal included Lt. Daniel Int Hout, Park Ridge; Lt. David L. Steege, 5304 North Ludlam avenue, Chicago; Warrant Officer Harry C. Nudd, La Harpe; Sergt. Marion G. Hunter, Route 2, Greenville, Bond county.

U. S. to Get All Quinine Exported by Canal Zone

BALBOA, Canal Zone, March 18.—With quinine nearly as important as gunpowder to American troops on some fields of action, the government has authorized the minister of agriculture to coöperate with the Defense Supplies corporation for increased local production. The contract provides that all quinine in excess of 10,000 pounds, the amount considered necessary to control malaria here, will be sold to the United States.

BRITISH IN BURMA FORCED BACK BY TWIN JAP DRIVE

Foe Perils Supply Lines on Peninsula.

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN BURMA, March 13 [Delayed]—(AP).—It may now be told that Japanese forces, pushing in two columns north and west into western Burma since March 1, have forced British and Indian troops to withdraw westward from Kyauktaw, 55 miles north of Akyab on the Kaladan river. Akyab is on the Bay of Bengal about 175 miles southwest of Mandalay.

As a result, the Japanese in the future may threaten the land supply routes to the British troops fighting on the Mayu peninsula within 10 miles of Akyab.

One column of the Japanese north of Akyab turned westward in an encircling movement that forced the Indian garrison to withdraw thru a narrow corridor to the north and west to Buthidaung on the upper Mayu peninsula.

Escape Thru Narrow Corridor.

Most of the Indian troops escaped thru the narrow corridor, which was held open by the R. A. F. by dispatching fighter bombers on 250 sorties during the day to prevent the Japanese from completing a ring around the river port.

The second Japanese column, believed to be of considerable size, has been driving directly west from the enemy Arakan hill positions since the end of February.

This column has crossed the Kaladan river, approximately 70 miles north of Akyab in the vicinity of Kaladan city.

British "Adjust" Burma Forces.

NEW DELHI, India, March 18 (AP).—The British announced today that "further adjustment of our positions" had been necessary on the western Burma front to prevent isolation of units north of Rathedaung.

This adjustment, a communique said, was forced by enemy pressure on the Arakan front east of the Mayu river.

Forward detachments until recently on the Kaladan river in the Kanzauk area have rejoined the main British forces, the communique said.

This was the second time in a week that a readjustment of British positions had been acknowledged. Rathedaung is about 25 miles northwest of Akyab.

China Reports Jap Attack.

CHUNGKING, China, March 18 (AP).—A Chinese army spokesman said today that 2,000 Japanese troops had attacked the Chinese forces in a new thrust in Yunnan province, adjoining Burma.

The attack, the spokesman said, centered near Lungling, apparently as a test of Chinese forces in the sector west of the Salween river.

The Japanese reached a point 60 miles south of the Yangtze in their drive, the spokesman said, but they have since been driven back 30 miles.

YANKEE BOMBERS POUND JAP SUB HAVEN AT KISKA

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—Medium and heavy bombers of the Aleutians command raided the Japanese base on Kiska Island three times Tuesday, following up their six heavy attacks of Monday. They scored numerous hits in the main camp area and on submarine facilities.

Meanwhile in the South Pacific, Liberators on Tuesday night carried out harassing raids on the Japanese at Munda and Vila, 180 miles northwest of Guadalcanal, and on Kahili and Ballale in the Shortland area of the Solomons, 290 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

ALLIES EXPECTED TO 'LET PUBLIC IN' ON U-BOAT FIGHTS

London, Washington End Silence.

Torpedoes Wreck Ship

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, March 18 (AP).—A medium British merchant vessel was wrecked by two torpedoes from an unseen submarine and the crew was forced to abandon ship in mid-Atlantic three hours later, the 10th naval district announced today. The junior second engineer was killed but the other 50 members of the crew were saved. The survivors, including two injured men, were brought to San Juan. Survivors said the torpedoing occurred in late February. United States warships picked up survivors within an hour.

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—The allied high command has decided to give the public more information on the fight against U-boats, it was reported today, thus modifying a policy of silence which has been enforced, with few exceptions, since the start of the war.

The new policy apparently began with the official release in London and Washington yesterday of reports of two successful anti-submarine battles in the North Atlantic in recent weeks.

The policy change does not provide for making public details of the war on the submarines, but only anti-submarine battle accounts in which specific cases of attack and definitely known individual sinkings will be revealed.

The London story told of the destruction of three submarines in a wolf pack which caused some damage to an allied nations convoy. The Washington story reported the destruction of a submarine by the American coast guard cutter Campbell.

The British are understood to have taken the lead in changing the policy for two reasons: the pyschological warfare value it will have in letting the German people know what is happening to the highly touted undersea raiders, and the effect on U-boat crewmen's morale.

AUSTRALIAN PREMIER PRAISES M'ARTHUR FOR 'INSPIRING' NATION

CANBERRA, Australia, March 18 (AP).—"Gen. Douglas MacArthur not only has been a great organizer against our common enemy, but has become the inspiring force of this nation," Prime Minister John Curtin said today.

Curtin spoke before the house of representatives in reference to yesterday's anniversary of the arrival of the American general from the Philippines to take command of allied forces in the southwest Pacific.

"If Gen. MacArthur had been Australian born and served all his life in the Australian army, he could have done no more for Australia's defense than he has as an American citizen and an officer of the United States army," the prime minister said.

M'ARTHUR PLANES RIP 14 JAP BASES NEAR AUSTRALIA

Strike Along 2,000 Mile Invasion Front.

ALLIED HDQS. IN AUSTRALIA, March 19 [Friday]—(AP).—Allied airmen sowed destruction over the enemy's 2,000 mile invasion front north of Australia yesterday, blasting 14 Japanese bases and shooting 7 planes out of action.

The operations extended from Amboina in the northwestern sector to New Ireland in the northeast. The intermediate point of Madang, northeastern New Guinea, was particularly hard hit and left "engulfed in smoke and flame visible for 60 miles." Thirty-eight tons of bombs were dropped at Madang.

One allied reconnaissance unit turned in a brilliant feat over Amboina, Jap held Dutch island in the Banda sea. Intercepted by 10 enemy fighters, the allied gunners shot six "out of action" and damaged a seventh. Altho badly damaged, the allied plane returned to its base.

Roundup of Attacks.

Detailing the aerial assaults, the communique gave this breakdown:

DUTCH NEW GUINEA: Timika—Village heavily bombed, explosions caused.

TIMOR: Koepang — Airdrome bombed at night.

KAI ISLANDS: Langgoer—Enemy occupied town bombed by heavy allied units.

SOLOMONS: Buka — Airdrome bombed, anti-aircraft positions silenced, and towns of Kieta and Kahili also attacked.

NEW IRELAND: Kavieng area—Enemy fighter challenging allied planes shot out of action.

ADMIRALTY ISLANDS: Lorenhau—Enemy coastal boat strafed from low altitude.

Other Targets of Raids.

NEW BRITAIN: Gasmata—Bombed by heavy units. Talasea — Motor launch strafed. Cape Gloucester — Enemy fuel barges and ground installations strafed.

VITU ISLANDS: Garove—Installations and barges bombed.

NEW GUINEA: Alexishafen — Enemy headquarters strafed and set afire; installations and buildings damaged. Salamau—Planes attacked from as low as 50 feet, bombing and strafing buildings along coast and starting many fires.

Many of the targets pounded by the allied airmen have been the scene of hurried Japanese reënforcement efforts.

VICHY ORDERS NEW FOOD CONTROL.

BERNE, Switzerland, March 18.—Because of the scarcity of foodstuffs, Vichy has decreed that housewives must buy only from retailers with whom they have registered. Retailers in turn must register with wholesalers. The purpose of the decree is government control of all sales.

ASSERTS JAP SHIP LOSSES STILL NOT AT DANGER POINT

New Vessels, Seizures Total 925,000 Tons.

ALLIED HDQ., IN AUSTRALIA, March 19 [Friday]—(AP).—Commenting on press dispatches placing Japan's war time commercial shipping losses at 1,800,000 tons, a spokesman for the allied southwest Pacific command said today: "Unfortunately, this figure must be placed against 475,000 tons estimated captured or otherwise obtained from neutrals and nonbelligerents and 450,000 tons of new shipping estimated built in Japan since the outbreak of the war."

The spokesman then said that this resulted in a net diminution of the Japanese pre-war total by 875,000 tons, since an estimated 925,000 tons had been added.

[The allied spokesman apparently was commenting on an address by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox in New York Wednesday night in which he said that Japan had lost about 1,857,000 tons of shipping since the beginning of the war. Knox said about half of Japan's losses had been replaced by seizure of foreign vessels, new building, and salvage. He added that no one directing war operations believes "that we have reached a secure position of affairs."]

Not Dangerously Weakened.

"It would be a grave fallacy to believe that even the heavy destruction which has been caused by our naval and air power has dangerously weakened the enemy's capacity for sea transport inherent in his command of the internal sea lanes within the sphere of his overseas operations," said the spokesman.

The headquarters spokesman said he did not doubt that pressure on shipping experienced by Japan was attributable not only to losses but "in large measure to ever increasing shipping demands required for consolidation and exploitation of the vast resources of the enormous empire of the Southwest Pacific."

He emphasized that despite the net Japanese losses, "There have been no indications of any lack of commercial shipping" on the Southwest Pacific front.

The spokesman asserted that for months, from Rabaul in the northeast to Surabaya in the northwest—both powerful Japanese naval and air bases—"menacing concentrations of shipping are continually being reported by our air reconnaissance."

"At Rabaul alone," he said, "over 300,000 tons has been repeatedly noted."

Protected by Distance.

The spokesman explained that only the great distance of these centers secured them from greater allied air attacks. [Each is approximately 1,000 miles from Australia, perhaps farther from practical allied bases.]

Only night attacks are practical against Rabaul, the spokesman continued, since it is beyond the range of fighter cover.

GANG'S TWO PLY MOTION PICTURE DEAL EXPOSED

Extortion Made Easier by Betraying Unions.

for them to make arrangements with the heads of other unions, electricians, stage hands, janitors, and charwomen. The bosses of these unions were either minions of the syndicate, as was the case with Chicago's Tom Burke, who controlled the janitors and scrubwomen, or they were forced to coöperate, as was the case with the engineers.

Browne and Bioff demonstrated their power in a hurry. They threatened strikes. The film industry feared strikes in west coast studios and in the theaters so huge sums of extortion were paid as the movie officials were to admit later on the witness stand in the New York trial.

Now this brings us up to seldom told story how Browne and Bioff, acting at the request of Nitti-Ricca-Campagna figured out and executed the plan to pick the pockets of their thousands of union workers as a reciprocal to the extortion plot.

Double Crossing on Strikes.

Whereas they had threatened strikes against the movie concerns to bring about the extortion payments, they now took the opposite tack. They ordered the locals of the big international union to take pay cuts and, armed with gangster muscles and puppet minor officials, ordered the unions not to strike.

The records show that some motion picture workers took these wage cuts in the depression period of 1932-'33. Most of them were promised then that if they took the cuts their wages would be restored as soon as possible. In many industries wage cuts taken in depression were restored. Browne and Bioff from 1935 on had the power to negotiate for the restoration of the wage cuts taken. They had the power to prevent new cuts being assessed. But it was not to their own financial advantage to do so.

Wage Cut Totals $305,000.

The records in Chicago show that the motion picture operators took a cut of 10 per cent on July 1, 1938. There were 650 operators in the Chicago union. Their wages varied from $80 to $130 a week. The average cut thus amounted to at least $10 per man. The 10 per cent remained in effect for 34 weeks, a saving to the theater owners of $221,000.

Only 5 per cent of the pay cut was restored to the operators on March 1, 1939, the other 5 per cent remaining in effect until Sept. 1, 1939. So add another $5 each a week for 650 operators—$3,250 a week—for 26 more weeks and you have another $84,500.

The total taken from Chicago movie operators union employés, all by the wage cut, was $305,500.

$100,100 Levy on Operators.

Yet even that wasn't all. All 650 Chicago operators had to kick in with an average of $2 a week a man for, they were told, "west coast organization." This was Mr. Bioff, the west coast representative. The operators paid this from July, 1935, to March, 1936, and from February, 1937, to December, 1937, a total of 77 weeks; 77 weeks at $2 a man equals another $100,100.

The special assessment fund was in charge of Izzy Zevin, George Browne's "personal secretary." Zevin is a brother-in-law of Louis Greenberg, a Chicago brewery official.

At this same time another source of income to the gangsters was the kickback from the so-called "special or temporary memberships." The so-called and hand picked operators who got these cards agreed before they were issued that they would pay half their salaries to the mob representatives.

How Honest Operators Lost.

The gangsters, in turn, saw to it that their "special members" were on the pay rolls of the movie houses while the regular members, lowest dues paying operators, failed to get work. Only this year did the union in Chicago muster enough courage to defy the mob, end this racketeering system, and open the union doors to legitimate memberships.

As to the other cities: In 1934 in Philadelphia, the operators, stage hands and other theater workers took a pay cut. Wages for the operators were dropped from $120 a week to $67.80. They since have moved to $75.

In the same year operators in Columbus, O., took a cut from $82.50 to $62.50 a week. They were told it was "because of the depression." Browne said they should take the cuts and not strike. Their pay advanced to $72.50 a week and it was not until last September that they got their $82.50 wage scale restored.

No Resistance to Reductions.

Operators in Detroit were slashed from an original $110 in the late '20s to $79 in the early '30s, taking first a 15 per cent, and then an added 20 per cent reduction. Browne and Bioff never even suggested that the locals fight the reductions or ask for restoration of a higher scale.

In Kansas City, Mo., stage hands and operators signed contracts Sept. 1, 1937, taking 15 per cent cuts. The contracts were for two years. The stage hands took a reduction from $1.70 an hour to $1.45, and the operators from $2 to $1.70 an hour.

In New York City, George Magarian, a member of the board of trustees, Charles Beckman, financial secretary, and other officials of local 306, New York Motion Picture Machine Operators' union, said the membership took a 12 per cent cut in 1935. The officials said the operators formerly got $85 a week, but that today they are earning $64.96. Browne and Bioff ordered the 12 per cent cut in 1935 and emphatically added that the men were "not to strike."

Plan Miscarries in St. Louis.

Gangster control enabled the Caponites and their minions, Bioff and Browne, to put over the pay cuts. As time wore on, however, the plans of the racketeers miscarried in a few spots.

In St. Louis, Mo., John P. Nick and Clyde P. Weston, two Browne and Bioff henchmen, were convicted in federal court in September, 1940, of labor recketeering—collecting $6,500 in 1937 from a group of exhibitors in return for dropping exorbitant wage demands. Nick and Weston in 1938 had made it possible also for certain exhibitors to pay operators less than the union scale. Before their conviction the two men had been ousted from control of local 143 of the movie operators, with Browne, who had put them in control in 1935.

After the ouster of Nick and Weston the new union officers demanded payment of back wages amounting to the difference between what exhibitors paid to the operators under the agreements with Nick and the actual union scale.

The officers called the agreement between Nick and the exhibitors "collusive and illegal." This is the agreement which Browne had okayed.

Union Sues for $3,750,000.

And there was trouble in other quarters. In New York, local 306 of the New York operators filed suit in the state Supreme court seeking $3,750,000 damages from Loew's, Inc., Marcus Loew booking agency and the RKO Service corporation. The suit, still pending, charges that a $150,000 bribe was paid to Browne and Bioff, resulting in a wage decrease for motion picture operators in New York City from $2.12 to $1.58 per hour in 1938. The union charged that the alleged bribe payment was designed to evade a strike of its employés in New York City and vicinity.

The pay cuts sanctioned by Browne and Bioff in Chicago went into effect for the stationary engineers in the theaters as well as the operators. The engineers belong to local 399 of the International Union of Operating Engineers and were under Browne's jurisdiction. The engineers suddenly went on strike, demanding restoration of a 10 per cent cut.

This was not according to the rules laid down by Bioff-Browne and the mob. The 120 engineers began picketing theaters on Sept. 24, 1938.

Browne Forbids Strike.

Richard J. Wren, then president of the engineers, wired the movie operators officials as follows:

"This is to inform you that local 399 of the International Union of Operating Engineers are on strike and will picket all theaters of B&K [Balaban & Katz], Warner Brothers, RKO, and Lennick & Schafer."

Meanwhile movie operators' officials in Chicago telephoned to Browne, the international president. They asked what to do. Browne replied: "Don't strike; keep your men on the job; the cut will stay in effect; I will take care of it."

And an hour after Browne had told the operators that he would "take care of it" Wren, sitting in his office at 816 Washington boulevard, headquarters of local 399, got a telephone call. It was from Danny Stanton, beer runner, gambler, and tough man for the syndicate. Wren is now dead, but an engineer who sat beside his desk when the call from Stanton came in told the story.

Stanton Defied by Wren.

Stanton told Dick Wren to call off the strike; it was the mob's order. Wren told Stanton: "Tell the boys to go to ——! The men are on strike and they're going to stay on strike till they get that 10 per cent back. I'm running this union and I'm going to keep on running it!"

Half an hour later, while the engineer still sat beside Wren's desk, Murray [The Camel] Humphreys, a Capone lieutenant and one of Nitti's chieftains called on Wren. Wren told the engineer, "Go over there and sit by the window. Pretend you're reading a paper."

"Humphreys talked in low tones to Wren for five minutes," said the engineer. "Then he turned and as he walked out, Humphreys said, 'I'm telling you, you'd better or else....'

Calls Off Strike.

"When he was gone, Wren sadly remarked: 'What the . . . is a man going to do? I've got to call that strike off or get killed. They've told me that before and one of these days they'll do it.' He turned to the telephone and called off the strike, told the men to 'go back to work.' Humphreys had told him to make the best settlement he could but to put the men back."

Browne and Bioff — Nitti, Campagna, and Ricca — had won.

How did the gang control the engineers' union?

They controled it, as they did all their unions, by terrorism. One business agent of the union disappeared and it was believed his skeleton was found later with two bullets in the head. Wren, just before he died in bed in 1939, was marked for death and the gang had set a machine gun trap for him. Homes of the president and vice president of the union were blasted with bombs.

Bioffs Roster of Victims.

This, in brief, is the sordid story of how Nitti, Ricca, and Campagna, thru their agents, Browne and Bioff, sold the members of the unions working in the motion picture industry down the river at the same time they were extorting more than a million dollars from the employers.

Bioff has frankly told of the employers' payments. In the New York trial he gave a roster of the "dues paying employers." They were:

John Balaban, Chicago head of the Balaban & Katz theaters, an official of the Paramount company; James Coston, an attorney and Chicago representative of Warner Brothers; Sam Brenner, Chicago film attorney; Henry Herzbrun, Paramount attorney; Harry Warner and his brother, Albert, president and vice president of Warner Brothers; Charles Moskowitz, Loew's official in New York; Maj. Leslie F. Thompson, Radio-Keith-Orpheum; Marvin Schenck, talent scout for Loew's; Sidney Kent, president of 20th Century-Fox; Austin Keough, vice president and counsel for Paramount; Samuel Carlisle, controller for Warner Brothers; George Skouras, manager of Fox theaters in New York, and Charles Skouras, manager of Fox theaters on the west coast.

The union members paid; the employers paid.

Judge Knox's Comment.

When Judge Knox received the verdict of the jury finding Browne and Bioff guilty he summed it up:

"If these racketeers, these Chicago hoodlums can get to a place where they can cast their shadows over the lives of 125,000 American workers and their families it constitutes in my mind a national scandal. I am quite certain your verdict will let fresh air into a lot of homes in this country. All labor will doubtless be glad to have the unions purged of such individuals as these. If union labor is to endure it must rid itself of men who stand ready to sell out labor when it suits their purposes."

SPIKE O'DONNELL FAMILY UPSET BY A MYSTERY CALL

Guards Bar Visitors as Sequel to Shooting.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

A telephone call to the home of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, wounded agent of a city paving ring, worried his family yesterday on the eve of an expected state grand jury investigation of a conspiracy to murder him and a possible federal grand jury investigation of his alleged paving activities.

O'Donnell was shot in the back last Monday after he had pressed his claim for $70,000 from beneficiaries of the expenditure of $1,300,000 of WPA cash in 1938. He was being held incommunicado at the Little Company of Mary hospital in Evergreen Park, with two county policemen stationed at his door to fend off all callers except members of his family.

Asks to See Family.

"I have important information about the shooting of Mr. O'Donnell," the telephone caller told Rita Mae O'Donnell, daughter of the wounded man. "I can't get to see him in the hospital. Could I come to your home and talk to the family."

Rita Mae said she feared the caller meant more harm to her father, and told him:

"No, we wouldn't dare to let you in."

O'Donnell is not a prisoner, said the county policemen stationed outside his hospital room door. He was shot while walking on 83d street, between Loomis and Ada streets, inside the city limits. He was able to reach his home a half block away and his wife drove him to the hospital, which is outside the city limits.

No Right to Bar Visitors.

First Assistant State's Atty. Wilbert F. Crowley said the policemen had no right to prevent visitors from seeing O'Donnell, provided O'Donnell wanted to see them. He said he knew of no law, custom, or duty thru which the police would act as doormen for O'Donnell or any one else. Crowley said the police would be of more service out on the highways protecting the lives and property of law-abiding citizens.

The political version of the presence of the policemen at the hospital room door was that the possibility of O'Donnell talking for publication was not pleasing to some of the powers-that-be. The wounded man's wife, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Donnell, and two daughters, Rita Mae and Dorothy, spend most of the day at the hospital. They said the patient was conscious, able to answer questions, and was "getting along very nicely."

The investigation of the attack on O'Donnell was expected to get under way today. State's Atty. Courtney, who has been in New York and Washington, is expected home. United States Atty. Woll returned yesterday afternoon from Washington.

Courtney Has Information.

Courtney has some information at hand about Spike's attempts to collect the $70,000. Courtney questioned Robert G. McCay, prominent contractor, last August about Spike's attack on him in his office. McKay refused to prosecute O'Donnell, Courtney said later.

The prosecutor also was advised of the assault by O'Donnell on Joseph Butler, superintendent of streets for the city, in other attempts to get the $70,000 fee O'Donnell claimed he earned from what he called "the paving ring." Police Commissioner Allman said he had never been told of the attack, which took place in a corridor of the city hall, two floors above his office.

Part of Spike's claimed services to the paving contractors was said to have been exerted in the interests of John P. Moriarity, cousin of Courtney, who for a time fought the paving combine. When Moriarity was given a contract to provide the WPA with 210,000 tons of asphalt he had difficulty in getting a bond to cover the transaction. Eventually two bonding companies gave surety for him, the National Surety company of New York and the Continental Casualty company.

Told to "Lay Off."

Yesterday Charles Burras, representative of the National Surety company, admitted that the bonding companies as a whole had been "warned" not to go surety for Moriarity. They were told to "lay off," he said.

"But we don't scare so easily," Burras said. "And the Continental Casualty company doesn't scare so easily."

PAIR SENTENCED TO PRISON TERMS ON SLAVE CHARGE

Corpus Christi, Tex., March 18 (AP).—A federal court jury today convicted Alex Skrobarcyzk, 62 years old, and his daughter, Susie, 29, on a charge they held a Negro farm hand, Alfred Irwin, in a condition of slavery.

The jury, which included 11 white men and one Negro, acquitted the two on a peonage charge. Judge Allen B. Hannay sentenced Skrobarcyzk to four years in prison and the daughter to two years.

Yesterday Irwin exhibited in court scars he said he received when whipped by his employers.

He testified that he was beaten time after time with a bull whip, with a heavy "breast chain" used to hitch together teams of horses, with a heavy rope interwoven with rings of steel and with a heavy club. Others gave similar testimony.

75 Scrubwomen of Loop Building End Day's Strike

Seventy-five nonunion women janitors and scrubwomen returned to their jobs in the Field building, 135 South La Salle street, at 6 p. m. last night, after refusing to work Wednesday night. Robert Carpenter, manager of the building, who said the women were demanding higher wages, induced them to resume work.

WLB DELAY ON WAGE RAISES IRKS WORKERS ON 'L' AND CAR LINES

Delay by the national war labor board in Washington has aroused impatience and resentment among more than 20,000 union employés of the surface and elevated lines still awaiting wage raises recommended months ago.

The delay also has affected traction unification and surface lines cases now pending with the Illinois commerce commission. Lawyers and examiners for the commission have had to assume what wage rates would be in the near future because of the failure of the WLB to act.

An arbitration board, headed by Judge Philip Sullivan of the federal District court, decided last fall that 16,000 surface lines workers should have 9 cents an hour increase; something like $4 a week for each man, retroactive to June 1, 1942. The war labor board has not yet reviewed the case.

In December a WLB panel stepped in to avert a threatened strike of 4,500 L union members demanding raises of 12 to 17 cents an hour, and recommended that wage levels be raised proportionately with those on the surface lines. This also awaits WLB approval.

William F. Levander, head of the elevated branch of the Amalgamated union, said that its workers had been "very patient," but were much dissatisfied. Rank and file of the surface lines union were reported growing more resentful week by week over the labor board's inaction.

FISH SUGGESTS M'ARTHUR FOR PRESIDENT IN '44

Boston, Mass., March 18 (AP).—Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] suggested last night that Gen. Douglas MacArthur or Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio head an anti-New Deal or American coalition party ticket if President Roosevelt seeks a fourth term.

If President Roosevelt is a candidate, Fish went on, he would favor a ticket headed by Gen. MacArthur for President and James A. Farley for Vice President, of Gov. Bricker for President, and either Sen. Millard E. Tydings, Harry F. Byrd, or Burton K. Wheeler for Vice President.

Declaring the fourth term issue already was "causing disunity and impeding our war effort," Fish continued:

"President Roosevelt would render a real service to his country if he would publicly announce he shall not under any circumstances be a candidate for a fourth term."

U. S. CONCILIATOR FAILS TO SETTLE TAXICAB STRIKE

Evanston's "striking" cab drivers met yesterday with managers of the two cab companies and a department of labor conciliator, Edward A. Egan, in a fruitless five hour discussion at the suburb's city hall.

George Hardy, manager of the Evanston Cab company, and William Clause, manager of the Jitney Cab company, insisted that the five cent per mile fine should continue for all mileage in excess of the office of defense transportation's 75 mile limit, and representatives of the drivers were equally insistent that it should be dropped.

Both factions agreed to meet Egan again today. The 35 independently owned cabs were reported doing a prosperous business. Idle are the Evanston Cab company's 90 taxis, and the Jitney Cab company's 60. Their drivers normally rent them from the companies at $3.75 per day.

FIRE BLOCKS TRAFFIC.

Fire in the second floor of the Cardinal Laundry at 1757 West Grand avenue last night tied up traffic on Grand avenue for almost two hours. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

ASSAIL SUBSIDY OF ROW HOUSES AND 'BARRACKS'

Criticism of the federal government's group housing subsidy plan for war workers was expressed yesterday at a meeting of the Chicago plan commission. The discussion was led by Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], a member of the commission and chairman of the city council housing committee.

"The government's attitude is that war workers should be 'frozen' in their homes, as long as they are sheltered and no matter how bad the homes are," Lindell said. "The housing problem on Chicago's south side is complicated by that attitude. We can only get priorities on 'row,' or attached type, houses and I expect the government will want to build more of the barracks type here, which would be even worse."

Morton Bodfish, another member, said both the row and barracks type houses would place obstacles in the way of the worker who wanted to save and buy his own home. Frank J. Rathje, another member, asserted the row type homes might degenerate into new slum areas after the war.

The commission decided to appoint a committee to study all forms of war housing.

ASPIRANT IN 5TH WARD DECLINES DEMOCRAT BID

Saying he is conducting "an independent and nonpartisan campaign" for alderman from the 5th ward, Bertram B. Moss yesterday declined an invitation to appear before the Paul Douglas Democratic committee, which has headquarters at 5711 Dorchester avenue.

"I am not seeking an indorsement from any political party or group as such, and have determined it inadvisable to appear before your committee," Moss told Walter Johnson, chairman of the committee.

Moss, who is 38 years old and an attorney, was first indorsed by the regular Democratic organization. The indorsement was later withdrawn and given to Horace Lindheimer.

Ordnance Worker Killed in Carbondale Plant Blast

Charles J. Vaughn, 35 years old, Johnston City, Ill., an employé of the Illinois ordnance plant near Carbondale, was killed yesterday by an explosion in a shed in which defective detonators were housed, according to 6th service command headquarters. The building was isolated and the main plant was not affected. Vaughn was alone in the building.

PUBLIC DEMANDS FACTS IN PAVING DEAL: M'KIBBIN

Holds O'Donnell Charge Must Be Answered.

George B. McKibbin, Republican nominee for mayor, declared last night that the public demands to know who were the partners of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell in his claims of paving deals at the city hall. In a radio speech, McKibbin said federal investigation of Chicago gangsters are national in scope and that the New York grand jury inquiry may have bearings on the O'Donnell case.

"Here in Chicago," McKibbin said, "there lies wounded in the hospital Spike O'Donnell, the noisiest of Chicago's mobsters, claiming he was shot because he tried to collect his $70,000 share of the loot in a city hall paving deal involving $12,000,000 in WPA funds.

Would End Secrecy.

"The New York inquiry is clouded in secrecy to help the government get at the facts. Chicago's latest shooting is cloaked with secrecy lest the facts come out to the embarrassment of prominent figures in the city hall machine. Yet the press and public are asking many questions. Among them are these:

"Have not George E. Browne, Willie Bioff, and Nick Circella, alias Nick Dean, all serving prison sentences for extorting upwards of $1,000,000 from Hollywood's big movie companies, been testifying before the federal grand jury [in New York] and perhaps naming the higher-ups in their activities?

"Is it true that Al Capone himself, his brother Ralph, and his first lieutenant, Frank Nitti, have been questioned in the investigation?

"What has been uncovered by the agents of the federal bureau of investigation who have been pursuing their investigations in Chicago and Washington?

Recalls Carey Murder.

"Is it true that Estelle Carey, the night club girl friend of the convict Nick Dean, was brutally murdered and burned in her Chicago apartment to silence further revelations of the major operators of Chicago's underworld?

"Why did Spike O'Donnell have the run of our city hall, and who were his partners in the mysterious paving deals, from which he claims he was entitled to $70,000 tribute?

"Why has the Kelly-Nash sheriff of Cook county placed two highway policemen outside the door of the hospital room where O'Donnell is fighting for his life, with instructions to keep out the newspaper men with whom O'Donnell wants to talk?

"All these questions expose current conditions which are a part of the sinister pattern of the unholy alliance between crime and politics that has throttled good government in Chicago for 10 years."

Lindblad Talks on Paving.

Henry D. Lindblad, Republican nominee for city clerk, in three speeches last night said:

"The paving racket in Chicago is the second most profitable source of illicit funds for the coffers of the Kelly-Nash machine. The attempted assassination of Spike O'Donnell tilted the lid on the source of one of the largest avenues of illicit revenue known in the history of the nation."

At a Republican rally at 15 North Ashland avenue, Roger Faherty said:

"For 30 years Engineer Kelly helped add open spaces to Chicago by filling in the lake front.

"But for the last 10 years Mayor Kelly and the New Deal, thru the destruction of property values by high taxes, have made more open spaces in the built up sections than Engineer Kelly ever helped reclaim from Lake Michigan."

M'KIBBIN SURE OF VICTORY, HE PROMISES AIDS

George B. McKibbin, Republican candidate for mayor, said last night at the close of a dinner given for him by an independent committee of labor leaders, that he is "now certain of election."

"Ten weeks ago," he said, "the Republican campaign was launched from scratch. Despite the power of the Kelly-Nash machine, we are now running them neck and neck. In another two weeks I am certain we will leave Mayor Kelly far behind."

John Callahan, business representative of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers union, was chairman of the dinner, which was held in the La Salle hotel. Others who joined with him were Rudy Wick, business agent of the Boilermakers union; Edward Gallagher of the Pointers, Cleaners and Caulkers union; Peter A. Riley of the Composition Roofers, Damp and Waterproof Workers, and Robert R. McCabe, business agent of Painters district council, No. 14.

DIES AFTER FALL ON ICE.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NAVAL STATION GIVES $40,234 TO AID RED CROSS

Contributions to the Red Cross war fund amounting to $40,234 were turned over to James B. Forgan, chairman of the organization's Chicago chapter, by representatives of the naval and civilian personnel of the Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday.

Presentation of the check was made by Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, and Capt. R. R. M. Emmett, commanding officer of the station.

The Polish civilian war relief unit will sponsor a card and bunco party in the Morrison hotel on Sunday afternoon, April 11, to benefit the Red Cross fund, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Armella Mix, president.

The Dairy Employés' union has voted that each of its members in local 754 pledge one day's salary to the fund, Frank J. Gillespie said yesterday. Dairy companies will cooperate by offering use of the pay roll deduction plan to their employés.

LABOR OFFICIAL LENDS SUPPORT TO KELLY DRIVE

Olander Recalls 8 Hour Law for Women.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Victor Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor and vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, last night announced his support of Mayor Edward J. Kelly in the election April 6.

Olander said in a radio speech that in the last 10 years he had many occasions to discuss labor problems with Mayor Kelly. "The attention which he has given such matters," he said, "is the principal reason I offer in advising my fellow citizens to vote to retain him for mayor."

Recalls 8 Hour Bill.

When the Illinois women's eight hour bill was up for passage, Olander said, he went to Pat Nash, Democratic county chairman, who promised his aid, and three days later the bill passed and became law.

"Mayor Kelly helped with that highly important bill, as he had with other labor bills," said Olander.

All Illinois governors have appointed men from organized labor as directors of labor, except Gov. Dwight H. Green, he said. "The present governor appointed a political coal merchant, Francis B. Murphy, as head of the state labor department. Shortly after Mr. Murphy took office he announced his intention to relax the women's eight hour law, which, by the way, allows a full 48 hour week. His plea was war necessity. He proceeded to issue illegal permits to violate the law. These enabled certain employers to avoid hiring additional workers."

Praises Teachers' Union.

Touching on public school affairs, Olander recited the history of the battle of the old Chicago Teachers' federation.

"Chicago now has the largest and best organized union of public school teachers in all the world—the Chicago Teachers' union. It has never hesitated to challenge the board of education. If you want to hold Mayor Kelly responsible for board of education matters put that to his credit."

Mayor Kelly spoke yesterday before 1,000 Democratic precinct captains in the Morrison hotel. The workers were from wards 38 to 50, inclusive.

"I think we have demonstrated in Chicago," said Mayor Kelly, "that the city administration can have a heart. Chicago is a big, liberal, tolerant, neighborly and kindly city. We want to keep it that way. I have endeavored at all times to make local government function along humanitarian lines.

Talks on Loyalty to City.

"Many Chicagoans may not realize that their city's population is more than that of any one of 30 states in the Union. We are a polyglot community, representing the best of all the peoples of the world. We speak 62 different dialects in Chicago, but we have only one loyalty—our allegiance to the American flag and the American way of life.

"We know no race, creed or color, we have but one objective, the service of Chicago's destiny. I have tried to impart to my administration a sympathetic understanding of the wants, the hopes and the aspirations of all the people of Chicago."

PROPOSE MERGER OF TEN COUNTY SCHOOL AREAS

Ten county school districts with a student population of approximately 5,000 may be consolidated into three new school districts as a result of recommendations made by the school survey commission of Cook county, Noble J. Puffer, Cook county schools superintendent, said yesterday.

The proposed consolidations are districts 37 and 39, both of Wilmette, into one district with a total of 1,834 students; districts 102 and 105, both of La Grange, and districts 101, 106, and 107, all of Western Springs, into one district with 2,742 students, and districts 57 of Mount Prospect, 23 of Prospect Heights, and 26 of Feehanville, into one district with 391 students.

The commission was appointed by Gov. Green for greater efficiency and economy in the operation of county schools.

DEFENSE ASKS IMMEDIATE TRIAL IN SEDITION CASE

Acts After Court Rips 2d Indictment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Preliminary court proceedings in the government's case against 33 persons and one corporation charged with attempting to undermine the morale of the nation's military and naval forces came to an abrupt halt today as defense attorneys took time out to debate the advisability of going to trial in the case at once.

The question of going to trial at this time arose after Associate Justice Jesse C. Adkins of the United States District court so emasculated the government's second indictment of the defendants that its value to the government's case was questionable. Trial of the case heretofore had not been expected to start before late in April or early in May.

New Indictment Planned.

United States Atty. O. John Rogge stated immediately after Justice Adkins announced his ruling on the legality of the second indictment that he was drawing up a new indictment to present to the federal grand jury in April.

When Rogge made known his intentions to seek a new indictment, counsel for some of the defendants asked the court that the case be brought to trial at once. They stated some of the defendants have been in custody for more than a year and it is only fair that the charges be aired in court.

At this point Rogge jumped to his feet and declared that if this were the desire of the defense attorneys "I may decide to go to trial on the first indictment only."

Justice Adkins then adjourned the court until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning to give defense attorneys time to debate fully the advisability of going to trial at this time.

Time Aids Defense.

It is believed the defense attorneys will elect to continue with the preliminary proceedings pending before the court, benefit from the time required by the government to obtain a new indictment, and let the case run its course on the theory that "persons never brought to trial never go to jail."

Justice Adkins ruled today that part of the second count of the two count second indictment returned Jan. 4, 1943, was valid but that all of the overt acts alleged in the indictment to have occurred prior to the United States' entrance into the war would have to be eliminated. He already had quashed the first count of this indictment.

He still is to rule on the legality of the second count of the first indictment.

Same Jury in Session.

Rogge will have little difficulty in obtaining the new indictment, it was believed, because the special grand jury that returned the second indictment will be sitting until April 6. Its life was extended for 30 days on March 5 and could be further extended if the justice department so desired.

This special grand jury has not taken a single action since it returned the second indictment against the defendants in January.

Justice Adkins overruled motions to dismiss both the first and second indictments. He said that they had been returned by two grand juries which found sufficient evidence to warrant bringing the charges made against the defendants and that he, therefore, could not dismiss them.

Maximilian St. George and Albert Dilling, Chicago attorneys representing three of the defendants, caused the judge and spectators to laugh when they suggested that if the justice department was unable to draw up a "good" indictment, they would be willing to lend their services to the government.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by S. Stone, 1401 Rosalie street, Houston, Tex.]

THE QUESTION.

From what mistake in life have you benefited most?

WHERE ASKED.

310 South Michigan avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

Dorothy Grandsard, secretary, 6448 Kimbark avenue—For many years I adopted the policy of absolute honesty and frankness. Then one day a truthful statement that I made sounded blunt and tactless. I realized I was wrong in making my iron clad rule and decided that at times it is wiser to avoid the issue.

Walter Lynch, student-cadet sergeant, 6151 Winthrop avenue—It happened in basketball. Every time I made a mistake, however slight, I always made an excuse. One day I made a terribly big mistake and couldn't make up an excuse. Then I realized that I hadn't really been learning any lessons from the other errors.

Mrs. P. D. Voight, secretary, 7232 South Park avenue—By making a few mistakes I learned that children can be handled more successfully when treated as young adults rather than infants. For example, I thoughtlessly called my daughter a lazy girl because her room was messy. She had spent her time cleaning my room.

John Kempf, barber, 3841 North Leavitt street—Once I invested in a deal that was supposed to bring me some quick and easy money. My loss was great enough so that I profited from that one mistake the rest of my life. I learned then that it was wiser to earn it slowly and surely in my own field.

June Miles, secretary, 4826 Sheridan road—It's hard to say when my greatest mistake dawned on me because I had been making a habit of it. But one day I convinced myself I was always overestimating other people and letting them intimidate me. I also underestimated my own abilities. I know better now.

KUHN AND 10 OTHERS LOSE U. S. CITIZENSHIP

New York, March 18 (AP).—Federal Judge John Bright today canceled the citizenship of Fritz Kuhn, former national leader of the German-American bund, and 10 other former members. Nine other former bundists, of 20 recently tried in denaturalization proceedings, were permitted to retain their American citizenship.

"I feel entirely justified in finding the aims and purposes of the bund were un-American and subversive," Judge Bright's decision said. "It does not follow, however, that mere membership in the bund would be sufficient upon which to base judgment here sought. Such membership, however, together with other facts, may have definite bearing upon the relief sought by the government."

Kuhn, who is 47 years old, now is serving a five year term at Dannemora, N. Y., on a conviction of stealing bund funds. He came to New York for the denaturalization hearing, but when the case began Jan. 5 he asked to be excused to "avoid publicity, for my family's sake."

SEDITION ABOARD FREIGHTER IS LAID TO CIO SEAMAN

U. S. Charges He Tried to Foment Disloyalty.

Mobile, Ala., March 18 [Special].—Details of federal indictments returned here against a member of the National Maritime union [CIO] disclosed today that the grand jury charged him with seditious acts aboard a merchant vessel and bringing indecent literature into the United States.

The defendant is James Couchois, 31 years old, of Detroit, Mich., a seaman and deck chairman for his ship's committee of the maritime union. He has denied that he is a Communist.

Two indictments against him were returned late yesterday before Federal Judge John McDuffie. Couchois is now at liberty under $3,000 bond posted on his arraignment last Friday before a United States commissioner on a justice department complaint that he attempted to undermine the morale of men in the navy.

Covers 10 Month Period.

The first of two counts in the sedition indictment charged that while Couchois was aboard the freighter West Nohono on a high seas voyage he attempted to cause insubordination, disloyalty and refusal of duty in United States naval forces by wilful statements made between April 10, 1942, and last Feb. 10.

The substance of his allegedly seditious statements, made in the presence of the freighter's navy gun crew, the vessel's regular hands and others, were listed by the grand jury as follows:

"That they were foolish for enlisting in the United States navy gun crew and that they should have gotten into something where they could make the money he was making.

Called War "Silly."

"That he could live under Hitler's régime as well as any other régime and that he would just as soon be in Germany as in the United States."

"That the war was between a bunch of crooks and that it didn't make any difference to him who won because he wouldn't be any worse off if the Germans won than if the allies won.

"That it was silly being in this war and that there was no reason for us being in it; that he had joined the merchant marine to keep from going into the army, and that he would not advise any one going into the armed forces."

The other indictment charged that on about last Feb. 10 he brought to Mobile from Capetown, South Africa, an obscene and lascivious booklet contrary to the statutes, peace, and dignity of the United States.

Trade Mates

(Story in adjoining column.)

Mrs. Helen Adams Vasicek, whose petition for increased support money yesterday disclosed exchange of mates by two divorced couples.

MATE SWAPPING AFTER DIVORCES TOLD TO COURT

It started out as a simple enough alimony hearing—Vasicek vs. Adams.

Mrs. Helen Adams Vasicek, 28 years old, 1357 North Massasoit avenue, appeared before Judge Frank M. Padden asking that her former husband, Melvyn Adams, increase his support money for their two children, 7 and 4 years old. Adams, 29, lives at 3734 Concord place.

Then it developed that the former Mrs. Adams is now the wife of Godfrey Vasicek and that Adams is the husband of Vasicek's former wife, Marie.

Charges Husband Stealing.

Judge Padden interrupted to say he had no sympathy in cases of wife swapping, but Attorney Milton Sabath said the situation was the result of a coincidence. He explained that Adams and the former Mrs. Vasicek had met when he went to his divorced wife's home to visit his children and Mrs. Vasicek arrived to get some papers from her former husband.

Adams' present wife [the former Mrs. Vasicek] contradicted the attorney's explanation. "She stole my first husband," she told the court. "I was in the hospital at the time and he started to date her."

The present Mrs. Adams said her former husband had tricked her into getting a divorce. She said she met Adams when he came to tell her that her former husband had run away with his former wife. "We decided to get married," she added.

Husband in the Army.

In seeking the support increase, Mrs. Vasicek explained her husband was in the army and that she had left a job as a secretary to learn welding in a war plant to earn more money.

Judge Padden continued the hearing until April 15 when he learned that Adams is supporting Vasicek's child by his first marriage but that Vasicek is making arrangements to send home allotments from his army pay.

Know All the Answers, Before You Buy Shoes

IF—

If you pay 2, 3, or 4 times as much for your shoes as formerly, will you get proportionately longer wear from them?

NO!

Government leather restrictions hit high priced shoes hardest. Today, there is less difference than ever before between Thom McAns and the highest priced shoes you can buy.

WHY?

The longer wear is "Over There"

All the best grade heavier soles are taken by the U. S. Gov't for our Armed Forces and Lend-Lease . . . None of these super-quality leather soles have been cut for civilian shoes since April 25, 1942, regardless of how priced the shoes . . . Thom McAn, who sells more shoes than any other shoe store organization in all America, uses the best selection he can possibly get of the good soles left for civilian shoes.

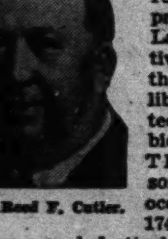
BALKS ASSEMBLY TRIBUTE; CALLS AUTHOR 'RADICAL'

Republican Leader Assails Source of Jefferson Bill.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 18.—Majority Leader Reed F. Cutler [R., Lewistown] today blocked house adoption of a resolution prepared by Ira Latimer, executive secretary of the Chicago civil liberties committee, to honor the bicentennial of Thomas Jefferson's birth, which occurred April 13, 1743.



Rep. Reed F. Cutler.

After a verbal attack upon Latimer by Cutler, Rep. Louis Berman [D., Chicago], who had moved the adoption, agreed to permit rewriting of the resolution. Nine other members had sponsored the resolution with Berman.

"I want to honor Jefferson, but the only communication I have had on this subject was from Ira Latimer, a well known radical whom I threw out of the executive committee room two years ago," Cutler said.

Says He Threw Book.

"He threw a book in the face of a committee member because we would not pass his radical bills. He climbed over chairs getting out, with me after him. I don't want the people to think we have fallen so low that we can't draw our own resolution."

Sixteen Democrats joined most of the Republicans in a standing vote in which was adopted a resolution to memorialize congress to halt the drafting of farmers. Only five Democrats rose when Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg called for the "no" vote. The sponsor was Rep. Harold D. Kelsey [R., Barrington], a farmer.

The house also voiced approval of a resolution offered by Robert M. Woodward [R., Chicago] asking congress to exempt soldiers and sailors from income tax on their federal pay.

Call for Wreck Probe.

Also adopted was a resolution calling upon the Illinois commerce commission to investigate the wreck Monday which injured 85 persons on two trains of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad.

Before adjourning until March 23 the house received 37 new bills, making a total of 319 for the session thus far. Included were proposals to:

Make insanity ground for divorce, where there has been no restoration of civil rights during this period.

Give the Illinois commerce commission power to regulate the sale of electric current, gas, water, or telephone service by hotels and apartment houses, where a charge is made in addition to the rent.

Make central standard time the standard of time in downstate Illinois for the performance of any act or duty for which no standard of time is specified.

Repeal permanent registration of voters in downstate counties, where it became generally effective last year.

Would Limit Property Tax.

Limit property taxes to 1 per cent of the assessed valuation, exclusive of taxes for bond principal and interest.

The house passed a bill for $600,000 deficiency appropriation for blind pensions.

Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross and Schnackenberg today appointed 10 legislators to survey the plight of small business under war conditions and federal regulations.

Senators on the committee are Dennis J. Collins [R., De Kalb]; Arthur J. Bidwell [R., River Forest], Rice W. Miller [R., Hillsboro], Peter P. Kielminski [D., Chicago], and John M. Lee [D., Chicago]. House members are Frederick A. Virkus [R., River Forest], George Brydia [R., Prophetstown], John Friedland [R., Elgin], Paul Powell [D., Vienna], and Michael E. Hannigan [D., Chicago].

OBJECTOR CURED BY CAMP LIFE, HE TELLS COURT

Three and a half months of life in a conscientious objectors' camp cured Charles Carl Szarek of his conscientious objections against military service, he admitted yesterday on arraignment before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Szarek, 26 years old, and a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, was ordered to the objectors' camp at Glendora, Cal., last summer. In November he was given a 9 day furlough, and never returned. Yesterday agents of the federal bureau seized him in his home at 2730 Thomas street, and arraigned him a few hours later.

"I just didn't fit into that conscientious objectors' camp," Szarek told Commissioner Walker. "They're a bunch of educated monkeys, and I'm ready to join the army." Walker continued further hearing to April 1.

WOMEN IN STATE INDUSTRIES PASS MILLION MARK

Springfield, Ill., March 18 (AP).—Francis B. Murphy, director of the state department of labor, estimated today that 1,050,000 women are now employed in Illinois industry, compared with 750,000 in 1940, and that by the end of this year at least 200,000 more would take jobs.

Speaking at the opening of a two day "women workers in war time" conference sponsored by the labor department, Murphy said he was opposed to "drastic revision of labor laws at this time." He said, however, that legislation is needed "giving us legal authority to relax application of certain restrictions where such modification is necessary to aid the war effort."

Murphy reiterated that the department of labor favors "equal pay for equal work for women."

CHARGES STATE WORKERS SOLICIT CLIENTS FOR AID

Claims Efforts Are Made to Expand Program.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 18.—State Sen. Charles W. Baker [R., Davis Junction] charged today that employés of the state division of public assistance are soliciting persons to become recipients of old age assistance and aid to dependent children payments in order to keep up the size of the lists.

Baker made this accusation as Roger Frandsen, assistant superintendent of the division, appeared at a hearing of the senate judiciary committee to speak against a measure introduced by Baker. The proposed statutes would make an employé who solicits any person to apply for benefits guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of from $100 to $500.

"There is no way of determining what is meant by solicitation under this bill," Frandsen said. "Our employés are required to explain the benefits to those who are interested. Could that be termed solicitation? Sometimes we must call on persons who are unable to come to the office who are eligible for assistance, and whose names have been given us by some one else. Could that be termed solicitation?"

Cites Present Regulations.

Frandsen added that present department of welfare regulations would prevent real solicitation by employés and offered to discharge any whom Baker would name specifically as guilty of such action.

Baker charges workers seek to perpetuate and expand their program by obtaining more clients.

"They are playing politics with the programs, too," Baker said after today's session. "The whole thing is a racket, and because it is controled federally . . . we can't do anything about it."

Baker agreed to allow the committee to amend the bills, making them apply more specifically to employés of the division in question. The bills will be discussed again later. No action was taken today.

Oppose Cradle to Grave.

Meanwhile, the state senate adopted by a voice vote a resolution opposing the New Deal cradle to the grave social security program, after the executive committee had reported it favorably. The resolution was introduced by Sen. Walker Butler [R., Chicago].

Lt. Gov. Hugh Cross announced the appointment of a committee, called for in a resolution, to investigate laws pertaining to motor vehicles in Illinois and other states.

The members are Senators Dennis J. Collins [R., De Kalb], expected to be named chairman; William J. Connors [D., Chicago], Simon Lantz [R., Congerville], Hugh M. Luckey [R., Potomac], and Frank Ryan [D., Chicago]. Lantz and Luckey are chairmen of the committees on agriculture and motor vehicles, respectively.

The senate subcommittee handling an election contest against Sen. Louis J. Menges [D., East St. Louis] held preliminary hearings today, and both parties in the contest agreed to a recount of ballots as a first move in settling the affair. Another hearing will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at East St. Louis.

STATE BUYS ONLY HALF OF AUTOS ALLOWED BY OPA

Mileage Sliced, Says Transport Chief.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 18 [Special].—Fred F. Emich, state superintendent of transportation, said today that state departments are purchasing less than half the number of new cars allowed them under revised office of price administration regulations. These regulations now permit governmental agencies to replace cars which have been driven more than 40,000 miles.

Emich said in a report to Gov. Dwight H. Green that orders to reduce mileage driven by state cars have brought a 40 per cent cut in travel and that further reductions are being made.

Some Exceed 100,000 Miles.

"The state's present inventory of 1,495 passenger automobiles contains models of every year from 1935 to 1942," Emich said. "Of these cars, 173 have been driven 100,000 to 200,000 miles and 485 others have mileage totals of from 75,000 to 100,000.

"Since the rationing of automobiles the only cars purchased by the state have been for the use of the highway police. Because of the shortage of radio equipment it was necessary to place some of the new police cars, received months ago, in storage. The radio equipment was received recently and these cars have been taken from storage and placed in service within the last few weeks."

Cite Tire Needs.

Emich said replacement of some worn automobiles had been made imperative by the shortage of mechanics and repair parts.

"No new automobile tires were received by the state between October, 1941, and February, 1943," Emich said, adding that the purchase of new automobiles would relieve the tire situation, but that it still would be necessary to hold car use to a minimum.

PROPOSES GIVING PEOPLE VOICE ON CRADLE TO GRAVE

Insists They, Not F. D. R., Should Decide Issue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—President Roosevelt's "cradle to the grave" security scheme would require a new Bill of Rights, Rep. Hugh Peterson [D., Ga.] declared before the house today. And if a new Bill of Rights is to be adopted, it should come from the people, he said.

Peterson introduced a proposal which he said would make such a thing possible by letting the people of each state express themselves on the program.

Peterson proposed that a congressman from each state be chosen by the house speaker to confer with delegates from his state on what the people want, so that the plan, if adopted, would express their wishes rather than the President's will.

Sees Pressure for Plan.

He warned that sponsors of the "cradle to the grave" plan, embodied in a report by the national resources planning board, are "turning heaven and earth to get it permanently fastened" upon the people while the nation concentrates on the war.

The planning board is headed by the President's uncle, Frederic A. Delano, and recently was denied a cent of new appropriations by the house.

Peterson said of the plan that "this new Bill of Rights is . . . absolutely silent as to the . . . form of government under which it would have the people live to enjoy the benefits of its provisions!"

Insists People Give Views.

Peterson said "it has been over a century and a half" since the nation has seen conferences of the type he proposed between lawmakers and the people. He added:

"Perhaps the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, which grew out of these conferences, are outmoded. Perhaps the time is right for a new announcement of governmental principles by our people.

"If this be true, we should take every precaution to see that such new principles grow out of the people themselves. . . ."

G. O. P. CHAIRWOMAN DIES.

KANSANS AWAIT GOVERNOR'S O.K. ON UNION CURBS

Topeka, Kas., March 18 (AP).—The state senate has completed legislative action on Kansas' newest social experiment—state control of labor unions—and the measure requires only Gov. Andrew Schoeppel's signature to become law.

Senators late last night concurred, 28 to 7, in minor house amendments to the bill that would prohibit sitdown strikes and jurisdictional union disputes, and would require licensing of agents and financial reports of union transactions.

CONICAL METHOD
KEEP FIRE BRIGHT AT EDGES
RIDGE METHOD
It's the chemical composition of Pocahontas coal that distinguishes it from other coal. All the chemical elements required for thorough combustion and the maximum use of high heating units are combined in the proper proportion in genuine Pocahontas coal. Therefore, it is a most efficient and economical fuel for hand firing in boilers, furnaces, and stoves.

Low volatile and high carbon give Pocahontas dustless coals, lasting and slow-burning qualities, which produce constant, plentiful heat by day, and readily carry the fire on bank during the night. So, in the mornings, whether the weather is mild or severe, comfortable, healthful heat can be produced simply and promptly.

For most convenient and economical firing results, the Conical Method is recommended for round boilers and Ridge Method for rectangular boilers. There is a proper size of genuine Pocahontas for every type of burner.

Pocahontas coal, properly fired in any heating unit, will give you real FUEL SATISFACTION.

An N. & W. representative will be glad to supply information about Pocahontas Coal and proper method of firing. This service is free. Call or write:

EASTERN AIR LINES PROVIDES THE NATION'S FIRST REGULARLY-SCHEDULED SERVICE

Realizing that "cargo planes" were indispensable not only to winning the war but the peace as well, Eastern Air Lines on June 1, 1942, inaugurated the nation's first regularly-scheduled air cargo service which has operated continuously ever since . . . overnight, every night between New York and Miami.

Now, the trial period is over!

So enthusiastic has been the public acceptance of air cargo that the service has become permanently established—and that is news which is revolutionary from a standpoint of commercial airline operations.

For, not since the introduction of the multi-engine, ultra-modern passenger plane—Silverliner, to you—has the field of air transportation been so immeasurably widened. Today the possibilities of the airplane as a common carrier have been expanded from the light-express stage to a point where heavy cargo can be handled with ease—and with speed!

The present "cargo planes" being operated by Eastern Air Lines are capable of hauling thousands of pounds of load. During the past 9 months they have been carrying regular and emergency commercial shipments North and South—both ways—on schedules so fast that air mail goes along on the same flights!

Truly, these New York-Miami "cargo planes" are history-making additions to The Great Silver Fleet. Were additional equipment available, others also would be in operation right away on the Chicago-Miami and New York-Houston routes where there is already a pressing demand for air cargo service.

So "cargo planes" are not a dream of tomorrow . . . they're here today . . . and to stay! We at Eastern Air Lines, together with providing necessary passenger service over domestic routes, are pioneering in cargo operation . . . in order to serve you all the better!

CEILINGS OR NOT, YOUR VEGETABLE COSTS GO HIGHER

New Controls Set Up for 7 Fresh Products.

Retail prices of fresh vegetables uncontroled by ceilings have increased 2 to 6 cents per selling unit in the last three to four weeks since maximums were set for certain other vegetables and canned goods rationing went into effect, a sample survey of stores showed yesterday. There have been correspondingly sharp increases in most vegetables since last Jan. 1 and since March, 1942, prices in some instances more than doubling.

Soaring fresh vegetable prices are ascribed to two primary factors—an extremely light supply and heavy demand because of canned goods rationing, army and navy buying, and the meat shortage. Severe weather destroyed more than half the crops in Florida, Texas, and California, the present major supply sources, while in the Chicago market, supplies had been drained off under former temporary ceilings because producers shipped to markets with higher maximums.

Prices Rise Despite Ceilings.

Prices of seven major fresh vegetables have been under ceilings since late February. These vegetables are tomatoes, cabbages, carrots, peas, snap beans, spinach, and lettuce. Ceilings were put over prices of onions and potatoes late last year. Housewives have complained, however, that prices of these controled vegetables have risen despite the ceilings.

Trade representatives attributed the price increases in controled produce to ceiling violations by some retailers, especially those who kept no records. The former temporary maximums for tomatoes, cabbage, carrots, peas, snap beans, spinach, and lettuce were based on individual sellers' highest prices during specified basing periods, and, under this system, evasion was not difficult, they said.

The new retail ceilings on tomatoes, cabbages, carrots, peas, snap beans, spinach, and lettuce, which were put into effect yesterday, provide one markup over net cost for all stores and, it is said, will result in a relative uniformity among stores that will offer some protection against excess prices. There is no curb on vegetables other than the nine named heretofore, altho some dealers reported that consumer resistance to the climbing prices is growing and sales of certain particularly high priced vegetables are slowing down.

Controled vs. Uncontroled.

The following table shows the range of selling prices of controled and uncontroled vegetables in Chicago obtained by the sample survey. Because of variations in quality and size of the produce and in types of stores, some prices may be higher or lower than this range.

UNDER CEILING.

[Per pound unless otherwise stated.]

Potatoes, 5 lb.	21-39c	Carrots, bunch	6½-9c
Onions, 3 lb.	17-22c	Peas	23-27c
Tomatoes	21-31c	Spinch	13½-19c
Cabbage	8-12c	Lettuce, head	9-14c

[Representative prices for snap beans, which are also under a ceiling, were not obtainable because virtually none is available now.]

NO CEILING.

[Per pound unless otherwise stated.]

Beets, bnch.	12½-14½c	Celery, bunch	10-33c
Turnips	15-23c	Parsnips	15-23c
Rutabagas	7-10c	Sw. potato	12½-16½c
Broccoli, bch.	11½-45c	Gr. peppers, ea.	10-15c
Brus'ls sprouts	25-39c	Cauliflower, hd.	39-59c

The highs of the ranges for vegetables under ceilings are the new retail maximums for the stores covered, while in most instances the lows are prices a cent or two under ceilings. Generally, the new ceilings are slightly higher than the old maximums.

Trade representatives said some of the prices being charged for noncontroled vegetables are excessive, even in view of the small supply and heavy demand. Both large and small retailers, admitting that prices are "sky high," contended that their profits are small because wholesale prices are rising.

Larger supplies of fresh vegetables and lower prices are expected in a month, when produce begins coming to market from other states. A further price decline is expected in the summer with the arrival of "home grown" vegetables.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

By Sally Joy Brown.

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

O. H. writes: "My wife is planning to join the WAACS after I enter the army. Would she be entitled to receive the family allowance of $50 a month?"

ANSWER: Yes, even if your wife joins the WAACS, she will be entitled to receive the $50 monthly allowance provided for the wives of men in the four lowest pay grades of the service. A wife does not need to prove dependency.

Mrs. H. F. writes: "My husband is in the navy. He joined the last day of September. I have received regular checks for $50, beginning with November, but not for October. How shall I go about applying for an allowance for October?"

ANSWER: Payment of the allowance depends entirely upon the date of application and the date of the first pay roll deduction for your husband's contribution to it. If he did not join the navy until the last day in September he probably did not file until some time in October. Hence, payment could not begin until November. Your husband can inquire about it at his present station.

F. K. writes: "Could you tell me how much a class B dependent would be allowed to earn before his allowance would be voided? Because I have been receiving my main support from him, my son applied for assistance for me. However, there seems to be a chance for older men now, and I feel that I may be able to earn more than in the past."

ANSWER: Cases such as yours will be considered individually. Your eligibility would depend on whether you could now be considered as dependent upon the soldier for a substantial portion of your support. It will be necessary, if you obtain employment which will provide most of your support, to report that change of status to the office of dependency benefits, 213 Washington street, Newark, N. J. Your application will then be reconsidered.

Mrs. R. asks: "Is it true that the wife of a soldier can receive an extra allowance for support of a child before its birth? I have heard that is so. Please tell me where I can apply."

ANSWER: We have had numerous inquiries similar to yours, but there is nothing to substantiate the rumor, which seems to be current. After the birth of the child a soldier or his wife may obtain an official form concerning the change of status which should be filled out and submitted. It also will be necessary to provide a copy of the public or church record of birth.

STRIKE DISRUPTS MILK DELIVERIES AT WAR PLANTS

3 Drivers Seek $3,000 Wage Increases.

A strike by three milk wagon drivers at the Englewood and West Suburban branches of the Borden company, after their demand for wage increases of more than $3,000 a year had been rejected, yesterday disrupted the normal milk supply of 6,000 workers in war plants, Borden company officials reported.

The officials explained that local 735 of the Milk Wagon Drivers union had requested a readjustment of wages and commissions, retroactive to July 1, 1942, and had given the company 48 hours to compute and pay the new scale for the month of January.

Want Pay Immediately.

"The drivers want the pay for January to be made immediately so that the war labor board conciliators will be placed in the position of taking the raise away from them if the union's case is not upheld," the Borden officials said.

The company rejected the 48 hour ultimatum after computing that the yearly wages of the driver of wagon No. 1, involved in the strike, would be increased from $4,643 to $7,743, and that the annual wages of the driver of wagon No. 2 would be upped from $3,150 to $7,332. Borden officials said they had not yet computed the requested increase for driver No. 3.

Lose Home Commissions.

The dispute grew out of the practice of serving milk in bulk to workers in war plants. Workers, many of them on longer hours than heretofore, began drinking their milk at the plants instead of buying it in quarts and pints at home. Drivers complained over losing their commissions on individual home deliveries.

The request for the wage and commission increases is based on the commissions the drivers say they should receive for the milk consumed in bulk in the war plants.

Conciliators for the war labor board are expected to hold immediate hearings on the dispute.

KAISER DOUBTS MINES WILL HEED LEWIS ON STRIKE

Blames Absenteeism on Labor Leaders.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Henry J. Kaiser, west coast ship builder, told the house labor committee today that he believes coal miners will refuse to follow John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, if Lewis orders them to strike.

Kaiser was testifying on the problem of absenteeism when the question of a coal mine strike was raised. He was told that the newspapers had reported that a threat of a strike on April 1 had been made by Lewis, and asked what action congress should take in case of a strike.

"That is a problem for the congressmen," Kaiser replied. "I am not competent to answer. But I know what I believe.

Labor Too Conscientious.

"I don't believe the men will follow Mr. Lewis if he asks them to strike. Labor is conscientious. I can't believe that there are enough Americans in the country who will deprive us for any length of time of the opportunity to win the war."

[Coal mine operators and unions report little progress in contract conferences. Story on page 29.]

Kaiser laid the responsibility for absenteeism at the door of labor leaders and industry management, and urged premiums, not legal penalties, as a cure.

He suggested that workers be given merit badges in recognition of the number of months they have remained at war jobs without unnecessary absenteeism.

Favors Merit Pins.

Rep. Gerald W. Landis [R., Ind.] asked if rewards in the form of occasional week-end holidays for workers who remain on the job might not prevent absenteeism.

"I think they'd rather have the merit pins," Kaiser replied.

Asked if he approved a pending bill to punish absenteeism, Kaiser told the committee:

"I don't believe in anything compulsory in America until we've proved the voluntary system won't work."

"You believe that American workers should be led, not driven?" asked Landis.

"I believe in premiums, not penalties," Kaiser answered.

Defends Deferments.

Kaiser confessed that he does not know the cause of absenteeism, but said all of these factors contribute: inadequate housing, bad transportation and lack of a steady flow of materials to keep the workers supplied with tasks.

He said the majority of workers are determined to win the war, but that there are always some who "don't care, and have to be stimulated." This, he said, is the job of the labor leader and management.

The ship builder defended the deferment of draft age workers required for industry. Almost 50 per cent of the employés in his ship yards, he said, are of draft age.

He glowed with satisfacton when he told the committee:

"This month one of our shipyards will produce more ships per way [the structure on which a ship is built] than were ever produced in history."

JAMES MOONEY HEADS POLICE AT ZENITH FACTORY

A story in yesterday's TRIBUNE referred to James L. Mooney, former chief of detectives, as "the late James L. Mooney." E. F. McDonald Jr., president of the Zenith Radio corporation, directed attention to the error, explaining that Mooney is "very much alive and is doing an extremely important bit of war work."

In a letter to THE TRIBUNE Mr. McDonald said:

"Capt. Mooney worked up from the ranks, and enjoyed every honor and every office in the police department except commissioner of police. When he retired in April, 1940, he was commander of the second division. Immediately after America's entry into the war he came with the Zenith Radio corporation as head of our plant protection. He and his entire force are sworn in as military police.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Mama Sow on Rampage.

March 18, 1943.

ONE of the workers at the farm came dangerously close to having a serious accident or even losing his life the other day. The cause was the old sow in the farrowing pen whose viciousness has become a byword.

The sow, since it had a litter of pigs last week, has growled and charged any one entering the pen, evidently fearing some harm would come to the little porkers. This particular morning the worker was down at the pens early to feed the hogs and bed them. He entered the old sow's pen carefully, and noting that it was lying down in a corner proceeded to dump the feed and start to clean up.

The little pigs had bunched some of the straw under the board fender on the side of the pen, which keeps the old lady from rolling on them. He bent down on one knee to pull the straw out. Suddenly, with a grunt, the sow heaved up and charged.

300 Pounds on His Back.

Before he could straighten up, the sow was on his back, its 300 pounds almost crushing him to the floor. With a terrific effort, he managed to straighten up and shake the sow loose. Getting up, he found himself cornered with the sow between him and the door.

Fortunately he held a scoop shovel in his hand. The sow lowered its head and charged. Swinging hard, he gave the hog a smashing blow on the nose, bringing blood. The sow was knocked down to one knee, but was up and charging a second later.

For long minutes the man and sow battled desperately; he dealt harder and more frequent blows; the floor became slippery with blood and several times he almost fell. If he had, the fight might have been over.

Finally Opens Door.

Gradually the man worked himself closer to the door until finally he was able to open it with one hand while he fought off the enraged animal with the shovel in the other.

The terrific battle now seems to have sapped much of the sow's temper. Altho the men who feed it are careful to keep the door handy, it merely watches the workers suspiciously, growling and grunting.

Had the sow been victorious, it would have been almost impossible for the men to handle it now. However, the animal's feed ration has been increased heavily until its hunger for a nice leg or arm seems to have been quieted.

A little extra ear corn and a few nice days so the sow can be turned outdoors to get rid of excess energy should make the reformation complete [we hope].

PATTERSON ASKS DRAFT OF OLDER MEN, AND WOMEN

Seeks Labor Reserve for Farms and Factories.

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—With the assertion that America can save lives on the fighting fronts by making a greater effort at home, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson today called for legislation to draft men and women, when necessary, to fill farm and factory jobs.

He told the senate military committee that the time had come when "wise and ordered" use of man power is necessary and that no one must be allowed to say, "I do not choose to serve."

"I firmly believe," he added, "that not until there is imposed on every man and woman the equal obligation to render service in the war effort will this country make the all-out war effort which is necessary and of which we are capable."

State Basis Opposed.

As Patterson urged this far reaching step, it was disclosed that Secretary of War Stimson had registered fresh objections to a proposal by Rep. Paul J. Kilday [D., Tex.] to forbid drafting any married men in a state until all single men in that state have been called.

This measure is before the house rules committee. Chairman Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.] said he had received a letter of opposition from Stimson but did not make it public. The war department and selective service had objected earlier that the measure would be too difficult to administer.

Before Patterson testified, Sen. Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], author with Rep. James W. Wadsworth [R., N. Y.] of the labor draft bill, told reporters he had in mind changing from 18-50 years of age to 18-65 the age limits of women who would be subject to call for work.

Praises Older Women.

Austin asked Patterson what he thought of this and the latter replied that he had seen many women over 50 at work in arsenals and they seemed to do a good job even on heavy operations.

As the measure now stands, it provides for a registration of all women 18-50, inclusive. When workers were needed, the President would issue a call for them. If insufficient volunteers were received, local draft boards would fill quotas from the registered women and from men registered under the selective service act who were not going into the military.

WARNS CONGRESS OF DANGER FROM FOREMEN'S UNION

Washington, D. C., March 18 [Special].—Breakdown of authority in industrial plants if unions are permitted to form foremen's unions was predicted today by C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors corporation, in a telegram to four house committees announcing the corporation has been notified by the national labor relations board that a hearing will be held on a petition of the Foremen's Association of America demanding it be recognized as exclusive bargaining agent for all foremen in the Detroit Diesel engine division.

As soon as the telegram was received Rep. Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] introduced a bill to prohibit employers from dealing with unions which admit supervisory personnel to membership.

The bill also proposes ending "featherbed" rules and union regulations restricting production. It was referred to the house military affairs committee and Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] announced an early hearing on it would be held.

Wilson's telegram followed the earlier recognition by the Ford Motor company of a foremen's union and a consent election of foremen held at the Packard Motor Car company.

15 Million Army Needed to Win—Rickenbacker

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker predicted today that an armed force of 15,000,000 men would be needed to win the war. "You hear talk about an 11,000,000 man army," he told a Red Cross rally. "I say it will take 15,000,000 Americans in uniform to do the job that needs to be done, for we have the only man power left."

HOUSE TO PROBE 'RED POLICY' OF NEW DEAL'S FSA

Cooley Says Tugwell Philosophy Guides It.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—The house voted today to create a committee to investigate the farm security administration, following charges that its policies border on communistic practices.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley.

The investigation was proposed by Rep. Harold D. Cooley [D., N. C.], who traced the FSA's history from its organization as the resettlement administration under the direction of Rexford Guy Tugwell, now governor of Puerto Rico.

Cooley told the house the FSA adopted the philosophies of Tugwell when it succeeded the resettlement administration, "and immediately came into the same disrepute as its predecessor."

Wants AAA Included.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] voiced his approval of the inquiry, but said it should have been broadened to include the agricultural adjustment administration.

Rep. Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] said that such organizations as the FSA had been allowed to spring up because the states had been remiss in accepting their responsibilities in the field these agencies serve.

"But," he said, "we must give the powers back to the states or content ourselves with a great federal burocracy. The overhead cost of the FSA has been far greater than the cost would have been if the state agencies had done the work themselves.

'Extraordinary Powers.'

"These federal agencies are exercising extraordinary powers which they interpret and enforce."

Rep. Harry Sauthoff [P., Wis.] praised the FSA for its farm loan program and credited it with increasing farm production.

Several speakers said the FSA, which is headed by C. R. Baldwin, will welcome the investigation.

STEINBECK'S WIFE WINS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Salinas, Cal., March 18 (AP).—Carol Steinbeck obtained her final divorce decree today from John Steinbeck, author of "The Grapes of Wrath" and "Of Mice and Men."

Married in Los Angeles in 1930, they separated on April 27, 1941, she set forth in her complaint, which charged extreme cruelty. The complaint was filed a year ago.

Superior Judge H. G. Jorgensen said Mrs. Steinbeck told him at the time that "other women—particularly a Hollywood blonde—were to blame."

Mrs. Steinbeck was granted a $220,000 property settlement. She is working as a mechanic at the army's Fort Ord motor pool.

SCHOOLBOY HIT BY STREET CAR; LEG AMPUTATED

Jackie Frank, 6 years old, of 7511 Perry avenue, was in a critical condition in St. George's hospital last night after he had been struck by a street car in front of his home yesterday, while his mother, Mrs. James Frank, waited on a nearby corner to take him home from school. An amputation of his left leg was performed by his cousin, Dr. Edward C. Ryan. H. Hansen, motorman of the car, told police the lad darted in front of the car.

Dennis O'Connell, 60, of 103 West 69th street, a dock worker, died in County hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile at 16th and Halsted streets last Nov. 26.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 109 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 85, died in Chicago, where 2,822 others were injured during the same period.

HITLER'S NEW EUROPE.

It is reported that proclamation of a "United States of Europe" may be expected soon from Berlin. The consent of the several states will neither be asked nor considered necessary, nor will there be any articles of confederation. Union is to be achieved by Germany in the fashion of the boa constrictor. The third reich will swallow the smaller states and thus the perfect union will be achieved.

There is considerable method in this madness. Hitler, in creating a European super-government, may be perpetrating a fiction, but he has stumbled upon a device very useful to his purposes. He will be able to identify the interests of Germany with the interests of the whole continent, which he holds together by terror and force, and will be able to command the loyalties and service of the non-German in the name of Europa. It does not matter that few persons will fail to recognize the fraud. Hitler, with his United States of Europe, will have established a legalistic basis for conscripting all the labor and troops he needs. He will merely tell them that they are mistaken in thinking that Germany is forcing them to work and shed blood to perpetuate their own bondage. Quite the contrary. They will be fighting for Europe—their Europe.

Indeed, this is the line already being pursued. It is being used to rationalize the kidnaping of Frenchmen being carried into Germany by the thousands for forced labor. It will also be used to rationalize the military service that will be commanded of divisions drummed up among Hitler's reluctant allies. In the new Europe, according to a tentative draft of the proclamation, "each unit will be called upon to furnish an allocated contribution of fighting man power and industrial workers for the protection of the old continent against its natural enemies—the Anglo-Saxon powers and the united nations."

This, then, is to be Hitler's answer to the movement now afoot in Washington to transform the existing military alliance among the opponents of the axis into something more hard and fast. Mr. Roosevelt and his supporters in the senate cannot wait until reasonable progress has been made toward winning the war before putting forward their program for a super-government. With them it is union now—right now. Propaganda has been extensively employed to prepare the way for acceptance of their ideas. In the latest OWI propaganda film, for example, the citizen will see flashbacks to Washington's Revolutionary army. A New Deal narrator will tell him that in 1776 Americans fought for their states, rather than for a whole new country . . . "like [sic] today we fight for our country and do not know we have a world."

Hitler is forcing his "United States of Europe" upon millions of people who don't want it and know it as a fraud. Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Willkie, Gov. Stassen, and others of the same internationalist persuasion are trying to thrust a super-government of a different kind upon millions of Americans who are just as unconvinced about it as are non-Germans of the new Europe. Hitler and our internationalists use the same technique. Their super-states are being created in time of war. The people are to be bound to them without being consulted. Afterward they will be told that they are in the new order for good and that they can't back out.

The Frenchmen who have retreated to the wooded mountains, there to fight with rifles and grenades against having the "United States of Europe" imposed upon them, know very well that their allegiance is pledged to their own country, not to any super-government. They can very readily see that, as citizens of the new Europe, they are being required to fight Nazi Germany's battles for it. Hitler's face can be seen peeking out from behind the cardboard cutout of a federated continent.

Americans who are asked to surrender their sovereignty to the so-called united nations will be advised to remain as skeptical as the French. The question they will ask themselves first is: In whose interests, if not our own, are we being asked to take this step? And again: Whose battles will we fight when the decision to declare war is taken from our representatives and yielded to outsiders?

COMMUNIST SAILORS.

The National Maritime union has declared a boycott on shipments to Spain. Its members are forbidden to work any ship making such deliveries and the union has adopted a resolution attacking the American state department for what it calls appeasement of Dictator Franco.

The NMU is technically an American labor union, but that is only its secondary characteristic. Primarily, as the boycott demonstrates, it is an agency of Russian foreign policy. In the present instance it has not only seen fit to criticize the conduct of our affairs in Spain, a right which can be conceded to Americans but not to Communists, but has undertaken to sabotage those relations.

Our Spanish policy is, perhaps, of dubious wisdom. The only valid excuse for it is the claim that by allowing Franco to import petroleum products, food, cotton, and other commodities we keep him from jumping on the back of our army in North Africa. This is the official version. It is not impossible that some of these materials may find their way across the Pyrenees and into German hands. This is a risk that our state department is prepared to run, but which the draft dodging Joe Curran and other officers of the NMU will not accept. To them the protection of our own soldiers in Africa is not worth the risk that Hitler may get a few hundred tons of war materials for use against the Communist homeland.

No amount of individual heroism in the American merchant marine can obscure the danger that this nation faces if the control of a majority of our ships is allowed to remain in the hands of an organization owing allegiance to another nation. Suppose that at some future date Russia, which consistently has refused to do anything about a second front in Siberia, should come to a full understanding with Japan. In such circumstances the NMU could be expected to furnish some thousands of men willing to impede and delay shipments to our troops in the Pacific, if to do so suited the purposes of the Kremlin's foreign policy.

There is only one safe remedy for this evil, and that is to place the merchant marine crews under naval discipline and naval orders.

THE PONTIAC ROYALIST.

William Vicars, a Democratic leader in the Illinois house, anticipates the consulship for life. Arguing unsuccessfully against the resolution for a constitutional amendment limiting Presidents to two terms, Vicars said: "Under the guise of the two term question, this is striking at our President in war time, and it's pretty close to sedition."

Livingston county is hardly a hotbed of monarchist sentiment, but then Vicars, while he comes from Pontiac, is hardly representative of Livingston county. What he said was alien to the Illinois cornlands, but inescapable in the fourth term movement. The fourth termers are driven to present Mr. Roosevelt to the country, not as the servant of the people, subject to their correction and removal for any errors he may make, but as their ruler. The ruler is fraudulently identified with the nation. Criticism of the one is presented as disloyalty to the other.

This is not an accidental or incidental feature of the fourth term movement. It is fundamental in it. Unless the psychosis can be imposed upon the country that Mr. Roosevelt is the indispensable man and that any one who disputes his will or blocks his grasp for power betrays the country, the fourth term is lost. Once the dispensability is acknowledged the dispensing will follow shortly. Those who would destroy the Republic must of necessity adopt the habits of monarchism to accomplish the destruction.

In their frantic opposition to the spreading demand for the two term amendment the faithful followers have raised the cry that the amendment is an attack on Mr. Roosevelt. That is not true. The amendment is a defense of the Republic. Mr. Roosevelt is not its objective. His case is merely the demonstration that the amendment is a necessity.

By his failure to curb his own appetite for office, as those of his predecessors who faced similar temptation either curbed theirs or had them curbed, Mr. Roosevelt showed how the Republic will be destroyed, if it ever is destroyed. Long tenure in office permits the creation of a personal party that may retain power even when it ceases to speak for a majority of the citizens. The elections no longer remain free when a President has at his disposal the public purse and the appointive power to obligate millions of voters to himself.

Previous unwritten restraints having been destroyed, a new written one becomes necessary. Those who are willing to exalt the ruler at the expense of the Republic will do well to avoid mention of sedition.

A DIPLOMATIC FAILURE.

An Associated Press dispatch from London speaks of Indo-China and Martinique as the only segments of the French empire whose governments are now not actively enlisted against the axis. So far as Indo-China is concerned, the explanation is simple. The Japanese hold the country and the French officials are helpless. The situation in Martinique is very different. Martinique is not under Hitler's thumb but under Hull's.

Perhaps there will be an improvement now that Generals Giraud and De Gaulle are showing signs of coming to an understanding, but whatever we may now gain in Martinique should have been attained many months ago. All the cards are and for long have been in our hands. The islanders needed food from this country and, of course, any time we wished to do so we could have brought military force to bear. The situation was ready made to achieve precisely what we wanted, by what is called friendly diplomatic exchanges. A skilful diplomacy would have suggested that if we found it necessary to send an expedition we might be most reluctant to return her West Indian islands to France after the war. Though we had all these points to present, the state department appears to have been unable to persuade the administration in Martinique to join us.

The bases there would be of value to us in patroling the Caribbean and South Atlantic. At the same time, the danger that German submarines would use the bases against us would be definitely removed. More especially, we should have aimed to gain for our side the French naval units anchored in Martinique, particularly the aircraft carrier.

A few weeks ago it was reported that we had cut off food exports to Martinique. We are thus applying force. That fact seems to be a sufficient answer to those who would defend the state department's management of the Martinique affair on moral grounds. The department has applied naked force without gaining its end when it might have accomplished far more by effective persuasion.

Editorial of the Day

A BILL OF TOMMYROT.

[Wall Street Journal.]

This newspaper already has commented at some length on the national resources planning board proposals to revamp the economic and social structure of America. But we are loath to leave that strange document—which the board insists is a report or reports—without calling attention to the fact that the board also has done a little revamping of the political structure. It has in fact rewritten the bill of rights, probably in one of its moments of comparative leisure.

We call attention to No. 6 in the nine divisions of the board's bill of rights: "The right to come and go, to speak or be silent, free from the spyings of secret political police."

Possibly this is expected to substitute for the first amendment to the American Constitution which guarantees the right of free speech. The board wishes to improve on that. You can speak, if you want to, or you can keep silent. We ourselves have not heard of any attempt to make people talk. Was the board trying to be silent? Did somebody make them talk? Did they resent it? If so, they overcame their resentment in a truly noble way.

And then that "spying by secret political police." What secret political police in America? At least people who are trying to remake America ought to stay around long enough to learn what Americans do and do not do. Or perhaps that little phrase was tossed in so that countries who do have secret police would not feel "double-crossed" by any Americans calling attention to the fact that they have not felt the need of them.

The board also insists on the "right to rest, recreation, and adventure." Whether those rights must be or can be exercised simultaneously the board does not say. Any one trying to do so would appear to be going in two directions at once—or perhaps that does not bother the board.

It is well that congress has denied funds to the NRPB. It might be rewriting the Ten Commandments next. Of course, it has already repealed the law of supply and demand.

Isn't Mr. Wallace a little forward in his talk about a third World war before we have moved well into the middle of the second one?—Kansas City Star.

PORTRAIT OF A HOUSE.

Its title in the catalog is merely an address, "675 Rush Street," but the people who pause before it, usually longer than before other paintings in the Art institute's current exhibition of Chicago work, seldom fail to complete the identification. They murmur, "Why, it's the old McCormick house, isn't it?" Sure enough, it's the brownstone mansion that the reaping machine built, and behind it is the story of modern agriculture.

* * *

An easily identifiable and historic house, standing four square and true to architecture as if posing for its portrait, is a fairly rare subject in modern art galleries. Juries are likely to toss out such offerings as too closely allied to architects' drafting rooms and the picture postcard business. But "675 Rush Street" got the nod of approval because the elusive mood of a late winter afternoon in Chicago has been captured in color and light effect. It's quite a picture.

* * *

As a period piece the McCormick house, always rated a close second in Chicago tradition to the Palmer "castle," may be labeled Victorian, but its style is French and represents the fashions of Napoleon III.'s imperialism. See "Architecture in Old Chicago," by Thomas E. Tallmadge:

"The Louvre is announced by the high mansard roof with its elaborate cresting, its mansard cupola, its bull's-eye windows, and its rusticated stonework . . . while the banded columns, the garlands, the richness of ornament certainly stem from Charles Garnier's Nouvelle Opèra, the architectural wonder of the world in the reign of Napoleon III.".

* * *

Cyrus Hall McCormick built this house in 1879, when he was 70 years old, and enjoyed it for five years. Its architect was Adolph Cudell, designer of vanished Aldine square and the baroque mansion at 503 Wrightwood avenue, now occupied by the Swedish Engineers' society.

TWO WORLDS.

Two worlds have I lived in
During my years;
Two worlds as different
As mirth from tears.

One was a sane world,
Fairly secure,
Where men felt at home
And a few things were sure.

Then I was whisked
(Or so it seemed)
Into a world
Some Dali dreamed;

Where the good old rules
Don't count at all;
Where fools grow great
And runts wax tall;

Where the way in vogue,
To see and be wise,
Is to stand on your head
And close your eyes.

Historians' Happy Hunting Ground.

Linemaster: Your quick sketch of the loop in the late '90s [March 10], entirely derived from the advertising matter on an old playbill, was a nice demonstration of historical method applied to material not popularly considered to have research value. Yet it is from old playbills and concert programs that the musical and dramatic history of Chicago eventually will be written.

Fortunately, Chicago has had a number of playbill and program collectors. Over a period of years several of their collections have been given to the Newberry library. Mrs. A. R. Jones of Highland Park recently added to these materials by giving Newberry a large collection of Chicago playbills and theater and concert programs for the 1880s and '90s.

Probably the first of such collections to come to Newberry was a group of scrapbooks compiled by W. S. B. Mathews, once music critic for THE TRIBUNE, who did much to advance musical standards in the middle west from 1867 to 1910. A more important gift was a portion of the music library of Philo Adams Otis, the Chicago real estate man and music lover, who died in 1930. Among other items are three volumes of the programs of musical events between 1872 and 1900, but the two most important groups are an almost complete set of the programs of the Apollo club and several small ledgers containing, in Otis' writing, the choir programs of the First Presbyterian church, at one time Chicago's chief center of musical culture.

Finally, there is the Frederick Grant Gleason collection, given to Newberry by Mrs. Gleason in 1937. Gleason wrote, and taught, and composed in Chicago from 1874 to his death in 1903, and during all those years whatsoever of a musical nature fell into his hands was immediately pasted into his notebooks, until there came to be no less than 37 volumes of carefully dated clippings, programs, and photographs. THE OMNISCIENT OKAPI.

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

The okapi looks much the same
As the giraffe, except that fame
Has not marked him to advertise
Because his neck's a common size.
He has no claws or horns for strife
To help survive primeval life,
But gets along surprising well
With more aggressive personnel,
For Mother Nature, always kind,
Gave him her rarest gifts combined—
Enormous ears, for self defense,
And, in between them, common sense!

DIETS THAT ARE "GOOD" FOR US.

GENERALLY speaking we are better off nutritionally than we were a generation ago. There are far fewer instances of physical weakness than in our entire history.

But more attention is being paid to the problem because we are at war. Millions of words are being poured forth these days from radio stations, government agencies, welfare societies, and the like on what and how to eat.

Our discussion at the moment has to do with the unpleasant "news" that one-third of our population is undernourished. The assumption is that families do not know how to use raw foodstuffs which lie immediately at hand.

In part only is this true. We have enough knowledge of the daily requirements, but we fail to heed. The example of the farmer's son—obviously the victim of rickets—leading a prize pig around at the county fair, is typical. We will not be able to change the habits of our friends and neighbors over night. Routine menus have probably been well established and firm resistance will be encountered if attempts to alter them are made "by order."

Fortunately modifications need be but slight. A surplus of calories will not be required. On the other hand, when articles containing vitamins are omitted we may look to carelessness. No one can quite understand why a rural family provided with fruits and vegetables in profusion can fail to obtain these essentials.

Studies of various communities have shown that certain neighborhoods will lack C while others will be deficient in B1 [thiamin]. With a shortage of these vitamins there will be more cases of fatigue, substandard physical development, backaches, sore eyes, weak muscles, and colds.

But much can be done and with comparatively little effort. In an English town 834 men had been rejected for service. Instead of being sent home they were put in a camp, and special diets and exercises were prescribed. In an extraordinarily short period 87 per cent were accepted as meeting army standards. As civilians, they had received compensation sufficient to purchase all of the basic edibles, but they didn't do it. They bought what they wanted; what they liked.

It has been well said that a large part of the restoration of health of our recruits has been ascribed to regularity of meals when in camp. This is not true on the firing line, but the saving of man power demands that the tour of duty in exposed areas should be relatively short.

Not long ago a letter came from a housewife whose husband is pursuing a strenuous program as a war worker. She wrote that he refused to eat salads because he said "he was no grass feeder." She was advised to cook the vegetables lightly in a covered dish. In addition, vegetable soups were supplied. A marked improvement in general well being ensued.

The answer to many of these problems lies in simple instructions, with the inculcation of the will to follow them.

USELESS APPENDAGE.

Mrs. E. T. writes: If a child is born without a uvula, are any harmful results to be expected?

REPLY.

No. The soft palate is frequently referred to as a useless organ. It is about as necessary as the appendix. When overly long, amputation may be required. It is supposed to exert some influence upon speech. This function is probably exaggerated.

FEARS DARK.

Mrs. O. writes: My 20 year old daughter, who is healthy and well balanced mentally, is afraid of the dark. What can be done about this?

REPLY.

Good lighting is relatively inexpensive. Don't punish her with blackouts in corridors, rooms, etc. Unless she is terrorized, the notion will disappear in time.

TOOTH STRUCTURE.

T. W. writes: What is the dentine of the teeth?

REPLY.

The bony portion. The enamel is the hard covering.

CAMPAIGN.

Chicago, March 15.—I have a suggestion for a campaign that I think is worthy of support and important enough to warrant attention. It is

"Lend-lease for MacArthur."

D. J. H.

COSTS AND RENTS.

Chicago, March 15.—Your article on "Relief of Landlords" is timely and interesting. Earl Dean Howard, the rent administrator, says that we landlords need spend no more for decorating this year than last year. If we spent $40 for decorating an apartment last year we need only spend $40 this year, tho we get only $33 worth of decorating as based on the costs of a year ago.

This is fine, but are we permitted to cut off the heat after we have spent as much for fuel as we did a year ago? Are we permitted to shut off the water after we have spent as much for water as we did a year ago? Are we permitted to reduce the general service, such as refrigeration and maintenance, after we have spent as much as we did a year ago?

The answer is "decidedly no." We must dig down in our pockets for the money with which to pay the extra costs of these items.

I have not increased rents for five years, but when one year ago I attempted a raise of $2.50 an apartment the rent administrator's office said, "Bring the rents to the March 1 level." I placed all the facts of increased costs before the OPA, but was politely informed that I could not raise rents. LANDLORD.

"THERE'S A WAR ON."

Chicago, March 15.—Loretta Anderson's letter of March 3 has struck a responsive chord. She complained of being reminded everywhere by every one that there was a war going on, as if she didn't know it with a husband and three brothers in the army. Her experiences have brought to mind my husband's observation in a loop restaurant recently.

A waiter served a lady a hollow piece of cherry pie, one in which the cherries had drained away until the top crust lay almost flat on the bottom crust. When a protest was made, the waiter said: "Well, there's a war on, you know!"

We are still trying to decide how the war was responsible for that piece of cherryless cherry pie. M. B.

THERE'LL BE PIE IN THE SKY.

Chicago, March 16.—I was so exalted at the vision of plenty "from the cradle to the grave," so bemused by the whanging of harps in the heaven to be, that I quite forgot we are faced by the most serious shortage of food in the history of our country—at least, by the most serious food shortage since the Massachusetts Bay colony tried communism, meaning, every one lives on the few suckers who work.

Before we "plan" ourselves any more paradises, let's win this war, get our boys home, and try to do it without starving to death ourselves. H. E. S.

WHERE IS THE JUSTICE?

Chicago, March 16.—I own a two flat property of four rooms each. I have one tenant who has been renting from me for five years. When he first moved in he made $22 a week and paid me $20 a month. He still pays $20 a month, but now he makes $65 a week. Now he wants an outlet for the Frigidaire. They now cost $8.50. At the time I rented to him they cost $2.50. I can't raise him, but he makes three times as much and material and equipment also cost three times as much. Where is the justice? GEORGE JEROME UCENT.

WHY WE LACK MEAT.

Sharon, Wis., March 16.—Here is a problem for the long haired boys: Last summer I was doing some building for a farmer. He bought a farm without any buildings. He built a silo, a corn crib, and intended to build a cattle shed. It was his plan to feed 100 or more steers on the place during the winter. We had the concrete floor and foundation all in, but when we got that far we had reached the $1,000 limit on construction.

This farmer had buildings in his home place about three miles away and, therefore, the rationing board would not allow him the lumber for the cattle shed. He was supposed to drive the steers back and forth every day. He did not feed out the silo or corn in the crib. Who gets the meat?

In the nearest town two brothers have run a butcher shop and slaughter house for years. They have always been careful of the class of stock butchered—and they have slaughtered for farmers.

They had no quota assigned to them before some OPA men arrived about March 10. The butchers gave the OPA snoopers a list of their slaughtering and were then informed of their quota. Their beef kill was completed March 15 and they cannot kill another until April 1. They cannot kill another pig until after Oct. 1. They cannot kill anything for farmers.

The butchers quit business and the next nearest meat market is seven and one-half miles away—and not so clean. Did you ask me if this is an opportunity for a black market area? R. E. PORTER.

RECORD OF THE PLANNERS.

Wilmette, Ill., March 11.—If there is anything in the President's idea of planning our future lives and giving us eternal rationing, I suggest we get a new set of "planners." The present set "planned" us into 10 years of hard times. A huge debt and taxes. The surprise at Pearl Harbor. The loss of the Philippines. The heatless winter. The shortage of everything [except their hot air] when we used to have a surplus of everything. Stupidity galore! Eat cheese one month and ration it the next. Bread unsliced yesterday and sliced today.

These are only a few of thousands of stupid interferences with our life that space forbids mentioning. I say, let's change planners. HARRY MILLER.

TO REDEEM FAIR HARVARD'S NAME.

St. Joseph, Mich., March 15.—Amen to the letter the other day suggesting Prof. Zechariah Chaffee of Harvard for the United States Supreme court. Not only has he a thoro knowledge of law mentioned in that letter, but he has the broad minded viewpoint of hearing, considering, and weighing all sides of an argument before making a decision.

It would also be mighty good to let the public know they are not all crackpots down at Harvard. JOSIAH BABCOCK.

SEWER BACKFIRE.

Chicago, March 15.—We had rain today, so tonight we had to shovel the mud out of the basement as usual. Well, I sure know how to vote on April 6, and I don't think I am the only one. NORTHWEST SIDER.

FIVE GRAND WORTH OF MORALE BUILDING.

Chicago, March 16.—It is not even entertaining to read that deferment is being sought for some of the high salaried radio and movie stars from the armed services because of their value as morale builders. To me it would seem that any soldier's morale, which has been boosted by these crusaders, would now be completely destroyed after reading of the efforts to have them retained as civilian entertainers at $5,000 to $10,000 a week. Putting morale building on such a high priced scale is certainly not compatible with the American way of life.

The alleged humor of these so-called entertainers would be just as effective if they appeared in army khaki or navy blue. Certainly their morale building potential would be much greater.

S. B. N.

PERHAPS IT'S THE CAMPAIGN.

Chicago, March 16.—In following the book reviews and noting the best sellers I find that "Lords of the Levee" is very popular. It is a book I am most anxious to read.

Over a month ago I reserved this book at a branch of the Chicago public library. It's been a best seller all along, yet this library has not received the book. As a citizen of Chicago I'd like to know who's responsible for this situation? Why can't Chicagoans get the best sellers from their public library while these books are still current reading?

RICHARD E. MCGOLDRICK.

PIPE CLEANERS.

Chicago, March 11.—Many items were considered correctly as nonessential by the WPB, but about 20 million pipe smokers in the United States will disagree that the small piece of wire involved justifies an order discontinuing the manufacture of pipe cleaners. I don't know what Donald Nelson proposes that pipe smokers use as a substitute, but one thing I do know: This is going to be a hard blow to take, and it looks like a prohibition uncalled for. P. J. MARQUA.

TO SAVE TIME.

Peoria, Ill., March 8.—Why does Roosevelt not save time and run for President for life? He would not have to get all steamed up every four years and waste all that time arranging a fake draft movement. MRS. FRANK HUGHES.

DEPOSIT ON A FLAT.

Chicago, March 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there any way for me to get back a down payment made on an apartment which I now realize is entirely unsuitable for our family requirements? The payment was not a small one but a full month's rent. N. F.

As long as the landlord is ready to carry out his agreement and you are not willing to carry out yours, you are in a poor position to assert legal remedies against him. The purpose of the deposit was to protect him against your change of mind.

SYNOPSIS: Mary Jo Laurence has been happy with her husband, Tony, during their 15 years of marriage, in spite of Tony's deformed foot and his many failures in his work as a builder. A false boom brought them to Key West two years ago and caused them to buy a tract of land they have been unable to sell. Now they have a prospective client, Col. Bassett, a retired army officer. He and his wife are coming to dinner at the Laurences' tonight. While Mary Jo is housecleaning, she hears a shot. From her window she sees a man lying back of Cinqua's tavern and sees another man crouching in the bushes nearby. When she goes out to shop she passes the tavern and Sibyl Cartwright, an old actress, comes out and tells her that Ed Tutwiller, brother of Pop Tutwiller, fisherman and friend of the Laurences, has just committed suicide back of Cinqua's. Mary Jo decides not to mention the man she saw in the bushes, as she fears any publicity of her testimony might hurt Tony in his business. At Chan's, her Chinese grocer, she sees a luscious, worthless looking woman selling stolen milk bottles to buy gin. En route home Mary Jo picks up a letter from her brother, Pete, saying he is coming to Key West to hunt a job. But the dinner for the Bassetts is such a success that everything seems bright again. Col. Bassett wants to buy some of their land and have Tony build him a house. He is to give Tony a check the next day. But shortly after the Bassetts leave, Col. Bassett returns and says he has been called back into service and cannot go thru with their deal. When the Laurences return from Ed's funeral the next day, Mary Jo suggests that Tony try to work with Don Waterman, a none too scrupulous a rival, who needs land to build cheap houses. Tony decides to talk to Waterman that very night, even tho it means he must make a round of saloons. Tony returns late with Waterman and his girl friend, Mrs. Maisie Bergen. All three are tipsy. Mary Jo recognizes Maisie to be the woman she saw at Chan's and notices that Tony is smitten with her. Waterman agrees to a partnership with Tony and Tony drives him and Maisie to a roadhouse. Returning, he finds Button, Maisie's 6 year old son, outside of a saloon. He brings the child home with him. The next day Maisie comes by and asks Mary to keep Button for awhile, as she and her husband, Culver Bergen, have no money to feed the child. Mary Jo agrees on condition that Bergen give his consent. In the meantime, Mary Jo has decided to help out the family expenses by making pies. She hopes to get Chan and Pop Tutwiller to go into partnership with her, Pop to furnish the pineapples, Chan to furnish other ingredients as well as the outlet. Chan agrees. Sibyl Cartwright donates $10 to the cause. Pop is also delighted to help out, but he is still worried about Ed's death. He says Ed committed suicide because he had cashed a large check for a man and the check was worthless. So far Pop has been unable to find the rubber check, but he is determined to find the man who gave it to Ed and says he is going to kill him. When Culver Bergen arrives to give his consent for Mary Jo to keep Button, Mary Jo recognizes him as the man she saw in the bushes back of Cinqua's.

INSTALMENT XVII.

ANOTHER BOARDER.

Down the street the familiar figure of Jingo, the numbers broker, came into sight, the outrageous plaid of his sports coat like an animated flowerbed. It was a pattern to make an Arizona cowboy sick with envy. Mary Jo had not seen Jingo for some time and she was surprised when he turned in at her gate.

"Evenin', Miss Laurence!" he grinned. "Fortunas, the Boss of Good Luck be with you, madame!"

"Hello there, Jingo," said Mary Jo, glad of the diversion. "I thought you'd got lost on the range."

"No sir, madame! Ah has again caught the range!" Jingo declared grandly. "The las' number you indicated was pawt of a monthly Cuban payoff and ah am distinguished to announce that it did!"

"You don't say!" Mary Jo exclaimed. "How much?"

"Number nineteen-fawty-two," he said, "dispenses exactly thirty dollah."

"Ninteen-forty-two!" said Mary Jo. "Funny how I felt that would be lucky for me, wasn't it?"

When he had paid off and left her, carrying away her usual 50 cent bet, Mary Jo took the money upstairs and hid it. This time she'd keep it cached and say nothing about winning. There was a heap of comfort in hibernatin' money, even when it wasn't much. When she got the time for it, she would use part of this windfall to get that much needed permanent wave.

That night after supper she sat sewing on the child's clothes. It was easy to see where he had got his nickname for there was scarcely a button left on any of his garments. Across the table Tony was absorbed in redrawing a set of plans, and the room had resumed some of its old familiar air of peace and contentment. Mary Jo snuggled down in this atmosphere deriving a comfort from it which was almost as tangible as that of a deep, warm bath.

"He leadeth me beside the still waters

He comforteth my soul. . . ."

She sang it softly, under her breath, her eyes on Tony; and it was really Tony of whom she sang, altho as always with her, any hymn was a prayer. Then some one crossed the porch, and without a ring or a knock the door was thrown open and Culver Bergen walked in.

"Hello, Bergen, anything wrong?" Tony asked looking up. There was something wrong, anybody could see that.

"Yes, Maisie. Mind if I sit down?" He sank into a chair without waiting for an answer. Tony sprang to his feet, his face suddenly blanched.

"Maisie?" he exclaimed. "What's happened, man, what's happened?"

"O, just the usual thing, but once too often!" Bergen muttered. His eyes looked infinitely tired, and his whole pompous little figure had collapsed like a deflated balloon. There was nothing smooth or suave about him now.

"You mean she started off again this afternoon after I left?" Tony wanted to know. But even as he asked the question he looked relieved.

"You saw what she had," Culver said dully. "Three straight brandies. Then we ran off into some other people we knew and she would drink with them. She's been shouting at me, calling me names. How can I help it if I can't pay the rent? She knows I'm broke but you'd think I'd done it on purpose. I haven't had any sleep and I haven't had a minute's peace."

"I'm sorry, old man—but it's not all her fault, you know. You've given her rather a tough time of it, and I guess she tries to forget."

"Forget!" Bergen's eyes blazed. "I wish to God she did. She's got those people out there at the house, now. They brought a bottle along and she began yelling at me right in front of them. I couldn't stand it any more and I got out, I haven't a cent and I had no place to go, so I came here. I thought maybe you wouldn't mind."

"Of course we don't mind, do we, Mary Jo?" Tony patted Bergen's dropping shoulder with a kindly gesture.

"I tell you what you do," he went on. "You stay here overnight. He can sleep with Button, eh, Mary Jo?" She didn't answer and Bergen seemed conscious of her hesitation.

"I wouldn't want to inconvenience you," said Bergen, but he made no move to go.

"Nonsense, it isn't any inconvenience. You've got to get some sleep. Remember we have an important conference tomorrow! Make him stay, Mary Jo."

It was impossible to say "no," but she could not help feeling a surge of resentment at having this man whom she disliked and distrusted forced upon her as a guest. Yet she could not help feeling sorry for him. The poor maverick, what a life he must lead with that loco wife of his!

"I'll put clean towels in your room," she said to Bergen. "But don't dare wake that child up when you go to bed!"

But it's sure going to be only for one night, she thought determinedly as she went up the stairs. One night and that was all, or that woman of his might come looking for him.

But Culver Bergen did not move out the next day nor the next. He and Tony were uptown most of the time and when they came back to the house, discussed business details which were unintelligible to Mary Jo. There was no more of Tony's painstaking sharing of his interests with her. Even when they were alone in their room at night Tony appeared to be talked out and fell asleep as soon as he was in bed, dreaming restlessly and unaware of her timid hand on his shoulder, he who had once been sensitive to her lightest touch. And Mary Jo would lie there beside him in the luminous tropical darkness wondering why this had to be and feeling a little lonely and lost until she, too, fell into a troubled sleep.

"Isn't Bergen going to be able to get him some pay dirt pretty soon?" she finally asked Tony. "He ought to go on back to his own place."

"He's in a little trouble," said Tony, "and it won't hurt us to help him out."

"What trouble is he in?" she asked quickly.

"O, just money—or the lack of it," said Tony. "He's going to see a man today who may loan him a little. If the man doesn't—" Tony's voice trailed off.

"If he doesn't, then what?"

"Well," Tony began and then changed his mind about telling her what was on it. "Listen! You haven't got any extra cash, have you?"

She thought of the winnings she had hidden away, but some instinct told her not to mention them. There certainly would be no sense in letting them go for the wetting of Culver Bergen's throat, or for some mythical scheme he might have for doubling it. If Tony had wanted it for himself, he would have said so. She shook her head.

"Is it for anything really important?"

"Not to you. Perhaps everything will be all right by tonight and nothing will happen."

He hurried out of the house, taking Bergen with him. As had become usual now, they took the car. From Bergen's assumption that they would use it, a person would think he owned it. Bergen was like that around the house, too. He helped himself to cigarets, was always the first to grab the morning paper and even ate things out of the ice box without bothering to ask leave. No wonder, Mary Jo decided, he wasn't much bait for Maisie, who contrary to her fears, had not attempted to set foot in the place.

Mary Jo had a fresh batch of pies ready and she packed them with her usual care in the two long, flat Cuban baskets she had bought for that purpose. As the last sea-grape leaf went into place she heard a car honking in front of the house and when she went out, there was Alice Smithers in her old rattletrap.

"I saw Tony drive off and I thought maybe you'd like a lift uptown," said Alice. "I declare I hate to see you lugging those big baskets!"

"The boys had to go out to the property," Mary Jo told her hastily. "Thanks, Alice! I'm ready right now."

She put the pies in the car, and tagged by Button, climbed in the front set with Alice. It was already pretty well occupied by Frannie, a matronly, wire-haired fox terrier belonging to Alice. Button pushed her aside as he climbed in.

"Be careful," said Alice, with a knowing glance at Mary Jo. "Frannie isn't very well." Button felt the dog's bulging sides, a wise look on his face.

"Her nose is cold," he said touching it, "so she's doin' all right. But she seems like she's going to have some puppies."

Old Alice blushed to the roots of her snowy hair.

"Well, these modern children!" she gasped. "Yes, you're right, Button!"

"Can I come see them soon's they're hatched?"

"Of course," said Mary Jo. "Here! Come sit on my lap. You'll take up less room."

The white haired old lady put the car into gear with a firmness which finally overcame its noisy protests and rattled off toward town.

YOU HAVE A DATE WITH THE POLICE, SO DO SHOW UP

Mr. and Mrs. Chicago are cordially invited to attend an open house from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. today in all the district police stations.

This invitation, first of its kind in the city's history, was issued yesterday by Capt. John C. Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, who said the idea is to acquaint the public with the department's work. Visitors will be taken on a tour of each station under the guidance of the district captain himself.

"The police station belongs to the people," Capt. Prendergast said. "If more citizens see the way the stations are run, they won't be so lax about calling police in emergencies."

OIL MEN REPORT OPA TO CONTINUE COUPON SYSTEM

Chicagoan Excluded from Capital Meeting.

The central west must prepare for another winter of fuel oil rationing under the coupon system. This was the edict brought back from Washington yesterday by oil dealers who attended a two day meeting with the fuel rationing division of the office of price administration.

Because of OPA promises that the coupon system would be modified and streamlined and would incorporate the industry's corrective suggestions, many members of the Fuel Oil Advisory panel voted to continue the system which they have opposed consistently as unworkable since its flaws became apparent last October.

The pledge was made by Joel Dean, director of the OPA rationing division, at sessions from which the rationers excluded Frank E. Spencer of Chicago, president of the Burning Oil Distributors' association, representing more than 40 dealers in this area. Spencer has been a leader in outspoken criticism of the rationing snarl and in efforts to correct it.

Demand Voice in Sessions.

The dealers represented by his association directed him to attend the Washington conference, yet he not only was denied a voice in the sessions but was barred from the meeting room.

This prevented presentation of a plan designed to simplify rationing and eliminate coupons and other red tape. It was developed after a week's intensive study by Spencer and a committee of tank wagon fuel oil distributors of the Chicago area. It also had been submitted to fuel oil dealers' associations thruout the country.

Also barred from the sessions was E. E. Hadlick of Minneapolis, secretary of the North-West Petroleum association, who was sent to the conference by the dealers of his area.

Spencer and Hadlick made telephonic appointments to meet Dean last Monday morning at 11:30, but when they presented themselves the OPA director declined to see them, sending them instead to John Neukom, who is leaving the OPA April 1. Neukom stated Spencer had not been invited specifically and that if he were to be admitted many other persons would demand to attend. This went for Hadlick also.

Others Also Are Barred.

Later, other midwest dealers who had expected to sit in the conference were told it had been necessary to exclude Spencer and Hadlick and that, in fairness to them, the others also would have to be barred.

Midwestern representatives who succeeded in entering the meeting were surprised at not seeing Spencer. They were amazed when they learned he had been barred.

"We were very much surprised that Mr. Spencer was not admitted," said E. W. Miles of Chicago, manager of fuel oil and asphalt sales for the Standard Oil company of Indiana. Commenting upon Dean's pledge to modify and streamline the rationing system, Miles added:

"We are hopeful, even optimistic. We may be too optimistic. The issue is in their lap now, and it is up to them to come across. The promises made by Dean were taken down and officially recorded. If they are not fulfilled, we have been sold down the river and have wasted two days of talking."

Strive for Modification.

It soon became obvious at the meeting that the OPA would not abandon the coupon system. Bitter opponents of the coupon method therefore went along with the OPA in the hope of winning modification. They have been led to believe that the rationers may make the following concessions:

Start the 1943-'44 rationing on June 1 or July 1 so that a summer fillup will be possible for 275 and 550 gallon tanks, if not for larger ones. Reduce the number of rationing periods for five to three or less in the midwest, or provide better overlaps to avoid the troubles of the current winter.

Provide larger denomination coupons for domestic consumers and some sort of a certificate system for commercial consumers. Provide that no coupons shall become invalid, even if not used in the period designated, thus eliminating large numbers of small deliveries in the closing days of each period.

It was indicated, however, that the OPA might cling to its policy of requiring that the consumer start the 1943-'44 winter season with the same allotment he received at the beginning of last fall—not the total that was delivered to him eventually. Dealers believe this would result in much public resentment, the people assuming this season's blunders are to be repeated.

Advocate Some Exceptions.

The dealers also feel the OPA should broaden allowances to large homes occupied by only a few people and to poor families who live in poorly constructed houses that require excessive amounts of oil and can do nothing about it. Both classes should have a basic allotment cut of not more than 33 per cent, they contend.

The dealers opposed the form, method, and extent of the mandatory program of conversion from oil to coal burning furnaces. They emphasized that lasting injury is being done the industry; that customers being taken away "just for today" may never return.

It was understood that a meeting will be held in Washington next week at which the OPA will invite practical oil operators and accountants to help work out details of the modified plan. The OPA emphasized, however, that no decisions as to the scope of the new plan have been reached. No specific promises were made.

The original fuel rationing order [No. 11] filled a 76 page booklet. This has been amended 48 times since its issuance, last Oct. 22.

One Amendment Cited.

Spencer exhibited one of the shorter amendments [No. 24] as proof that drastic simplification of the present plan is necessary to avoid a repetition of this year's chaos and confusion. The amendment reads:

"In No. 1394.5653, subparagraph [3] of paragraph [f] is amended by deleting the period after the word 'transferred' and by adding after the word 'transferred' the phrase 'unless he receives a notice pursuant to subparagraph [8] of this paragraph,' and a period is inserted after the word 'paragraph,' subparagraph [4] is amended, and new subparagraphs [5], [6], [7], [8], [9], and [10] are added to paragraph [f]; in No. 1394.5707 [b], subparagraphs [3] and [4] are amended and new subparagraphs [5], [6], [7], [8], [9], [10], [11], and [12] are added thereto; and a new paragraph [x] has been added to 1394.5902; as set forth below."

WAR BOND SALES FOR NEW CHICAGO NEAR 30 MILLIONS

The sales of war bonds to raise 40 million dollars to replace the cruiser Chicago, sunk on Jan. 30 in the Solomons, yesterday reached $29,733,851.75 when $1,583,568.75 of Series E bonds were sold on the 30th day of the campaign, Oscar G. Mayer, executive chairman of the cruiser committee, announced. The Chicago Zionist organization and Hadassah, which have raised $700,000 toward their million dollar war bond purchases for the cruiser fund, will hold a rally Sunday evening in the Auditorium theater. Admittance price is purchase of a $100 bond thru the organization.

COUNCIL URGES 500,000 HOMES, 35,000 A YEAR

Slum Clearance Also Is Provided in Program.

The city council adopted yesterday a statement of policy on housing calling for construction of 500,000 new homes in Chicago "within the next generation" and 35,000 to 40,000 homes a year during the next five years. It also proposes removal of 340,000 substandard homes, including 241,000 in slum sections.

The statement was submitted by Mayor Kelly, who explained it was the result of extensive conferences with city and Chicago Housing authority officials. It was left up to the new council, to take office following the April 6 election, to decide whether a special council committee should be set up to guide the program to completion.

Highlights of Program.

The four points outlined follow:

1. Clearance of slums that now house 241,000 families. This will remove, the statement asserts, "Chicago's areas of greatest crime and disease."

2. Rebuild the center of the city for families of both low and high incomes. This will "attract back to the heart of the city a whole new residential population," help stabilize the population, restore tax resources, and make use of existing utilities and public services.

3. Protect "middle aged areas." By demolishing 100,000 substandard dwellings in these areas, the useful life of the majority of buildings can be preserved.

4. Construction of 35,000 to 40,000 homes a year during the next five years "to take care of the natural demand for new homes" and house families displaced by the demolition of slum buildings.

"Brilliant" City Future Foreseen.

The statement asserts Chicago "is on the brink of a brilliant future"; that a building boom is sure to come after the war. It proposes that Chicago make sure it is "no wildcat building boom," which would mean to a city "loss in population and income."

"A job of this size," the statement continues, "cannot be undertaken without new legislation, federal, state, and local. Private enterprise must be helped to do a larger share of the job than is possible at this time."

The council, meeting for the last time, heard Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], administration leader, outline plans for organization of the new body. The morning of April 7, the day following the mayoral election and aldermanic runoff, the new and reelected aldermen will meet informally to pick a five man committee on committees. The new council is to conduct its first official meeting April 9 at 8 p. m., when the successful mayoral candidate is inaugurated.

Control for Undertakers.

Meanwhile, the council suspended the rules to approve a revised ordinance governing undertaking establishments. The principal change was to transfer supervision of their licenses from the board of health to a new "board of undertakers." Four board members are to be appointed by the mayor and the president of the board of health will be a member ex-officio. Mayor Kelly, who submitted the ordinance, said it "will keep fly-by-nights" on the sidelines.

The aldermen also adopted resolutions requesting passage by congress of anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills, as introduced by Ald Earl B. Dickerson [2d], and a resolution authorizing the treasury war savings staff to use La Salle street, between Washington and Randolph street, as a "Victory Square," and to place decorations on the west side of the city hall.

The council received reports that the war production board had authorized the city to purchase 25 new conveyor type garbage trucks.

HONOR HASTIE AS OUTSTANDING NEGRO OF YEAR

New York, March 18 (AP).—William H. Hastie, former dean of Howard university law school and a native of Knoxville, Tenn., has been named winner of the Spingarn medal for 1942, an annual award by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to the American Negro with an outstanding record of achievement for the year, it was announced today.

The award committee of the N. A. A. C. P., in citing Hastie, who resigned recently as civilian aid to the secretary of war, said:

"As civilian aid to the secretary of war he refused to temporize with racial bigotry, segregation, or discrimination. Men of lesser character and of greater selfishness would have closed their eyes to prejudice in order to maintain themselves in a remunerative position, but Judge Hastie refused to do this, resigning in protest against perpetuation of practices which more aptly would have characterized the racial ideology of a dictatorship than a democracy."

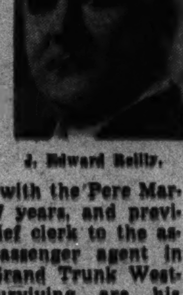
CADET FLYER KILLED AND INSTRUCTOR HURT IN DEERFIELD CRASH

Naval Air Cadet Joseph Edward Clark, 22 years old, son of Howard Clark of Catlin, Vermilion county, was killed, and his flight instructor, Lt. [j. g.] M. N. Piller, 1239 Madison Park, suffered minor injuries when their training plane crashed on a golf course two miles west of Deerfield yesterday. Both had been stationed at Glenview naval air station.

Clark held a bachelor of music degree from Illinois Wesleyan university and for four years was director of music at the First Presbyterian church, Pontiac, Ill. He enlisted in the navy as a seaman at St. Louis in May, 1942, and began his flight training last October.

Lt. Piller came to the Glenview naval air station from Jacksonville, Fla., last June.

J. EDWARD REILLY FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW



J. Edward Reilly.

Funeral services for J. Edward Reilly, retired general western passenger agent for the Pere Marquette railroad, will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery. Mr. Reilly, who was 67 years old, died yesterday in his home, 1414 Elmdale avenue. He was associated with the Pere Marquette road for 27 years, and previously had been chief clerk to the assistant general passenger agent in Chicago for the Grand Trunk Western railroad. Surviving are his widow, Jessie, and a sister, Mrs. Fred J. Stebbins, of Kenilworth.

DEATH OF YOUTH FROM GUN SHOT RULED ACCIDENT

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest into the death in St. Luke's hospital of James Turner, 14 years old, of 1325 Jackson boulevard. Turner was shot in the neck last Tuesday by an old revolver in the hands of a friend, Gordon De Hart, 14, of 400 South Throop street. Gordon told the jury James inserted a cartridge into the old .32 caliber revolver which the two were examining in James' room. The gun was discharged accidentally, he said.

A Jilted Girl Shelves Army and Navy; Freed

Miss Rosalie Hoffman, 19 years old, 1032 North Marshfield avenue, swallowed a few drops of iodine March 10 because a sailor named "Ziggy" had jilted her, but she's thru with that sort of conduct, she assured Judge J. M. Braude in Women's court yesterday. "I'm thru with sailors, soldiers, and marines," said Miss Hoffman. She was discharged.

DEATH OF SMALL AIR SCHOOL SEEN IN FEDERAL PLAN

Takes Planes and Men, Operator Charges.

The government's pilot training program is putting small training schools out of business and handing their planes and instructors over to large operators, some of them starting from scratch, Fred Schumacher, manager of the Harlem airport and one of Chicago's veteran flying school operators, charged yesterday.

The accusation came after the civil aeronautics administration began requisitioning private training planes for use by army aviation cadet schools at various colleges. Schumacher said these schools, like CAA pilot training schools in the past, are operated by private contractors. The difference, he said, is that they operate on a large scale.

Decides Not to Object.

Schumacher, who said he has trained more than 200 pilots under the CAA program and thousands of others in private courses who have since become fighting pilots, ferry pilots or instructors, first objected to the CAA's requisitioning of any of his 11 training planes.

"But I talked to several lawyers," he said, "and was told I would be foolish to resist since the best I could expect would be an eight month court fight.

"Anyway, I might as well get rid of the planes because the army is taking away my instructors. Eight reservists have been assigned to my school—I pay the salaries, of course—but the army has reassigned five and will take the other three as soon as present classes are completed."

Own 300 Planes.

Schumacher estimated that the 27 private flying schools in the Chicago area own about 300 training planes. W. E. Barton, CAA war training service superintendent, said Wednesday that no school would be deprived of enough planes to curtail its private business. Yet the CAA was reported yesterday to have requisitioned two of the three planes owned by William Jacobs at a Harvey airport. Of 10 planes owned by other operators at that airport the CAA was reported to have seized four.

Schumacher said the CAA told him it was requisitioning some planes by April 1 and would take more May 1. He said it hardly seemed fair to take planes and instructors from small schools already established and hand them over to large schools, many of which had neither planes nor instructors and some without even fields and buildings. Small schools, he said, are "just being washed out."

W. B. GETTY, ONCE AID TO PRESIDENT M'KINLEY, IS DEAD

Walter B. Getty, who was private secretary to President McKinley in his second Presidential campaign, died yesterday in his home at 4038 Woodland avenue, Western Springs. ARMY DOES PART IN CONSERVATION OF SCARCE FOODS

Mess Officials Taught to Avoid All Waste.

BY YVONNE CROWLEY.

Homemakers who are finding the preparation of well balanced meals difficult with food rationing and scarcity may find solace in the fact that the United States army is coöperating with them to help in national food conservation. And the army has not dropped its claim of being the best fed military force in the world.

Officers and instructors at the quartermaster replacement training center at Camp Lee, Virginia, are teaching future mess officers, sergeants, and cooks to make the most effective use of the food assigned to them, to substitute plentiful foods for scarce ones, and to avoid waste in the preparation of meals. Items such as meat, coffee, tea, cocoa, butter, sugar, and canned foods especially are conserved.

Meatless Meals.

In Camp Lee's mess halls soldier-trainees are served meatless meals one day a week. Soup is served at least once a day to make use of all meat bones, scraps of meat, and left over vegetables. Meat is cooked at moderate temperatures to reduce the amount of shrinkage and produce the greatest palatability.

All surplus fats and grease are sent to chemical plants to be used for nitro-glycerine. Sugar is conserved by sweetening beverages before serving; cold beverages are sweetened with canned fruit juices and a simple sirup of sugar and water frequently is made for such purposes. The men especially enjoyed the sirup, devised by one cook from melted hard candies, which was served with their pancakes and French toast.

Butter appears at only one meal a day but several other spreads have been originated. One cook made a spread of raisins and carrots, another prepared a special mayonnaise using a minimum amount of oil. Marmalade, utilizing all kinds of citrus peelings, also is made in the mess kitchen, and left over vegetables ground with pickles afford another type of sandwich spread.

Coffee Once a Day.

Despite the fact that coffee is served only once a day at Camp Lee, and only one cup to a man, experiments have been made to stretch the supply. One cook made a beverage with 75 per cent coffee and 25 per cent whole wheat. While 12 pounds of coffee formerly were used to make 20 gallons of liquid, cooks found that an acceptable 30 gallons of the beverage could be made with only six pounds of coffee. Then the grounds were mixed with two and a half pounds of fresh coffee to make an additional 15 gallons. No complaints followed the introductions of this coffee formula in the mess halls.

A commercial product containing about one quarter of the amount of chocolate found in cocoa is used instead of the precious cocoa, and beverages made from fresh fruit are substituted for coffee and cocoa at many meals.

Many a tempting pie is made out of such food items as grapefruit or carrots, the carrot pie tasting somewhat like mother's old fashioned pumpkin pie. Carrot cake is another unusual dessert that appears on the menu. Canned goods are carefully conserved and fresh vegetables and fruits are served as often as possible. Experiments have been made with all kinds of vegetables and many new ideas have been worked out which can be put into practical use when the quartermaster cooks reach the field of battle.

Save Cooking Utensils.

The importance of cooking at moderate temperatures is stressed to save stoves, cooking utensils, and other equipment, to improve the quality of the food and to save fuel.

Under the "regimental mess supervisor plan," devised at Camp Lee, food waste in mess halls was reduced to one-half its original total within six months' time. The plan has been adopted by many other military camps, posts, and stations thruout the country.

Use Liquid in Cans.

Use the liquid from those precious canned vegetables. Boil it raipdly to reduce the amount and serve along with the vegetable or use the liquid in soups, gravies, sauces, or vegetable juice cocktails.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Baked Halibut.
[Serves eight.]

2½ pounds halibut or other fish
4 slices of bacon
1 small onion, thinly sliced
Piece of bay leaf
3 tablespoons margarine
3 tablespoons flour
¾ cup buttered bread crumbs

Wipe halibut with damp cloth. Cut 2 strips of bacon into 2 inch squares and place in bottom of shallow baking pan. Cover with thin slices of onion. Arrange fish on top of onion and cover with the margarine and flour mixed to a paste. Sprinkle with crumbs and top with remaining bacon. Bake in moderate [350 degrees] oven for 1 hour.

Keeping Egg Yolks.

To keep egg yolks after they have been separated from the whites, place them in a narrow or tall glass jar, cover with water or milk and cover the jar. Place in the refrigerator. Egg whites may be stored in a covered jar without the addition of liquid.

Leftover Pot Roast Tasty in Broiled Toastwiches

Broiled toastwiches are a good suggestion for using left over pot roast. Slice the meat and make into sandwiches. Dip them in beaten egg and milk and broil until browned. Serve at once.

PRIZE RECIPES NOW AVAILABLE IN BOOK FORM

Many Kinds of Dishes Are Presented for Use.

All done up in a snappy "blue ribbon" cover, it comes to you—the first volume of prize winning recipes, for which our readers have been waiting so impatiently. We hope you will feel it has been worth waiting for.

Each one of these recipes submitted in the contest and carefully tested by a member of the cooking department staff has won a $5 prize. This is a unique collection of favorite dishes including many recipes which have been "in the family for years," as well as original recipes, or old time favorites varied or revised.

Included are recipes for appetizers, sauces, soups, breads, cakes and cookies, casseroles and baked dishes, confections, desserts, fish, meat and poultry, pies and pastry [brown brittle pie which your guests will exclaim over], salads and dressing, and vegetable dishes. Ever try beets à la king, asparagus in wine sauce, spinach French style, or vegetable pie with peanut butter crust? These are only a few of the interesting vegetable versions.

Since this volume contains recipes which won prizes in the early months of the contest, you will find some which aren't "war time" recipes, for they use whipped cream or a canned article which is now virtually unobtainable. But substitutions usually can be made in these instances, and in general most of the recipes included fit into a war time economy.

Order your copy of "Prize Winning Recipes" now and spring one of these delights on your family or next set of guests. To order, send 30 cents in stamps or coin to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune, or pick up a copy at one of the Tribune Public Services offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower, for 25 cents.

FLUFFY TOPPING EASILY MADE FOR FANCY DESSERTS

When company desserts demand a simple but fluffy topping, try this method for preparing whipped cream with evaporated milk. Gelatin in the recipe helps to make the whipped cream stand up longer.

Whipped Evaporated Milk.

1 cup evaporated milk
½ teaspoon gelatin
2 teaspoons cold water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Heat milk to scalding. Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Add to milk. Chill thoroly. [This may be done quickly by pouring the milk into a freezing tray of the refrigerator.] Place in a cold bowl and quickly whip until stiff. Add sugar and vanilla.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The water was omitted from the prize winning recipe printed yesterday. The corrected recipe follows:

Molded Health Salad.

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
¼ cup vinegar
1 cup hot water
Juice of 1 lemon
Juice of 1 orange
Grated rind of ½ orange
1 cup shredded raw cabbage
1 cup shredded raw carrots
1 cup chopped cooked beets
½ cup celery

Dissolve gelatin in the hot water. Stir in vinegar. Chill until sirupy. Sprinkle fruit juices and grated rind over shredded vegetables and add to gelatin. Turn into molds and chill.

The Most Juicy Story ever Told

ABOUT "VICTORY VITAMIN C"

These days, when you demand red-blooded health for vigorous wartime effort—and must also stretch each dollar to take care of higher living costs—here's an outspoken story of oranges you can't afford to miss!

NO!

No . . . YOU want the most Juice . . . the most vitamin C

This is not a Florida orange — not an orange with all that extra juice and extra vitamin C you want. Your government urges you to fortify yourself with "Victory Vitamin C" every day . . . to help build strong tissues, red blood vessels and firm bone. But this is not your Florida. Let's make no mistake. It is a navel-type orange.

YES!

FLORIDAS give most juice—therefore most vitamin C!

This is a Florida orange . . . the prize of them all . . . for flavor, for extra juice, and extra vitamin C. Note the thinness of its skin . . . the almost total lack of that white, inedible pulp. Because you get so much more juice for your money in these most juicy Floridas now in market, you get more "Victory Vitamin C!"

Women's Part in War Told to Legion Parley

Women's activities in the war, from the uniformed services to saving kitchen grease, were stressed yesterday at the annual patriotic conference of the American Legion auxiliary, department of Illinois, in the Hotel Sherman. More than 1,000 members, representing every district in the state, attended the one day session.

Mrs. Lowell C. Allen, national Americanism chairman, used the topic "We Hold These Truths" for her address on the importance of maintaining American rights and liberties.

"There are those people who, in their eagerness to win this war, are willing to give up some of our freedoms," she said. "In respect to those who died for liberty we must not let any of the freedoms go. Otherwise, we'd have nothing to fight for."

Hitler didn't underestimate our capacity for men and materials, but he thought we would be too late, Mrs. Allen said. Americanism, as a living, patriotic inspiration, is important now to demonstrate that we are not too late, she continued, adding that Americanism is "our second front" here at home.

Edmund Stevens, foreign correspondent assigned to the British 8th army, described what he termed the "North African Marathon" and predicted the end of the African campaign within a few weeks.

Francis E. Phelan, department commander of the American Legion, cited the importance of giving disabled men in this war the same benefits, such as hospitalization, accorded the veterans of 1917 and 1918. He said Illinois state veterans' laws have been so amended, and the provisions have passed the committees.

The auxiliary's war time program as outlined by Mrs. Lutie Long Smith, national vice president, consists of full coöperation with all established war working agencies, such as Red Cross and OCD. The auxiliary also has embarked upon an enlarged child care plan involving the establishment of day nurseries in some communities.

Women's duties in the WAVES, WAACs, SPARs, Red Cross, and OCD were described by representatives of each service.

Mrs. Norman L. Sheehe, department president, was in charge. A board meeting was held last night and will be continued today.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Flag's Up.

Big city workers are accustomed to the sight of taxicabs cruising around town with the flags up to show they are unoccupied. Now, big office workers are getting used to another sight: Small American flags stuck into typewriters to indicate to other stenographers [in offices where there is a shortage of typewriters] that the machines are not in use.

What! No Seraphims?

"Has any one called your attention to one of the finest supervisors in the local treasury department? His name is Lord and he is so successful that his group is known as 'The Lord and His Angels'—and no irreverence meant by it! He has a new group in training known as 'The Cherubs' and if you ask why, Mr. Lord will tell you that they are not full-fledged angels as yet.

"He is a versatile chap: speaks several languages, writes 12, is a translator of Sanskrit; a poet, a World war veteran and at one time had a school in Nice, France. We think he's swell!

"Should you care to know just how an angel or a cherub fits behind a desk, come over and see us . . . any time."—A Cherub.

Point and Counter-point.

"About that 5 cent tip which the working girl is supposed to give the waitress. I've never seen a waitress who was satisfied with the lowly nickel. Once I witnessed a 5 cent tip left for the waitress, and judging from the remarks, the nickel was an insult. No one would pick it up and it lay on the counter a long time and was still there when two of us left. I am not tipping any one for serving me a 21 cent sandwich [which used to cost 10 cents] and a 10 cent cup of coffee [which used to cost 5 cents].

"I am a stenographer and have written many letters and copied legal forms for 'friends of the boss' over a period of eight years and not once have I found a nice round nickel under my typewriter."—Carmen Jehn.

"Speaking of office pests," writes Ida Duchow, "I wonder if any office worker — female — realizes how a waitress hates to see the white collar girl come in who never leaves a tip. It is always the new girl who has to wait on her. No one else will, if she can get out of it. A waitress who can smile at a white collar girl is an actress indeed!"

Live and Learn.

"Since large vocabularies go hand in hand with success in any field, workers should be encouraged to improve theirs to the greatest possible degree. How can this be done? By making good books and periodicals available to employés, by sponsorship of debating clubs, educational societies, dramatic societies, contests, by encouragement to contribute to a house organ and by lectures and special courses. . . . But management can't do much without the coöperation of the employés. Knowing their own aptitudes, they can attack their own problems and avoid being round pegs in square holes."—Johnson O'Connor.

Woman's City Club Talk.

The municipal recreation facilities committee of the Woman's City club will hear V. K. Brown, head of the Chicago park district's recreation department, discuss "Gearing Recreation into the War" at 1:30 o'clock today in the clubrooms.

Woman Power Called Key to Transport Need

Washington, D. C., March 18 [Special].—Women bus and street car operators will become as common a sight in the United States as in England, it was predicted today at a conference on woman power in transportation called by the office of defense transportation.

Otto S. Beyer, director of the transport personnel division of ODT, said women would constitute a major source of personnel for the transportation industries in the coming year.

"Never before in the history of the nation have we so looked to women to meet such a problem," he said. "Today it becomes necessary for us to appraise the total picture and see how we can improve the man power situation, which in some fields already is becoming critical, thru the utilization of women to meet our needs."

Discussion by representatives of the various transportation industries revealed that already 32 per cent of employés on one of the country's largest air lines are women, and that this figure is rising at the rate of one-half per cent a month.

Local transit companies are using women to replace men called to the army and navy or leaving the industry for other reasons and are employing them in a constantly widening variety of occupations.

Railroad officials said they were well pleased with the work of women who are being brought in in large numbers to fill vacancies and to make possible the necessary expansions to meet the needs of the war effort.

While women are being utilized to some extent in the trucking industry and have fitted in well in local delivery service, problems arising in over the road trucking have somewhat delayed their large scale employment.

Because heavy lifting constitutes approximately 70 per cent of the warehouse industry, employment of women in warehouses necessarily has been slow. Intercity bus lines are using a large number of women as drivers and on maintenance work, and an official of the National Automobile Dealers' association said that more women are being employed for maintenance jobs, altho the need for thoro training in this field has delayed their general employment.

With few exceptions transportation officials expressed satisfaction with women employés. Representatives of the air lines, particularly, stressed the high quality of work which is being done by women in practically all phases of the industry.

Four Lectures to Be Given by Dr. Margaret Koenig

Dr. Margaret Koenig of Omaha, Neb., will give four lectures at the Art Institute of Chicago, beginning at 2:30 o'clock today, when she will speak in Fullerton hall on "Religious Edifices and Symbols of Christianity." At 7:30 o'clock tonight she will talk on "Alaska and the Yukon," a lecture that will be repeated at 3:15 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. At 2 o'clock on Monday Dr. Koenig will talk on "Wild Flower Portraits." Her lectures are illustrated in color.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

(Picture on page 10.)

Back home in Chicago for a week-end visit to the U. S. O. centers here, Mrs. Robert S. Pirie of New York, national chairman of volunteer projects for the U. S. O. national board, told of the tremendous success of the newest of those projects—scrapbooks to send to troops in transit and soldiers stationed at far flung outposts. Mrs. Pirie is justly proud of the books, since the idea was hers. Several hundred already have been shipped since the project was started last month, and the ultimate goal is 9,000 a month. And service men who've received them have been loud in their praises.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ROBERT S. PIRIE.

The scrapbooks are sturdily made, with a cover design in red, white, and blue. Originally it was intended, in response to soldiers' requests, to ask volunteers to fill them with current serial stories. This system has been changed, however, to allow for greater variety of content.

Certain restrictions as to clippings necessarily must be observed. For example no grim war cartoons or stories, no information of a mechanical or scientific nature, no writing on the inside of the scrapbook or inside of cover. Nor should the entire surface of clippings be covered with paste, as this causes buckling.

Among the clippings men like best are short stories, cartoons, quiz games, crossword puzzles [with solutions], and colored photographs, preferably of pin-up glamor girls. And please, said Mrs. Pirie, fill the books amply, and don't leave lots of blank space. [We're already working on one, and it's facinating.]

The scrapbooks cost 15 cents and may be purchased at any one of the loop U. S. O. centers. Mrs. Walter E. Heller is chairman of the Chicago committee, assisted by Mrs. Minnie Fallon, Mrs. Howard Goodman, Mrs. Adolph R. Klein, Mrs. Leon Bloch, and Miss Anne McKeever.

The war intensive program at the three Chicago plants of the Mills Novelty company, employing 2,000 war workers, was highlighted yesterday in ceremonies held in the plant at 4100 Fullerton avenue. One of the highlights was the presentation of a WOW [Woman Ordnance Workers] charter to the newly formed chapter at Mills. Mrs. Caroline W. Budinger, national secretary of the WOWS presented the charter to Miss Gwen Desplenter, leader of the group of 200 young women workers.

Other features of the day included citation of employés for outstanding attendance records, demonstration of war jobs for children of workers, and summaries involving production, morale, and education. The Mills employés have bought $70,000 worth of "E" bonds in the current drive to build a new cruiser Chicago.

Miss Kathleen F. Cummings, 325 North Austin boulevard, an employé of the Chicago Rapid Transit company for the last 20 years, has traveled annually at this season for almost as many years as she's been with the transit organization. In line with this established custom, she'll leave next week for Georgia, but this time it will be a "for the duration" jaunt. She's scheduled to report to the WAAC training center at Fort Oglethorpe. At the transit company, Miss Cummings has been secretary to Edward Kreschmer, director of purchases, and also has been department personnel director.

She said that she joined the WAAC because she felt it her patriotic duty. Betsy Ross has a prominent place on her family tree. Miss Cummings' great-grandfather, Dr. Richard Ross of the English navy, was a first cousin to the American flagmaker.

The McCormick unit of the American Women's Voluntary Services will hold a tea in the recreation room of the McCormick Y. W. C. A. residence, 1001 North Dearborn street, at 4 o'clock on Sunday. Proceeds of the event, according to Miss Gloria E. Coddington, chairman of the unit, will be used for the unit's activities. The 40 AWVS volunteers who live at the McCormick Y. W. C. A. work evenings at Henrotin hospital as receptionists and clerks. In addition, they make surgical dressings and bandages and are active at the OCD control centers and rationing boards.

Jews to Commemorate Feast of Purim Sunday

Jews of the world will commemorate Purim, the feast of lots, Sunday. This feast recalls the historic willingness of the Jew to fight, and die if need be, for freedom and justice. It has its origin in the Bible where the Book of Esther tells of the scheming Haman, prime minister of the king of Persia, who sought, by casting lots for the day to do it, to destroy the Jewish people. The plot was discovered and related to Queen Esther, who, at the risk of her life, informed her husband, the king, who executed Haman.

Episcopalians Announce Noonday Lenten Speakers

Speakers for the third week of the Episcopal noonday Lenten services, Kimball hall, beginning Monday, will be the Rev. Dr. Harold Holt, Grace church, Oak Park; Chaplain John Q. Martin of the navy, Capt. Frank Lash of Great Lakes Naval Training school, Prof. Clark Kuebler of Northwestern university, and Dr. Gordon Chalmers, president of Kenyon college, Gambier, O. The services are from 12:10 to 12:30 o'clock.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

[Have you some household help that saves labor or conserves on materials? Is there some special convenience you would like? We'll be glad to pass on your ideas to our readers.]

Mrs. Charles F., Springfield, Ill.: I use an oiled silk cover over bowl of my electric mixer, with a hole, well reinforced, cut in the center for the beaters. This is a help in keeping liquids from splashing over.

Laura H., Chicago: When I polish my silver I rub all my flatware, gently but firmly, lengthwise. I do the same for my trays, but I polish my hollowware containers in horizontal circles around the pieces. I have found that if I polish in little circular dabs, and don't rub at the end in one direction only, I take away from silver its nice, even luster.

Hazel M., Kokomo, Ind: I've thought for a long time it would be a big saving if gloves were sold in threes instead of in twos: the right hand always gets more wear, and by a little careful management one could get much more wear out of a combination of two rights and a left.

Mrs. Pat G., Chicago: I keep crust of my pies crisp by always placing them on a wire rack as soon as I take them from the oven. I never place them on the flat surface of a table or a counter to cool.

Alice V., Lima, O.: I've a big family and sizable washings every week. When my clothes line gets kinks and hard knots I use a pair of pliers to remedy them. It saves on temper and fingernails.

Now—YOUR IDEA—please!

Church Group Studies Youth Vacation Plans

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

War time gasoline and food rationing and prospective July instalments on income taxes will compel many thousands of adult city dwellers to take back porch vacations this summer. But the youngsters, many of whom hitherto have gone to camp or elsewhere in the country for a portion of the vacation months, may turn to the streets.

Foreseeing this situation, the department of Christian education, Chicago Church federation, under the chairmanship of Dr. Frank M. McKibben of Northwestern university, is laying plans to alleviate this problem as far as possible. Dr. McKibben pointed to the impossibility of trips to distant camps for gasoline A card holders and to the difficulty of rail transportation.

Even if one could get to a resort, Dr. McKibben added, food rationing undoubtedly will handicap resort operations and limit the number of available accommodations.

The first active step by the commission will be a Chicago conference on the child and the church in war time, to be held April 2 at Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street. Thomas H. West, Chicago patent attorney, chairman of the department of religious education of the church federation, will be in charge of the conference.

Many of the city's best known welfare leaders and administrators will assist in solving the problem. These include Leah Taylor, president of the Chicago federation of settlement houses; Mrs. Edwil Eels, director of the Chicago Camping association; Ethel Verry, assistant professor of child welfare, University of Chicago, and Mrs. Philip Mathisson of the United Church of Hyde Park.

V. K. Brown, director of the Chicago park district, will tell the conference how the city parks can help the churches. The summary of the suggestions and opportunities of the conference will be made by Prof. Ernest Chave of the divinity school, University of Chicago.

Rev. H. Neville Tinker New Rector at St. Paul's Church

Election of the Rev. H. Neville Tinker of Providence, R. I., as rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Kenwood, was announced yesterday by Bishop Wallace E. Conkling, Episcopal bishop of Chicago. The Rev. Mr. Tinker will succeed the Rev. F. C. Benson Belliss, who is now serving as a naval chaplain. St. Paul's church is one of the oldest in the general Kenwood-Hyde Park area. The new rector is one of the youngest ever to be called to one of the city's major Episcopal churches. He was ordained in 1934 by the bishop of Texas.

Rev. H. N. Tinker.

Religious News Notes

Missionary giving in the Chicago area among Methodists is up $18,791 during the first quarter of 1943 over the same period last year. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, resident bishop of Chicago, views the increase as representative of greater interest of Americans in continuing missions where they may be carried on. . . . Many pastors and laymen have expressed views that an entirely new status has been given foreign missions enterprise by the fact that many American sailors and aviators have been saved or will be saved by Christian natives on Pacific islands, as well as by the importance of Christianity to the new China and the future of other oriental countries. . . . The Rev. Dr. John B. Magee, president of Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., will speak before the Chicago alumni of that college tomorrow night at the Top o' the Town restaurant. Glenn Cunningham, famous miler, now on the Cornell faculty, also will speak. . . . Dr. Walter A. Maier, noted radio preacher for the Lutheran hour, will speak at Arlington Heights High school next Friday night under the auspices of 14 Lutheran churches of that area.

Dr. Edwin McNeill Poteat, poet, dramatist, and notable pastor of Euclid Avenue Baptist church, Cleveland, O., will be the Sunday Evening club preacher Sunday night at Orchestra hall. He spent 11 years in China as a missionary. Dr. James W. Clarke of Presbyterian Theological seminary will give the informal Bible talk at the early 7 o'clock service. Guest soloist at the late service will be Olive June Lacy, soloist of the Apollo club. . . . The Gideons who distribute millions of Bibles in hotels and among service men, will honor Charles J. Pietch, chief of the service men's distribution, tomorrow night at a dinner in Top o' the Town restaurant. He is returning to Hawaii, where, as a businessman, he supervised the distribution of the first 50,000 New Testaments to men of the Pacific fleet. . . . Elizabeth Kish, director of activities, Second Presbyterian church, will give a costume lecture on "Hungary, the Land of the Magyars," in Second church at 7 o'clock Sunday night.

The Rev. Dr. John Thompson, minister-emeritus of First Methodist church, Chicago temple, is conducting the Sunday twilight services at the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 South Wabash avenue, thruout the season beginning in February and continuing thru Mother's day, May 9. . . . The speaker Monday night before the post-war discussion group, Woodlawn regional library, 6247 Kimbark avenue, will be Dr. Samuel C. Kincheloe, professor of sociology of religion at the University of Chicago. . . . The Rev. Albert Durant, a friar-hermit of the Order of St. Augustine, will deliver the Lenten Cenacle lecture at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the home of Edward I. Cudahy, 1301 North State street. Father Durant is a poet, dramatist, and literary critic, and is spiritual adviser to many notables of stage and screen. . . . Capt. Ernest E. Heuer of Camp Atterbury in Indiana will speak at the twilight Lenten devotions Sunday afternoon at Christ Lutheran church, Richmond street and McLean avenue.

Wedding News Holds Spotlight in Society Column for Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

NEWS of weddings is of interest in this column today. Mrs. George Washington Overton of Geneva and her daughter, Jean, will be leaving on March 30 for New York City, where the latter's marriage to Lt. Christopher Billopp Wyatt will take place on April 3. Both the 4 o'clock wedding and the reception following will be held in the home of Lt. Wyatt's mother, Mrs. Christopher Wyatt.

Miss Catharine Overton will be her sister's only attendant. Their brother, George, will not be able to make the trip east from his army post in Ogden, Utah. Also in the east for the ceremony will be the Overtons' Geneva neighbor, Mrs. Logan Gridley, and Mrs. George Howell, Mrs. Overton's sister. Lt. Wyatt has been taking a course at Harvard university, which he will complete on the 31st.

Ann Jenkins Will Become Bride Tomorrow Afternoon.

Since Miss Ann Jenkins isn't arriving from the east until today, the bridal dinner which Mrs. Philip W. Moore is giving tonight for her and her fiancé, Richard Prouty, is the only party preceding their marriage tomorrow afternoon. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the Winnetka Congregational church, with a small reception following in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin D. Jenkins.

Mr. Prouty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis I. Prouty of Brookline, Mass., was graduated yesterday from the coast guard school at New London, Conn. Miss Janet Jenkins is returning from Wheaton college to be her sister's maid of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Willard Monro of Chatham, N. J., will serve as bridesmaid along with Mr. Prouty's sister, Mrs. Mason Smith of New York; Mrs. David Stickney, and Mrs. Norman Parker. Mr. Prouty's attendants will be Dr. Francis Moore, Henry Saltonstall of Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, Milton Higgins, a cousin, and Mr. Stickney.

Sarett-Barker Wedding Is Taking Place Today.

Only members of their two families and a few close friends will be present when Miss Juliet Barker and Lew Sarett are married at 10 o'clock today in the chapel of the First Methodist church, Evanston. The Rev. Ernest Fremont Tittle, pastor of the church, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Jesse J. Runyan of Duluth, Minn. The bride's father, Dr. Charles E. Barker, will give her in marriage.

Following the ceremony the Cyrus Garnetts will give a champagne breakfast in their home in Evanston. Mr. Sarett, nature poet and professor in the Northwestern university school of speech, and his bride will have a brief trip before returning to his home in Highland Park. Miss Barker is the daughter of Mrs. Kate Amos Barker of the Plaza hotel.

Caryl Cody Pfanstiehl and George Wallace Carr Wed.

Friends of Caryl Cody Pfanstiehl and of George Wallace Carr, well known architect, will be receiving announcements of their marriage yesterday in Highland Park. The ceremony took place quietly in the Presbyterian church, with the bridegroom's son, Lt. Wallace Carr of the army, and the bride's daughters, Miss Grace Pfanstiehl and Mrs. Bonnie Geppert, and her son, Alfred Pfanstiehl, present. The wedding had been planned for Mr. Carr's 64th birthday, but took place yesterday so that Lt. Carr could be present.

The Carr and Pfanstiehl families are neighbors in Highland Park and old friends. The new Mrs. Carr was the widow of Carl Pfanstiehl, the inventor. Mr. Carr was a widower. He and his bride departed yesterday for Kingsport, Tenn., where Mr. Carr is engaged in war work.

Ensign Marguerite Flies West with Bride Today.

Following their marriage on Wednesday in St. Nicholas' church, Evanston, Ensign and Mrs. Milton L. Marguerite are leaving today to fly to Tiburon, Cal., where he is assigned. The bride is the former Miss Dorothy Jeanne Schreck, daughter of Alphonse Schreck, dean of the Siebel Institute of Technology, and Mrs. Schreck of Evanston.

Ensign Marguerite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Marguerite of Skokie, had his brother, Theodore Jr., as best man. Also in the bridal party were two other brothers, Cadet Robert J. Marguerite of the naval air forces and John Edward Marguerite. The bride's attendants were her cousins, Miss Marion and Miss Margaret Jane Dougherty, and Miss Frances Asman. Ensign Marguerite and his bride will live in San Francisco, Cal.

From Paris, Tex., comes the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Alice Ayres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Ayres of that city, to Lt. Laird Edward Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Wallace of Hollywood avenue. The ceremony took place last Sunday evening in Our Lady of Victory church in Paris, with a reception following in the Ayres home. After a wedding trip to Chicago Lt. Wallace and his bride will be at home in Paris. He is stationed at Camp Maxey. The bride is a graduate of the Texas Christian university and was a duchess at the Texas A. & M. Cotton ball in 1941.

Elaine Dorr's Betrothal to Ensign Is Announced.

Of interest here is the announcement Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Dorr of Milwaukee are making today of the engagement of their daughter, Elaine, to Ensign Harvey C. Taylor Jr., son of Mr. Taylor and the late Mrs. Taylor of Portsmouth and Rye Beach, N. H. The Dorr family has many friends in Chicago. Miss Dorr is a senior at Smith college and a member of the Milwaukee Service club. Ensign Taylor, who is stationed at Vallejo, Cal., is a graduate of the Fessenden school, Milton academy, and Harvard, at which he was a member of the Spee club and the Hasty Pudding, Institute of 1770.

Canny bargain hunters in the mood for a new spring hat will flock to the White Elephant Rummage shop at 27 East Ohio street today for the shop's annual spring hat sale. A number of hats from some of Chicago's smartest shops that never have been worn are included in the merchandise. The shop is conducted for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital.

Almeda Biery Jones, violinist, will be the guest at the Cordon's regular after the symphony tea today. She will be accompanied in a program of music by Margaret Smith, pianist. Pouring tea will be Miss Mildred Hannaford, Mrs. Arthur A. Baer, Mrs. Paul Anderson, and Mrs. Libushka Bartusek Brown.

Following luncheon today at the Chicago College club Mrs. Mabel Landrum Torrey will speak on "Sculpture and Religion." The usual after the symphony tea will be held from 4 to 5 o'clock.

Bombs Along the Potomac or
All Them Guns Ain't Wooden.

Scene I.

A gentleman who holds down a desk on the top floor of a building in Washington, which shall here be nameless, was holding down his desk the other day when he heard something go spit-spit-spit-fzzzzz over his head. "My goodness gracious me!" he cried in language befitting a candidate for elder statesman. "Sounds like a machine gun." With that he got up, peered out the window, saw nothing, heard nothing more, and relapsed to his desk-holding.

Scene II.

In a direct line across the way from the nameless building, but a good way across, with a reflecting pool before it, is the Lincoln memorial. The custodian of the memorial was sitting at his desk when he heard a grrrumph-grrrumph-grrrumph. He rushed outdoors to see bullets tearing into the marble of the memorial's upper façade. Terrified, he raced back indoors and called the National Park service. "We're being bombed!" he cried.

Scene III.

The National Park service notified the army, and the army launched an official inquiry. The inquiry established that the shots had come from a heavy caliber machine gun on top of the nameless building. The army private who cleans the gun each morning testified that every morning for 180 mornings he had cleaned the gun, but that to clean it he had to remove the cartridge belt and then feed it back thru, pulling the trigger until the first bullet was in place. "That time I just went too fast," he testified. "It started shooting."

Dénouement.

The army ruled the private must pay for repairing the chipped marble. The custodian said there were two methods. The marks could be effaced at a cost of $12, or the entire block of marble could be replaced, at a much greater cost. But to do either would call for an additional expenditure of $1,200 for the erection of scaffolding. The army then decided that Mr. Lincoln must wear the chips over his shoulder until post-war.

The Night the World Did Not Awake.

The time was night and overhead
The sky was clear, the stars were red;
The branches of the trees were bare,
A sleepy bird spoke here and there.
Then came the hour for dawn to break,
And yet the world did not awake.
The moon soon faded far away—
It would not intercept the day . . .
The day that had not yet appeared.
The sounds upon the earth were weird,
Belshazzar feasts of war held sway
And nations wanted light to stay.
They talked to London on the phone . .
Could London tell where time had gone,
And London had but this to say:
We have no time—it went away.
The world was weary straining eyes
To see the sun that did not rise.
Is this tomorrow or today?
Is this the time to work or play?
And can it be that God forgot
The war, and our precarious lot?
The clocks were ticking round and round
And yet no shadow struck the ground.
The rulers queried of the stars:
When would the sun release their bars?
There was The Book they had not read
When sunshine streamed from overhead;
There were the neighbors they had lost
Because they did not mind the cost.
There was a Light they did not need;
There was a God they did not heed,
And while the darkness swept the floor
The knees of men quaked more and more,
For every life was now at stake—
The night the world did not awake.

Fashion Revives Shirtwaist but Gives It Style

BY REA SEEGER.

Steady fashion revival of old time successes like feather boas, frou-frou trimmed hats, yards of veiling net, lacy jabots, and cascades of embroidery apparently justified the excavation of other charmers of long ago. See the many varied versions of the shirtwaist costume as one shining example of something old brought up to date.

The shirtwaist costume of one solid color but featuring a separate shirtwaist and tailored skirt, will break all records this spring and summer. Of course the throat lines are more flattering than the constricted old time ideas, boned way up to the ear lobes, or cuttingly stiff with a starched man's type collar.

But the graceful, comfortable sleeves with the neat double cuffs still are favorites in every shirtwaist. The soft bow of the same material as the shirtwaist, attached securely to the shirtwaist, assures a soft outline and flattery under the chin, for these bows can be arranged and tied in a half a dozen different ways. All black, all navy, dull copper, gray, or any other basic shade in such a costume duet provides a grand background costume to play the accessory game in hat, gloves, belts, and bag.

Dress parade shirtwaist costumes are festive affairs, with gossamer chiffon, organdy, and other transparent materials the background for sequin, embroidery, and bead accent. The sleeves are extremely full, then gathered into very narrow band cuffs; collars are narrow bands with soft bow tied ends.

All-over embroidery, lace, and tucked net are other materials that are made into these fragile looking, high fashion shirtwaists, worn with rustling skirts, usually of black taffeta, tussah, or bengaline.

University Women to Hear Lecture on Peace Strategy

George de Huzar, political scientist, lecturer, and author, will discuss "Strategy for Peace" at a meeting of the Chicago branch of the American Association of University Women scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight in the Alliance Française clubrooms, 410 South Michigan avenue. "Strategy for Peace" also is subject of Mr. De Huzar's book, soon to be published. The meeting was arranged by the international relations study group of A. A. U. W., with Mrs. Frederick Wheeler in charge.

Heifetz Plays Long Neglected But Beautiful Elgar Concerto

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange, conductor; Jascha Heifetz, violinist. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, March 18, 1943. The program:

Concerto, D major, for orchestra with organ .... Handel
[Transcribed by Sir Hamilton Harty.]
Little Symphony .... Sanders
[First performance in Chicago.]
Overture Fantasia, "Romeo and Juliet" .... Tschaikowsky
Concerto for Violin, B minor .... Elgar

Jascha Heifetz made one of his rare appearances with the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Orchestra hall last night, playing Sir Edward Elgar's Violin Concerto under the direction of Hans Lange. Written in 1910 for Fritz Kreisler, the concerto has had but three previous performances in the orchestra's history, one of them 21 years ago by Heifetz himself. Surely last night's performance had an extra sheen of persuasion, or the music could not have lingered so much of its life upon the library shelf.

Unlike so much of Elgar's music, the violin concerto is neither pompous nor circumstantial. It is a warm and quietly beautiful work, brushed with gravity that approaches the enigmatic, full of flowing melody, and written with such integrated skill that the solo instrument grows out of the orchestra as naturally as a vine from foliage.

Certainly it is no work for the tyro to attempt, which may explain some of the neglect which has almost banished it from the repertory. It is difficult but not showy, and violin and orchestra must be all of a piece, stemming from almost clairvoyant intercommunication. Last night it had precisely that kind of playing, for Mr. Lange gave Mr. Heifetz the full support of a superb orchestra.

Mr. Heifetz's own performance was one of those quiet miracles sometimes performed by a master. You took it for granted that his playing would be tonally impeccable and technically immaculate. You even anticipated the lovely silkiness of his way with such maneuvers as double stopping and the fastidious phrasing that can make a singing line magnificent. But no one, however agile his imagination, can quite guess in advance the impact of a perfect performance. When Heifetz's violin rose above the muted brass of the andante and when it spun a flawless cadenza over the strummed strings of the finale, there was music, at least in performance, to challenge memory of his matchless Beethoven played a year ago with Frederick Stock.

Prefacing the soloist, Mr. Lange had chosen a novelty, a near novelty, and an old favorite. The novelty was Robert Sanders' Little Symphony, which won a New York Philharmonic-Symphony prize five years ago. It is a compact and capable work with suggestions of the bucolic liveliness of Mr. Sanders' "Saturday Night Barn Dance," and with a vague trace of Respighi instrumentation in the largo. The closing fugue had a thumping quality close to the unwieldy, but it had vitality, too. Mr. Sanders was on hand to accept what seemed to be genuine audience approval.

The near novelty was a performance of Sir Hamilton Harty's transcription of Handel's Concerto in D major for orchestra with organ, not played here since the late conductor introduced it in 1934. It is worth reviving, with its stately serenity, its balanced strength, and even its perilous passages for coloratura trumpet. But next to the soloist, the audience liked best the old favorite, "Romeo and Juliet," which Mr. Lange began in mauve tones, not arriving at true Tschaikowsky purple until the orchestra really put its mind on the Russian outpouring of the finale.

Nature Photographer Will Give Illustrated Lecture on Beavers

Earl Hilfiker, noted naturalist and nature photographer from New York, will give a lecture on beavers at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the James Simpson theater of the Field museum. He will illustrate his talk with his technicolor movie, "Beaver Pond Parade," showing many intimate views of the elusive beaver.

Two performances of "Indian Dances and Lore" will be presented for children in the Simpson theater at 10 and 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Thru the Looking Glass

A good grooming aid that deserves a place on every woman's list of makeup accessories is an eyebrow brush. Powder clogged eyebrows are not attractive and can spoil the whole effect of beauty. Use the brush to flick out every particle of powder clinging to the tiny hairs by brushing the brows upward. It's folly to try brushing in a line with the brows because the powder will cake and become more obvious than before.

After the film of powder has been removed, the brush may be put to good use in shaping the brows. A little cream or oil used in the process will add luster and help hold the hairs in place. Too, the lubricating agent will aid in keeping the eyebrows in a healthy condition. Brush the hairs into the natural brow line, following the path nature dictates.

We hope you're keeping track of that precious tweezer. It's made of metal and so is priceless these days. The tweezing of brows is a careful business and no hair should be pulled without thought of the effect on the natural shape of the eyebrows. Those little straggly hairs that grow between the brows should be plucked, but care must be taken not to go at it with such abandon that a bare effect will result. Too heavy brows should be thinned slightly and the too thin line avoided. Go slowly when tweezing above the brows so as not to harm the natural arch.

The best policy in tweezing the eyebrows is to do it regularly and not let the job accumulate until it takes a regular session with the tweezers to clear the line. It's much easier to pluck the unwanted hairs as they appear and maintain a constantly neat outline.

Spaghetti Eating Race Features North Side Groups' Benefit Dance

Sensation of the evening of the east side-west side benefit dance last night at the Aragon ballroom was the spaghetti eating speed contest, won by Blackie Cutrone, of the west side. Opposing him were John J. Finlay and W. Press Hodgkins of the east side, and Charles Farina, west side.

The spaghetti eating contest was followed by a jitterbug contest. Betty Olesko and Milt Hurley of the west side were first, and Mary Funteos and Joseph Alioto, west side, second. Six east side couples also competed.

The North Side Boys' club and North Side Civic committee sponsored the benefit.

Two Dance Pupil Groups Will Hold Parties Tonight

Two of the dancing groups organized by Lester Mayhew Jr. will have their formal dancing parties tonight in the Lake Shore club. Seventh and eighth grade pupils will have their party from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. The 49-ers, composed of young persons of high school age, will meet at 9 o'clock.

Wilder's Play Called Witty and Profound

BY CECIL SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 18.—"The Skin of Our Teeth," Thornton Wilder's outrageously novel new play, has to be seen to be believed. Any attempt to describe it turns out to be libelous, making it sound like a demented hodgepodge, whereas it is really one of the most profound, amusing, wise, and altogether wonderful plays in many a long season.

It is, as Mr. Wilder explains in a program note, "a comedy about George Antrobus, his wife and two children, and their general utility maid, Sabina, all of Excelsior, N. J." But you can see the difficulty of explaining the play to any one who has not seen it when you read on: "The Antrobuses have survived fire, flood, pestilence, the seven year locusts, the ice age, the black pox and the double feature, a dozen wars and as many depressions."

In brief, "The Skin of Our Teeth" is a history of the human race. This is obviously no trifling subject with which to deal in the short space of three acts. But Mr. Wilder knows how, for he has discovered unique ways of violating and collapsing the ordinary laws of time and space, so that the ice age, a modern convention in Atlantic City, and the end of the war in some projected future can all occur side by side in the same play. It occurs to me that Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart wrote what might have become Mr. Wilder's theme song when they contributed "I Didn't Know What Time It Was" to "Too Many Girls."

The point of the play is simple, even tho some people have professed to find it obscure. The human race, it seems, makes a constant struggle to move upward to better understanding of itself and its destiny. But moving ice fields and biblical floods and pestilences and wars come along to destroy the race, whereupon the upward process must be started all over again each time.

To a considerable extent "The Skin of Our Teeth" is an extension of "Our Town"—a play dealing with the whole history of the world instead of the limited history of Grover's Corners. The characters move on and off the stage with the same casual freedom, entering into the plot when they feel like it, and making asides to the audience whenever the spirit moves them. The stage settings also recall "Our Town," for they are suggestive rather than complete, and the wings and back wall of the stage are plainly visible outside and around the scenery.

The discouraging cycle of human progress and defeat might have called for gloomy treatment if Chekhov had written this play. But Mr. Wilder is possessed of an inexhaustible fund of optimism, and he allows a mood of hilarious gayety to gild the seriousness of his subject. In this process of laughing heartily at the frailty of what he calls "vertebrate human mammals," he has the assistance of a cast of players who, under the superbly intuitive direction of Elia Kazan, have enabled the script to transcend itself.

Tallulah Bankhead, as the utility girl who is always on the make for better things but who always ends up in the kitchen, is as indispensable as Gertrude Lawrence is to "Lady in the Dark." The marvelous ripeness and variety of her delivery and her supreme virtuoso command of comic devices must be all the author could have dreamed of. Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldridge, are excellent in an unassuming and unsensational way as Mr. and Mrs. Antrobus, and the two children are beautifully represented by Montgomery Clift and Frances Heflin.

High School Social Centers to Feature Foreign Dances

Continuing the series of Friday evening dances and dance instruction for young persons from 16 to 25 years of age, the 16 high schools whose social centers are opened each week for the event will feature tonight a "Potpourri of Nations" folk dances, according to announcement by Miss Ernestine L. Badt, director. Polish, Czecho-Slovakian, Lithuanian, Bohemian, Greek, Dutch, Armenian, Turkish, and Belgian national dances will be included. The series will end Friday night, April 16, with a united nations ball, to which consuls of various countries will be invited.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

The possibilities for successful defense thru deception rarely appear to any but the expert eye. Sometimes the winning maneuver escapes detection because of its very simplicity. That was the case in today's hand:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

NORTH
♥ A K 10
♦ 7 4 3
♣ A 6 4 2

WEST
♠ 8 7 6
♥ J 8 5 2
♦ K Q J 9
♣ J 7

EAST
♠ Q 10
♥ 9 7 6
♦ 10 8 6 2
♣ K Q 10 9

SOUTH
♠ A K 4 3 2
♥ Q 4 3
♦ A 5
♣ 8 5 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Nine of the ten North-South teams in this duplicate game reached and made four spades.

Strangely enough, the one South who failed to make his contract was the best player in the room! It was his misfortune to be pitted against the second best player, sitting in the East position. The opening lead was the same as at all the other tables—the diamond king. South won and laid down the spade ace. But here East complicated declarer's problem enormously by making the shrewd and sound play of the queen, not the ten spot. The effect of this false card on South is not difficult to appreciate. There was no earthly way for South to know whether or not East's queen had been singleton or accompanied by the ten spot. Thus, East's soundly deceptive play created a sheer guess for the declarer. The latter, not being an amateur, was fully alive to the possibility that East had played the queen from a holding of Q-10, but it was quite another matter to accept that possibility as a fact. [Needless to say, East had made his play without the slightest hesitation.] Weighing the pros and cons as best he could, declarer finally decided to "believe" East. On that decision he led low toward dummy and finessed the nine spot. East, of course, pounced on the trick with the ten and, later, declarer could not avoid the loss of one diamond and two club tricks, thereby conceding defeat.

Meeker Tells of Inspiration for His Novel

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

Arthur Meeker Jr.'s fascination since early childhood in the 17th century France of Louis XIV. made it inevitable that his best selling historical novel, "The Ivory Mischief," should have come into being, the author told members of the Alliance Française at their meeting yesterday.

Altho the alliance departed from tradition yesterday by asking its lecturer to speak in English instead of in French, Mr. Meeker, who shares with the group "la nostalgie qui est la privilège de tous ce qui aime la France," lapsed frequently into the language of the land which he claims shaped his ways of thinking into maturity as an author.

Mr. Meeker started collecting information on 17th century France in 1926, and from that year until the outbreak of the war he spent part of every year abroad. The inspiration to use Cateau and Madelon as the central figures of his book came to him in 1933 while vacationing in a country inn abroad, he related. The glittering sisters appealed to him, he said, because they were noble but not too noble, because their lives spanned the right period, and because they were typical "dames gallantes," spectacular and lacking in intellect.

From that time on Mr. Meeker kept dossiers on each character and collected bits of information on the period's eitquet, cookery, and historical dates, even to the point of reconstructing the ancient Paris from old maps. By the time he locked his chalet in Switzerland to come home at the start of the war, half of the manuscript was completed.

Mrs. John Collier, in a black print dress sprinkled with yellow and white bouquets, introduced the speaker. Pouring at the lace-covered tea table with a John Storrs statuette and four tall pink candles between them were Mrs. Chauncey Borland and Mrs. Arthur Bissell.

Some of the others who echoed Mr. Meeker's "Vive La France!" with their own "Merci, mille fois," were Mrs. Mitchell Follansbee, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, Mrs. Albert H. Wolf and her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Raymondaud; Mrs. Otho Ball, Miss June Lockett, Mrs. Maurice Landis, in her Red Cross nurses' aid uniform, and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, hostess for the afternoon.

In-Between Age Child Develops His Personality

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you have a 7, 9, or 11 year old, and have made a liberal resolution to overlook all the trying ways during these "in-between" years, that isn't all there is to it.

It is necessary to toughen your nerves to noise and to be a little easy-going about many other kinds of harmless behavior, but that isn't all there is to dealing wisely with these boys and girls who are in between young childhood and the teens.

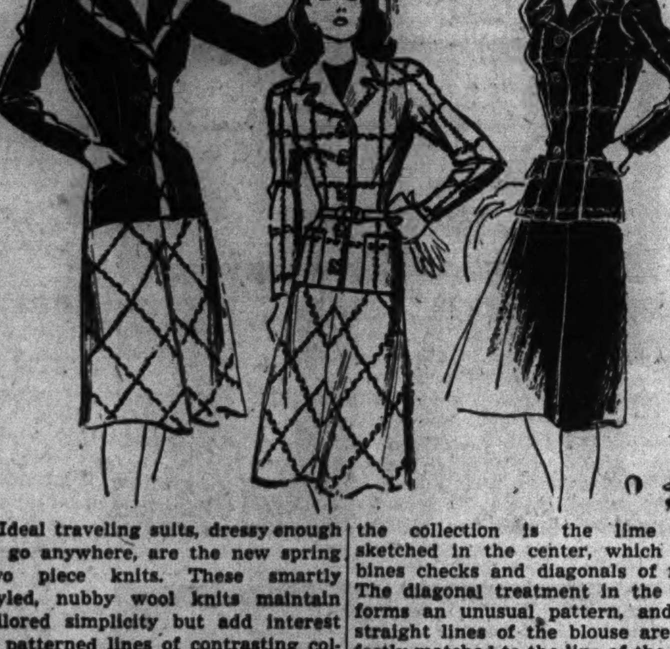
You may think they still need practical guidance and a measure of discipline for living with their family. Well, they do. But the thought I had in mind is that there are deeper aspects of your child than those which bother you so at this age. There is a deeper growth and development of personality going on which is important in your child's life—which needs nurturing—and which will make him increasingly interesting to you as a person if you are aware of it.

I remember, after writing on this subject several years ago, a fine letter I received from a mother who described her joy and interest in her son during these often misunderstood years.

There are so many things to say about 10, 9, or 12 year olds. For one thing his zest for living is a joy to behold, and one that shouldn't be dampened by our petty disapprovals. This is a happy, unusually carefree spot in a child's life, one that I like to describe as the "last stand of childhood," because the seriousness and complexity of adolescence follow so soon after, then lead on to the responsibilities of maturity.

FASHIONS

By Angela



Ideal traveling suits, dressy enough to go anywhere, are the new spring two piece knits. These smartly styled, nubby wool knits maintain tailored simplicity but add interest in patterned lines of contrasting colors which form checks and diagonals. Such wrinkle resistant, stretchproof knitted suits pack easily. Available in sizes from 12 to 44, they present a range of spring colors, but the combinations of lime and navy and beige and brown are something to see.

At the left is a blue jacket and lime wool skirt, with diagonal lines of navy. A band of lime and navy marks the center of the jacket, but ends abruptly at the lapel line. The slit pockets fit into deep darts, and the buttons are of blue plastic.

Perhaps the handsomest item of the collection is the lime suit, sketched in the center, which combines checks and diagonals of navy. The diagonal treatment in the skirt forms an unusual pattern, and the straight lines of the blouse are perfectly matched to the line of the lapel and around the collar. The buttons are tiny "gold" four leaf clovers.

A plain navy skirt and tailored jacket of lime checks on the third figure, right, presents another suit type as becoming as its companions. The flap pockets and contrasting plastic buttons of Chinese motif are the only details of this classic model.

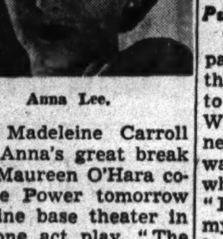
Looking at Hollywood . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., March 18.—Anna Lee, who's been making color tests for De Mille for the lead in "Dr. Wessell," is all set to put her John Hancock on the contract, and it's due to her performance in "Hangmen Also Die." This is the part others said Madeleine Carroll would play. It's Anna's great break up to date. . . . Maureen O'Hara co-stars with Tyrone Power tomorrow night at the marine base theater in San Diego in a one act play, "The Valiant." . . . What happened to that buildup Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer gave Frances Gifford? . . . Jimmy Durante originated the part of press agent in "Jumbo." Now that Metro's going to put it on the screen, he hopes they'll remember him. . . . When Mike Curtiz was trying to finish a scene before lunch yesterday on "This Is the Army" the going was tough. He made it easier by screaming "Quiet, boys, quiet! This is a very tough scene for a director—even me!"



Anna Lee.

His Own Purity League.

Humphrey Bogart noticed a kid hanging around the set of "Somewhere in Sahara," who was stopping other actors for autographs. So Bogey ups and asks if he doesn't want his. "Not yet, mister. I've been watching you. So far, you're a good guy, but not until I make sure you're going to stay that way do I want your name in my book!" . . . When Evelyn Keyes went bowling with her agent, Gummo Marx, a bystander started giving Evelyn advice, when Gummo yelled, "Hey! If you have anything to tell her, talk to me. I'm her agent!" . . . Rochester, who's doing "What's Buzzin, Cousin?" has a side line business which would fail completely if it depended on him for a customer. He manufactures parachutes. . . . Jane Wyatt's comment on the unpopular actor is that he's "The Squawk of the Town."

Put Her Straight.

Dolores Moran has a new campaign. Wants women to give up their seats in buses and street cars to service men and war workers. Which reminds me of a scene I witnessed in the market. A crowd waiting for their allotment of meat, when in breezed a female who said, "I'm a defense worker—must have my meat now, go to work in half an hour." When up spoke a quiet Milquetoast character who said, "I'm also a defense worker, and there were 14 of us here before you. You'll wait in line, please." And she did. . . . Linda Darnell and Martha O'Driscoll being sent rings and all childish presents since they're down with measles.

He's Got It.

When I heard Gracie Allen's one finger symphony and what Paul Whiteman did with his band of musicians, I knew something good would happen to Whiteman. It has. He's now musical director of the Blue network. There's one fine musician. All he's needed was a chance. . . . Fred Sammis, Photoplay's editor, covering the town—and I mean covering. . . . There's a deal cooking between Mack Sennett and 20th Century. This time it it goes thru, I hope they'll give Mack something important to do.

Making Strides.

Lupita Tovar had made such a hit in "Resurrection," picture she did in Mexico, they've signed her for two more down there at top money; "Victoria," by Knut Hamsun, the love story Irving Thalberg wanted to star Garbo in some years back, and "Ave Maria," written about the famous song. . . . George Bruce is about to take off for Mexico and do an original story with that background for Metro. . . . The day Carl Brisson arrived in New York, he was given the script of "Early to Bed." He and it go into rehearsal any minute. . . . Even tho Ruby and Bubbles Schinazi look more like sisters than mother and child, you'd have to be blind not to know it was Ruby who's going out with Bernie Newman.

KELVYN PARK WINS; PARIS BREAKS RECORD

HAWKS LOSE FINAL GAME; MISS CUP PLAY-OFFS

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 18.—Lt. [j. g.] Joe Petritz, for 15 years director of publicity at Notre Dame university, found a couple of former Irish athletes on hand when he arrived at Princeton to begin indoctrination training for duty as a deck officer. . . . They were Lt. [j. g.] William McCormick, track captain in 1932, and Ensign Stanley Adamonis, reserve center on the 1937, 1938, and 1939 football teams. . . . In a recent call on the boys at Camp Polk, La., Bill Lee of the Cub pitching staff called Ival Goodman the toughest batter he ever had faced; Hank Greenberg, a "really great ball player"; Dizzy Dean the "gamest guy ever to don a baseball uniform," and Babe Ruth the game's top all-time slugger. . . . Michigan has just closed its most disastrous hockey season. . . . The Wolverine sextet won one game, tied two, and lost 13. . . . Fifteen years ago Clyde Smith and C. A. Temerario were football teammates on Bo McMillin's Geneva college squad. . . . Nine years ago both went to Indiana university as members of Bo's staff. . . . Four years ago, Smith went to La Crosse [Wis.] Teachers college and Temerario to Denison university. . . . Now they're back together again as naval lieutenants at the Iowa Pre-Flight school. . . . Herb Matter, Illinois' one man track team, who sprints, high jumps, pole vaults, throws the discus, and broad jumps, says he'd rather play golf. . . . Said Manager Bucky Harris of the slowness of the Phillies in returning their contracts: "I knew quite a few of the boys couldn't play ball, but I didn't realize there were so many who couldn't read or write." . . . The Selfridge field [Michigan] basketball team started and finished the recent season with seven-game winning streaks. . . .

Headline: "Jimmy Foxx Says He's All Thru," which will be no news to Cub fans. . . . Frank Patterson has charge of identification of all race horses running on American tracks. . . . His extensive library includes the records of Irish, Australian, American, and South American thorobreds. . . . Manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings, new champions of the National Hockey league, is an air raid warden with a tin hat, armband, and everything.

Here's the Big News.

We are planning a reunion,
Contributors of the WAKE,
PERHAPS we'll have some chicken
But we'll promise you no steak.
At Medinah club we'll gather
In the place we met last year,
Dispensing with all our worries
In this happy atmosphere.
It's scheduled for Wednesday evening
Upon the fifth of May;
The hour is set for seven,
Come early and plan to stay.

Three dollars will buy a ticket
For this joyful jamboree;
Will you send a money order
And address direct to me?
Perhaps you might be wishing
To bring a guest with you,
And if that will make you happy
Then we will be happy, too.
Please make your reservations
The earliest that you can;
It will aid the Wake committee
In all there is to plan.

—Hilda Butler Farr,
10843 Prairie avenue,
Chicago, Ill.

Quite a Few Are Like That.

The recent list of typical Wake contributors omitted one of the most common. He is the belligerent gent who reads his own contrib and growls: "Why, that's the same thought I sent in," before he sees his own name.—Lorraine.

* *

Amen.

I'm thankful for my daily bread,
For each and every blessing shed
On me because our land is free—
God, keep it so eternally.
—Ruth McKee.

* *

Amusing Musings.

Hunch-drunk is what I call the fellow in our office who is playing the horses continually. His tips are always tipsy.—Karlov Karlov.

Remember me? I'm the guy who once made the Wake with the crack that inasmuch as my name never had been drawn in a lottery there was no need for me to worry about the draft. Well, I'm finally a winner. Judging from the tone of the "greeting" I received today, the first of April will be the last of —Gilhooley of 63d Street.

* *

Let's Be Fair, Joe.

So Stalin claims Russia is fighting the war alone. What the heck does he think our guys and the British are doing in Tunisia, playing hopscotch?—The Duke of Duluth.

* *

Do You Remember 'Way Back When:

Help wanted ads always ended with "beginners need not apply" instead of "no experience necessary"?—T. M. Semro.

We were careful not to cross father the day mother made him lay the ingrained carpet?—Zaida Jones Blaine.

We used to tell our little sons they might grow up to become President? That, of course, was before Roosevelt.—L. C. of Mendota.

The truant officer had a big black mustache and how we trembled when we saw him coming up the walk to inquire why we were not in school?—Perry C. Bennett, Belvidere, Ill.

* *

My Secret Ambition.

To be able to tell the customers MY troubles.—Bartender.

* *

Famous Last Words.

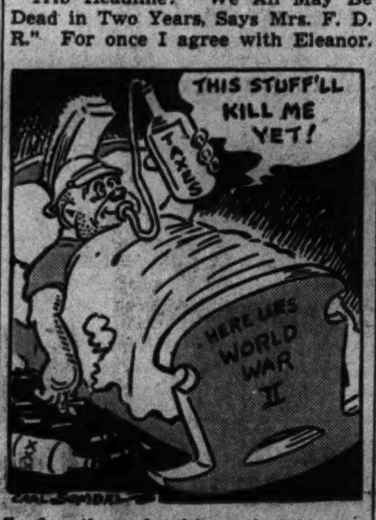
O, I intended to do that work today even if the boss hadn't come in.—A Stupid Stenographer.

THAT'S gratitude for you.—Al Morrison.

But, sergeant——.—Robin M.

You're Not Kidding.

Trib Headline: "We All May Be Dead in Two Years, Says Mrs. F. D. R." For once I agree with Eleanor.



THIS STUFF'LL KILL ME YET!
TAXES
HERE LIES WORLD WAR II

So far, the only things that haven't been rationed are liquors, cigarets, and taxes. So in two years we will either smoke ourselves to death, be dead drunk, or dead broke.—Perly.

* *

Damien of Molokai.

He made his dwelling in a squalid sty
That he might soothe the sores of leprosy,
And on the mournful moors of Molokai
He was content to live with misery;
He saw the hidden image of his Christ
Beneath the hateful guise of foul decay
Of those for whom his life was sacrificed,
Whose white souls shone thru the corrupted clay.

He died a leper, lonely and alone,
Upon that island desolate and drear,
Where dissolution claimed him for its own
And only ailing fellow men were near
To breathe a prayer above his lonely grave
In gratitude for the young life he gave.

—T. E. B.

* *

It Won't Be Long Now.

Diagnosis—Adm. Standley has a severe case of homesickness.—Doc.

* *

What's in a Name?

Dick Klier [pronounced Clear] and Eddie Kloud have been Chicago bowling partners for years.—Eddie E.

Dr. R. Gordon Brain is a psychiatrist in Flint, Mich.—Sally O'Grady.

The Wake Depends Help!
Upon Its Friends Help!

* *

Pet Peeves.

After having waited an hour on the corner for the girl friend, to have her arrive with her lipstick askew, and her stocking seams out of line as she tells me to straighten my tie.—Bob of 17.

There will be a 40 minute wait in the lobby for all seats—Harry Willens.

* *

Little White Lies.

We were planning to have you folks over for dinner just when rationing came in and now——.—Buckeye Sage.

Ten Years Ago Today—The Chicago Blackhawks wound up the season by losing a 4 to 2 decision to Detroit. . . . Guy Bush and Lon Warneke pitched the Cubs to a 6 to 4 victory over Pittsburgh. . . . The New York Giants whipped Ted Lyons in his first start of the season, 13 to 8.

Detroit, Mich., March 18.—The Chicago Blackhawks' 1942-'43 National Hockey league season tonight ended officially, not to say sadly, as they took a 6 to 5 defeat from the league champion Red Wings on the Olympia ice before a crowd of 6,820, smallest of the local season. The Blackhawk loss, coupled with Montreal's 6 to 3 triumph over the New York Rangers, moved the Canadiens into fourth place and the last spot in the Stanley cup foursome. Even a tie this evening would have availed the Chicagoans naught, since the Frenchmen had a better games won record.

The chance to finish in fourth was in Chicago control until the final period, wherein the Wings batted home three goals. The Blackhawks' lamentable penchant for dissipating comfortable leads was revealed when they tossed away a 4 to 2 edge at a time when they seemed to be clicking at their sharpest.

Manager Fined, Suspended.

The Hawks were deprived of the services of Manager Paul Thompson just before the final game opened when he was fined $100 and suspended by Mervyn [Red] Dutton, president of the league, for fighting with Referee Norman Lamport in New York Sunday when the Hawks lost to the Rangers.

The only solace for the Hawks tonight was the fact that they wound up the campaign with the scoringest man in the league—little Doug Bentley. Doug connected for the goal that gave his mates that 4 to 2 lead, and thereby counted his 73d point of the season, including 33 goals. That figure set a modern record for points made and tied the all-time total, made by Cooney Wieland of Boston in the 1929-'30 schedule, when players were permitted to precede the puck into the scoring zone.

Max Scores—for Wings.

Bob Carse and George Allen delivered the first period goals which enabled the Hawks to match a Detroit pair made by Mud Bruneteau and Harry Watson. Carse got another in the second period, and Doug Bentley dropped in his at this stage.

With less than two minutes of the period, Max Bentley then suffered one of those lapses that come to athletes aplenty. The young Hawk inadvertently batted the puck into his own net, Sid Abel of the Wings being given official credit.

Syd Howe then tied the score early in the third session against a short handed Hawk team, and Joe Carveth and Bruneteau contributed tallies that were too much for the final Chicago goal by Red Mitchell.

New York Golden Glovers to Chicago: 'This Is Our Year'

BY BILL MURTHA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 18.—Chicago fans never have seen an eastern Golden Gloves team take the Intercity matches in 16 years of competition. They will this year.

The larrupers who filled the air with gloves and the Madison Square Garden ring with prone bodies on St. Patrick's night are the best amateurs the east has produced in many a year. Of the 16 bouts the 18,796 pew holders saw, 9 ended in knockouts. The 1943 Glovers from the east make no pretense of being cuties. It's strictly mayhem.

The surprise of the eastern tournament was the amazing record piled up by Puerto Rico's government sponsored entry, the first team from outside the continental limits of the United States to be entered in the eastern Tournament of Champions.

Puerto Ricans Win Two Titles.

In the team competition, the islanders placed second with two title winners, despite the disadvantage of entering only six men. They don't grow 'em very big down in the rumba regions and native competition between light heavies and heavies is nonexistent. But the littler packages they sent to the metropolis proved that our southern neighbors have taken their post-graduate course in the art of la boxe.

The amazing thing about the Puerto Ricans is their stamina. The two champions—Bantam Billy Hernandez and Lightweight Max Gonzalez—look as tho they could fight all night. Three fast rounds of furious action ended with each of them still bouncing with energy while their opponents sagged in their corners.

Philadelphia Is Strong as Usual.

As usual, Philadelphia turned up with a topnotch squad. It placed six of its eight men in the finals of the eastern tourney and only three failed to survive the rocky road. In Jackie Floyd, the socking Quakers had the star of the tournament, a strong, aggressive featherweight, who'll hold his own with any amateur in the business.

The easterners may very well present the classiest pair of feathers they've ever had. Floyd's opponent in the finals, George Cooper of New York, lost out in his quest for the Golden Glove only by a shade. Their brawl had the fans teetering on the edges of their seats thruout the three rounds. Two of them went to Floyd, but the final was Cooper's, and if there had been another round it might have been the New Yorker's fight. He was pouring in the leather at the finish with the staccato rapidity of a machine gun.

Chicagoans who trot out to the Stadium on the 31st will be in on a welcome home party for one of their own. One of the heavyweight alternates on the eastern team is Cornelius Young, who was the Chicago and intercity heavyweight champion in 1940.

Young is in the coast guard at Manhattan beach, Brooklyn, and undoubtedly will be paired with Eddie Irwin, the university student who is top man among the dreadnoughts. Cornelius is in need of a bit of hard work, but in the next 10 days his timing should get back in the groove.

The entire squad, with champions listed first:

112 POUND CLASS—Clifford Smith, Jimmy Caraway, George Coia.

118 POUND CLASS—William Hernandez, Gilly Smithson, Jimmy Corti, Marshall Armstrong.

126 POUND CLASS—Jackie Floyd, George Cooper, William Palou.

135 POUND CLASS—Max Gonzalez, Max Grothe, Santa Bucca, Ray Colliers, Russell Hawkins.

147 POUND CLASS—Ballesandro Carubia, Jack Wilson, Leo Romaniello.

160 POUND CLASS—Dale Heersche, Joe Bennett, Herb Kroeten, Solomon Eaddy.

175 POUND CLASS—Alfred Labreque, Eddie Ransom.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Eddie Irwin, Cornelius Young, William Gilliam, Danny Yorkis, Ray Meola.

WHITE SOX OPEN PRACTICE TODAY

Stragglers to Receive No Mercy, Says Dykes.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox will hold their first practice of the year at 1 o'clock this afternoon. After settling down in their headquarters in the French Lick Springs hotel this morning the athletes will hike to their practice field in West Baden, Ind., there to prance a bit while they are inspected by Manager Jimmy Dykes and snapped by photographers.

For three days the lads will be let off with one drill a day, then the schedule will be stepped up to two workouts daily. Stragglers, if any, will be shown no mercy in the short training season, according to Skipper Dykes.

The Chicago contingent of players, together with Dykes, President Grace Comiskey, and others, left Dearborn station at 9:15 o'clock last night and are scheduled to arrive at the Hoosier resort early this morning.

Thornton Lee with Squad.

The players who went to French Lick from Chicago were Thornton Lee, Orval Grove, Don Kolloway, Tom Turner, Ed Weiland, Lee Ross, Jimmy Grant, Vincent Castino, a rookie catcher, and Don Hanski, a free agent lefty.

There were eight scratches yesterday on the roster which the Sox issued three or four days ago. Best known of those whose names were stricken from the roster is Dario Lodigiani, who is said to be in the army, tho the Sox have received no word from him.

According to the revised player list, 4 catchers, 6 infielders, 6 outfielders, and 12 pitchers are supposed to be on hand at roll call today. However, Manager Dykes said on his arrival here Wednesday that he had reasons to believe Shortstop Luke Appling and Outfielder Wally Moses would be tardy.

First Exhibition March 27.

Even with their launching of practice on the day of arrival, the Sox will have little enough time to get in safe shape for their first exhibition games. These will be played March 27 and 28 with the Detroit Tigers in Evansville.

Manager Jim Wilson of the Cubs is slated to scout the Chicago city champions in their opening workout today. Jim drove down yesterday with a party of journalists. Trainer Andy Lotshaw was on the ground, having driven down 48 hours earlier. The Cubs are slated to assemble for their first drill Monday afternoon. Some of the Cubs have been playing semi-pro ball in California, on a team managed by Lou Novikoff and called the Rosa Belle Plumbers.

CHICAGO BEATS KEWANEE, 45-30; JOLIET ROUTED, 74-40; NEW HIGH

Elgin Quintet Hands Rockford West 60-56 Defeat.

BY MARK COX.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., March 18.—Kelvyn Park High school of Chicago overcame one state basketball tournament bugaboo tonight and made ready to start in quest of added laurels tomorrow night, when it meets Paris in the quarter-finals in George Huff gymnasium.

In defeating Kewanee, 45 to 30, in the final game of the opening day's first round session, the Panthers became the first Chicago entrant to win a game in the state finals since Von Steuben turned the trick in 1938. Tomorrow the basketball scholars of Coach Phil Brownstein will attempt to take another step in the direction of the title, a goal which never has been attained by an undefeated team.

Paris Is Good, Too.

Kelvyn Park, which has won 23 games, will find in Paris an opponent with some records of its own. The Tigers attempted to round out an undefeated season a year ago, but lost to Centralia in the tournament final after winning 39 straight.

Paris set another record tonight by advancing over Joliet, 74 to 40, to mark up a new tournament high for points scored in a single game. The five from the broom corn country might have done an even more impressive job of erasing the former mark of 72, registered by Dundee in defeating Rushville in 1940, had three of its regulars not been lost on fouls.

The Kelvyn Park-Paris contest is by no means the only top flight affair on tomorrow's quarter-final agenda, for in the upper bracket there should be a bristling bit of action when Moline meets West Frankfort at 4 o'clock.

Moline Shows Balance.

Moline, on hand for its eighth tournament appearance in the last 10 years, displayed a well balanced attack which made a good Anna-Jonesboro team look bad today with a 45 to 30 margin of victory. Meanwhile West Frankfort was looking equally impressive in eliminating a thoroly tournament tried Decatur team, 55 to 39.

Altho the two supporting games tomorrow have not drawn the heavy interest from the combined attendance of 21,112 at the opening sessions, there are those who insist any of the remaining four survivors are equally well equipped to go all the way.

Elgin and Wood River, opening adversaries on the regular tournament card tomorrow afteroon, which will be preceded by the Carbondale Shattucks-Madison Dunbar game for the state Negro championship, won almost as they pleased in the waning minutes.

Elgin Whips Rockford West.

Elgin, Big Eight champion, took a 60 to 56 victory over Rockford West High in the first game and Wood River followed with a 55 to 49 triumph over Pekin in the other morning game.

Salem and Champaign, who will meet in the other night game tomorrow, advanced in the real thrillers of the tournament, with victories out in the final minute of action.

Salem overcame a 12 point deficit with four minutes to play when a hustling tow-headed youngster named Roy Gatewood climaxed the drive by flipping in the winning basket in the last 18 seconds to nudge out Canton, 49 to 47.

Champaign Comes Thru.

After Champaign had trailed a supposedly inferior Quincy quintet for two quarters, stubby little Bill White, a sub forward, sparked a push that brought the Maroons to the front with only 12 seconds left, then he personally took care of the winning tally that sent the Blue Devils back to the Mississippi river banks on the short end of a 33 to 32 count.

The same master Gatewood garnered 25 points, within one point of the tournament record established by Dwight Eddleman of Centralia last year. Next in line were Leon Akin of West Frankfort, Glenn Jackson of Decatur and John Rebuffoni of Pekin, each with 22 points.

CHICAGO GLOVES TEAM PREPARES FOR HEAVY DUTY

Plan Busy Evening for New York Champions.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's Golden Gloves fighters yesterday put plenty of zip into the opening of training for the Intercity matches with New York, which will be held in the Stadium on March 31. Reports from the east indicated that the New Yorkers are going to be as tough as ever this year—so Chicago's representatives plunged enthusiastically into preparations to repel the invasion.

A pair of coast guardsmen, Harry Sparrow and Tony Allicino, were the first to report to Coaches Issy Klein and Fred Caserio in the Illinois Athletic club, where the training program will be conducted. Both of these boys fought as members of the Grand Rapids team in the recent tournament. Chicago's representatives also were on hand early, led by Reedy Evans and Walter Moore, champions in the light heavyweight and heavyweight classes, respectively.

They Have Winning Spirit.

The first afternoon's program consisted entirely of floor work—but the boys went about even this comparatively dull chore as tho they had their hearts set on whipping their eastern opponents.

The routine will be stepped up today. At 7:30 a. m. the boys will be out for road work in Grant park. During their gymnasium session in the afternoon, the coaches may decide that they're ready to begin sparring, in which case they'll be asked to go one round each. In any event, sparring is scheduled to begin not later than tomorrow. The daily quota will be stepped up steadily until the boys are going three and four rounds without tiring.

All have been keeping fit in their home gymnasiums during the interim since the conclusion of the Golden Gloves tournament, so the conditioning problem is not expected to be a serious one. Most of the boys also are within easy reach of the weight limits of their divisions.

Sixteen to Fight.

At intervals during the afternoon and early evening the fighters checked in at the I. A. C. from widely scattered sections of Golden Gloves territory. The squad will number about 30 at full strength. From this group, 16 will be picked to face the New York fighters in the 16th annual Intercity matches.

The interest of the squad members was accelerated by the outcome of the New York tournament, finals of which were held Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden. Now the Chicago champions have some definite idea of the fighters they're going to face because under the rules of Intercity competition, the title holder of one team is matched against the title holder of the other and alternate meets alternate.

Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O., one of the heroes of Chicago's tournament in which he won the featherweight championship, seems to have drawn one of the toughest assignments of the show in Jack Floyd, hard hitting Philadelphia Negro who took the New York championship in that weight class.

BADGERS' LUTZ TO FACE ARMY FOE AFTER ALL

Madison, Wis., March 18 [Special].—Cliff Lutz, the University of Wisconsin's N. C. A. A. boxing champion at 155 pounds, will fight tomorrow night against the Flying Kellys of Kirkland field, New Mexico, it was revealed this afternoon when the Badger star was granted a 10 day delay of induction into the army. He also will be able to compete in the National Collegiate A. A. meet here next week.

Lutz will face his old teammate and the national champion at 145 pounds last year, Lt. Warren Jollymore, who is a member of the Kirkland squad.

Chuck Kidd of Downers Grove will replace Don Miller at 155 pounds in the Wisconsin lineup.

Tomorrow's pairings, with Wisconsin men listed first:

[illegible] pounds, John Werren vs. Kirkland Pol[illegible] 127 pounds, Len Robock vs. John Br[illegible]ll; 135 pounds, John Collentine vs. Ro[illegible] Bell; 145 pounds, Cliff Lutz vs. W[illegible] Jollymore; 155 pounds, Chuck Kidd vs. [illegible] Summers; 165 pounds, Myron Miller vs. [illegible]erman Hale; 175 pounds, George N[illegible] vs. Ted Kintz; heavyweight, Ver[illegible] John vs. Lt. Jack Kemper.

J. W. STEINMETZ, SKATE OFFICIAL, DIES; AGED 86

John W. Steinmetz, former skating official and father of Bill Steinmetz, 1921 men's Silver Skates champion and member of the American Olympic team of 1924, died yesterday in his home, 3640 North Avers avenue. Mr. Steinmetz, who had been in poor health for the last two years, was 86 years old.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow from the chapel at 3918 Irving Park road. Interment will be in Montrose cemetery. Up to the time of his death Mr. Steinmetz was in the electrical contracting business.

Mr. Steinmetz was a skating official for approximately 15 years. He was active in this work up to the time his son won the Silver Skates championship.

Holiday Breaks Kiefer's 200 Meter Swim Record

Detroit, Mich., March 18 (AP).—Harry Holiday, University of Michigan sophomore, clipped a tenth of a second from the world record for the 200 meter backstroke event by swimming the distance in 2 minutes 22.9 seconds in a time trial today at the Detroit Athletic club. The world mark is held by Adolph Kiefer of Chicago, now in the navy. Holiday was clocked by internationally recognized timers, but the time won't be entered for a record until after the war, officials said.

N. U. Eleven, Great Lakes to Play Oct. 2

Northwestern university will open its 1943 football schedule with Great Lakes on Oct. 2, Athletic Director K. L. Wilson announced yesterday. The game, which will be played in Dyche stadium, will replace the original opener with the University of Colorado which was postponed because of transportation difficulties.

Scheduling of the game with Bluejackets is in line with the policy of Western conference teams playing at least one service team in this area. Last fall the Wildcats played both Great Lakes and the Iowa pre-flight school.

Coach Lynn Waldorf plans to start spring football practice at Northwestern March 30. Missing from the ranks of 50 candidates will be at least five letter men who are members of the army reserve corps and who expect to be called for active service soon. They include Capt. Elect Ed [Buckets] Hirsch and Laurie Adelman, full backs; Vinc Di Francesco, guard; John Winter, half back, and Jules Siegel, end.

ANGOTT FACES PEP TONIGHT IN COMEBACK TEST

New York, March 18 (AP).—Sammy Angott and Willie Pep, the New York recognized featherweight champion, will clash in a 10 round nontitle bout in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Angott retired last fall and gave up his lightweight title, claiming that his frequently injured hands would not let him continue. But after a few months of working in a factory at his home town of Washington, Pa., he has decided his hands are as good as ever. Angott will have a big edge in experience, as well as some six pounds in weight. He expects to scale about 134½ pounds to Pep's 128.

HANDICAPPER FOR TRIBUNE PICKS 10; 4 STRAIGHT

Yesterday's Tribune race selections included 10 winners. The handicapper picked four consecutive winners at Oaklawn Park, four first choices at Bay Meadows, and two at the Fair Grounds.

The winners at the Hot Springs track were Weapon's Pride in the second race at $10.70 straight, My Pet Rambley in the third at $17.30, Albatross in the fourth at $15.30, and Valdina Groom in the fifth at $6.70. Those choices at Bay Meadows were Ace Hudkins, Sarong, Moot Question, and Wise Barrister. The winners at the Fair Grounds were Magdala and Wise Colonel.

GAMES TODAY.
Catholic League Playoffs.
Juniors.
South Section.
Mount Carmel vs. Joliet Catholic at Chicago Teachers' college, 6800 South Stewart avenue, 8 p. m.
North Section.
Weber vs. St. Philip at Loyola academy, 6500 Sheridan road, 8:15 p. m.

Two games are scheduled for tonight in the Catholic league playoffs to decide the junior sectional champions.

One junior champion will be crowned when Weber and St. Philip meet at Loyola academy, 6500 Sheridan road. This game will begin at 8:15 o'clock. The two teams are playing off their tie for first place in the north section. Each won 10 and lost 2.

In the other game Mount Carmel, defending league junior champion, will oppose Catholic High of Joliet at Chicago Teachers' college, 6800 South Stewart avenue, for the right to meet Leo tomorrow evening on the same floor for the south section junior title. The three teams finished in a deadlock for first place with 10 victories and 2 defeats. Leo drew a bye by winning a toss of a coin. Both south section games, tonight and tomorrow, will begin at 8 o'clock.

Senior Title Battle Sunday.

St. George, north section senior champion, and Mount Carmel, the south side title holder, play for the league's senior title Sunday evening in the new Lane Tech gymnasium, Addison street and Western avenue. The game will commence at 8 o'clock.

St. George finished its sectional race with 10 victories and 2 defeats while the Carmelites closed their sectional schedule with 11 triumphs in 12 games. Mount Carmel suffered its lone league defeat at the hands of Leo, defending senior champion. Mount Carmel subsequently avenged that setback.

Play for City Title Next Week.

The two Catholic league champions will meet the City league title holders, Marshall, junior champion, and Kelvyn Park, senior, in the Stadium on March 27 for the benefit of the Chicago service men's center.

The uniforms for the four contending teams in the championship games will be red, white, and blue. Uniforms will consist of shirts, coats, sweat socks, and trousers. The teams will be permitted to wear their new outfits in their regularly scheduled league games next season.

Dalton and Hirata to Meet Tonight in Madison A.C. Bout

A series of amateur bouts between boxers from Camp Grant and Chicago will be offered tonight in the Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street. The card will be featured by matches involving Tim Dalton and Georgie Adams, 1943 city Golden Gloves champions, against Clinton Hirata and Al Noto, Camp Grant lightweight and flyweight, respectively. Dalton defeated Hirata in a previous meeting in the recent Tournament of Champions in the Stadium, Tim surviving a knockdown to accomplish the trick. Other matches:

Edwin Marsh, Camp Grant, vs. Johnny Lavatino, Chicago; Don Hanni, Camp Grant, vs. Jack Hallinan, Chicago, all 147 pounds; Jake Kakuuchi, Camp Grant, vs. Paul Martin, Chicago, 160; William Zielke, Camp Grant, vs. Joe Walls, Chicago, 175, and Lyndell McClure, Camp Grant, vs. Bernie Neiween, Chicago, heavyweights.

Receipts will go to the Camp Grant recreation fund.

Danno O'Mahoney, former heavyweight wrestling champion, will meet Bill Bartush in the windup bout of Promoter Billy Cepak's wrestling show this evening in Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue. Phil Gruber is paired with Rudy Hoffman.

PICK TROPHY BOARD

The members of the five man board to select the winner of the Naval Aviation V-5 trophy which is to be awarded to the Chicago High school basketball player who best typifies the qualities of the navy's fighting pilot was announced yesterday.

The members of the board are: Arthur [Dutch] Lonborg, Northwestern university varsity basketball coach; Bill Haarlow and Nick Kearns, Big Ten basketball officials; Warren V. Woody, civilian aviation leader, and Lieut. Comm. Carl G. Olson, officer in charge of the naval aviation cadet selection board, which is sponsoring the trophy.

Interview Players Next Week.

Woody is chairman of the World War I. Naval Aviators committee which is donating the trophy and a plaque to be presented to the winning player's school.

Beginning next week the board will personally interview the ten 17 year old youths from the Catholic and City leagues, selected by the prep sport writers of Chicago newspapers on the basis of the five foremost qualifications sought in navy pilot cadets. They are courage, resourcefulness, alertness, team play, and the will to win.

The trophy will be awarded between the city-wide championship games between the City and Catholic leagues on March 27 in the Stadium.

DEMAREE WORKS OUT WITH CARDS FOR FIRST TIME

Brown Attends Funeral of Moore's Brother.

Cairo, Ill., March 18 (AP).—Outfielders Frank Demaree and Dain Clay and First Baseman Ray Sanders joined the St. Louis Cardinals in their workout for the first time today.

The squad knuckled down to its most strenuous drill since opening of training camp Monday. Manager Billy Southworth laid emphasis on batting practice as a conditioner, working the pitchers thruout two sessions.

Capt. Jimmy Brown was in St. Louis as the club's representative at the funeral of Ed Moore, brother of Terry Moore, captain of last year's world champion Cardinals. Moore was en route by plane from Panama, where he is stationed.

INDOOR WORK AIDS REDS.

Bloomington, Ind., March 18 [Special].—Manager Bill McKechnie today declared his Cincinnati Reds are 25 per cent ahead of last year in training preparations.

"We have not and will not be bothered by chilly winds in the big University of Indiana fieldhouse, like we were down south," McKechnie said. He announced that the squad would work outside Friday.

PHILS PRACTICE BATTING.

Hershey, Pa., March 18 (AP).—The Philadelphia Phils held their first batting practice today on the Hershey High school diamond. Outfielder Danny Litwhiler and Earl Naylor, who alternated last year between the pitching mound and the outfield, hit the most powerful drives.

First Baseman Eddie Murphy, rookie from the Phils' Trenton, N. J., farm, notified Manager Bucky Harris by mail today that he intends to remain at a war job in his home town, Joliet, Ill., and wants to be placed on the voluntary retired list.

BROWNS SHOW VERSATILITY.

Cape Giradeau, Mo., March 18 (AP).—Manager Luke Sewell of the St. Louis Browns has only one bonafide infielder in camp so he drafted two outfielders today and had fielding practice.

Mike Chartak was on first and Glenn McQuillen on third with Mark Christman—the only infielder—at short. There was no second baseman. Sewell, who may have to do some catching again as he did last year, took a turn on the mound in batting practice.

DETROIT SHORT OF PLAYERS.

Evansville, Ind., March 18 (AP).—The player shortage in the Detroit Tiger training camp reached the stage where Manager Steve O'Neill was compelled today to put in a ration plan.

The Tigers have nine pitchers under contract, but Johnny Gorsica hasn't reported and Roy Henshaw isn't ready to work. Six hurled in batting yesterday and to gain a backlog of fresh moundsmen, O'Neill and Coach Al Vincent took regular turns pitching today. In the last few years the Tigers had a minimum of 15 pitchers in camp.

ANOTHER PIRATE HOLDOUT.

Muncie, Ind., March 18 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates' holdout ranks were joined tonight by Johnny Wyrostek, 23 year old outfielder from East St. Louis, who failed to appear for the first workout. President William Benswanger said Wyrostek had notified him he wanted more salary than his 1943 contract called for.

HEMSLEY FACES COMPETITION.

Asbury Park, N. J., March 18 [Special].—Rollie Hemsley, who came back from baseball's boneyard to a world series berth with the Yankees, has not yet arrived in camp, but when he does, he'll find a battle on his hands. After paying tribute to holdout Bill Dickey as his No. 1 receiver, Manager Joe McCarthy made it clear today that the two other spots on his catching staff are wide open to competition among Hemsley and Rookies Aaron Robinson and Ken Sears.

ALBANY PARK AND CARDOZA WIN IN B. B. Y. O. TOURNEY

The Albany Park Friends defeated the Civvies, 44 to 33, last night in the Boy's Brotherhood Republic gym, and Cardoza lodge won from Rothchild A. Z. A., 36 to 27, to reach the semi-finals in the senior division of the B'nai B'rith Youth organization basketball tournament.

Carl Bakal, with 16 points, led the Albany scorers, and Dan Riskind topped the Cardoza outfit with 13.

Catholic Grade School Meet Enters Semi-Finals

St. Gabriel edged out Visitation, 28 to 25, yesterday in a quarter-final game of the Northern Illinois Catholic Grammar School basketball. The games were played in St. Alphonsus gymnasium. Other quarter-final games resulted in victories for St. Mary of Des Plaines over St. Leo, 33 to 17; St. Alphonsus, 23 to 13, over St. Anthony of Joliet, and St. Bernard over Ascension of Oak Park, 19 to 13. The semi-final round will be held in the Weber High school gymnasium tomorrow afternoon.

Smiley Is Awarded Woods Trophy for Free Throwing

Champaign, Ill., March 18 [Special].—Jack Smiley, guard of the University of Illinois basketball team, will receive the Ralf Woods free throw trophy from the Illini club of Rockford for this year. Smiley converted 11 out of 14 free throws for a percentage of .786 to lead the Illini regulars. Tom Johnson, president of the Rockford club, will present the trophy to Capt. Art Mathisen, who will receive it for Smiley, who has withdrawn from the university to report at Camp Custer Monday.

Dixie Walker Decides He'll Play This Year

New York, March 18 [Special].—Dixie Walker, Brooklyn outfielder, today said he had changed his mind and would join the Dodgers at their Bear Mountain training camp in a couple of days. Walker said he finally had been able to work out a plan whereby he could combine baseball with his war time job as a director of the recreational program at the Sperry Gyroscope company. Walker hasn't signed with the Dodgers yet, but he said he expected no disagreement over salary.

MASI SIGNS WITH BRAVES.

Boston, Mass., March 18 (AP).—The Boston Braves' list of unsigned players was reduced to nine today when Phil Masi, third string catcher, returned his signed contract from Chicago, where he has been employed in war work. Altho single, Masi retains his 3-A draft classification because he is the sole support of his large family.

The Braves have yet to hear from Ernie Lombardi, first string backstop and 1942 National league batting champion. Others still outside the fold are Pitchers Jim Tobin and Al Javery, Infielder Eddie Joost and the entire regular outfield of Nanny Fernandez, Maxie West, and Tommy Holmes.

HOCKETT LEAVES WAR JOB.

Lafayette, Ind., March 18 (AP).—Oris Hockett, Cleveland Indians' outfielder, doesn't believe it is necessary for ball players to quit their teams and take factory jobs. An experienced toolmaker, Hockett left a job in Dayton, O., to come to camp with the Indians.

"I really was tempted to give up the game," he said today, "but a really indispensable man is one in a thousand. I doubt if any ball player answers the description."

GRUENIG SCORES 29 POINTS IN AAU GAME IN DENVER

Denver, Colo., March 18 [Special].—Bob Gruenig, former Crane Tech High school basketball star, led the Denver American Legions to an 83 to 51 victory over Allen Bradley of Milwaukee, Wis., in a quarter-final National A. A. U. tournament game tonight. Gruenig scored 29 points. The Legionnaires held a 40 to 24 margin at the half.

One of the highlights of the game was a 59 foot field goal by Clarence Ellis which a set a national and and tourney record. Art Jacquay and Paul Cloyd scored 10 and 13 points respectively for the Milwaukee team.

GILLS WIN, LOSE IN 2 RANDOLPH BOWLING SERIES

The Joseph L. Gills divided a Randolph Street Bowling league double header last night. After losing two games to the None Better Ice Cream team, the Gills rolled a 3,261 series to take three games from the Mario's Restaurants. The latter match was postponed from an earlier date. Joe Sinke of the Gills counted 713 on games of 195, 252, and 266 in the second match. Scores:

DOERR MAY QUIT RED SOX FOR JOB IN WAR INDUSTRY

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18 (AP).—Bobby Doerr, Boston Red Sox second base star, today said he may remain out of baseball this season. He has two opportunities to enter war work here.

"It really makes little difference to me what I do this season," Doerr said. "It looks like a very uncertain season for baseball. I have a wife and baby, and I have to think of them. I am considering a job in an aircraft plant or a shipyard."

Doerr said he had returned a contract unsigned. However, he is staying in condition with daily workouts at a local playground.

Cubs, Pirates Pick Entrants in Purdue Dash

Lafayette, Ind., March 18 [Special]. Clyde McCullough, speedy catcher, will represent the Chicago Cubs, and James Russell, new outfielder, will carry the banner of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the baseball dash to be held in connection with the Purdue relays here on Saturday, March 27, according to word received today from officials of the two major league baseball clubs.

McCullough, starting his third full season as the Cub backstop, and Russell, who was purchased by the Pirates from Toronto of the International league last August, are the first entries to be named for the special 60 yard event in which the competitors will race in their regular baseball uniforms.

Each of the six major league teams holding spring training in Indiana was invited to enter its fastest man. Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland American league club training here, has indicated that he will name his entry after elimination trials early next week, as will the Cincinnati Reds now training at Bloomington. Plans of the Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers, the other two teams training in the state, have not been announced as yet.

NOVIKOFF HOLDS OUT FOR $10,000 AFTER $500 RAISE

Long Beach, Cal., March 18 (AP).—Lou Novikoff, Chicago Cub outfielder, is holding out and may remain on his defense job this season.

Lou said he returned a contract ceiling for $6,500 for the season and countered with a demand for $10,000. The $6,500 was said to represent a $500 raise over his pay of last season.

In his first full season with the Cubs, Novikoff batted .300 last year. He is 3-A in the draft.

Art Donovan to Referee Finals at Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., March 18 [Special].—Lt. Arthur Donovan, noted boxing referee, will officiate at the finals of the 12th annual Notre Dame boxing matches in the fieldhouse tomorrow night. A son of Lt. Donovan, who has been directing physical preparedness classes at the Providence, R. I., navy base, is a freshman at Notre Dame.

An added feature will be a three round bout between Harry Sparrow and Tony Allicino of the coast guard station at Grand Rapids, Mich. These boys are members of the Chicago intercity Golden Gloves team which will meet New York's best in the Stadium March 31.

CANADIENS BEAT RANGERS, 6-3, TO ENTER PLAYOFFS

Montreal Takes Lead in First Period.

MONTREAL, March 18 (AP).—The Montreal Canadiens fought their way into the National Hockey league playoffs tonight when they turned back the New York Rangers, 6 to 3.

It was a fitting windup to a season which saw many records fall. The Canadiens had been fighting for a playoff position ever since the start of the season and for the last two months were kept in fifth place, never more than three games away from the fourth place team.

Scoring Well Distributed.

The two main forward lines shared in the Montreal points, with Joe Benoit, Toe Blake, Elmer Lach, Gordon Drillon, Buddy O'Connor and Dutch Hiller each scoring a goal. Lynn Patrick, Bryan Hextall, and Felix Mancuso provided the New York tallies.

It was an exciting game and for a time it seemed that the Canadiens had given up all efforts to score, but a third period burst provided a thrilling climax, while the score of Detroit's 6 to 5 victory over Chicago gave the 9,626 fans an even greater thrill.

Drillon and Benoit sent the home team into the lead in the first period and Patrick scored for the Rangers. In the second, Blake and Lach added tallies to give the Canadiens a margin the Rangers never overcame.

Rangers Come to Life.

In the closing period Hextall and Mancuso scored for New York before Hiller and O'Connor came thru with the two extra Montreal goals.

The Canadiens praised the work of Lionel Bouvrette, who turned in a smart game in the Ranger nets. He was borrowed from the Morton Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey league to replace Bill Beveridge.

FREEZE OF WAR CONTRACTS HERE STIRS PROTESTS

48 Hour Week Imposed in Calumet Area.

group II. labor shortage area unaccompanied by a presentation of the statistical data for such a decision is disconcerting," Lyon said. "It does not reflect the conditions which come to our attention daily. While it must be taken for granted that the WMC's decision is based on over-all analysis of the local situation, many prominent concerns currently report to us an interest in expanding their war contracts and in obtaining new contracts after present jobs are completed."

Lyon emphasized that Chicago companies with diversified manufacturing facilities would be barred from war production by a blanket order freezing war contracts at present levels.

Warns of Complications.

He warned further that Chicago industry would be further impeded if the area is later placed in group I. and said that a 48 hour work week and restrictions on labor shifts would complicate operations and add to manufacturing costs.

Industrialists emphasized that the WMC recommendation that war contracts be not renewed or that new contracts be placed elsewhere would be ignored generally by government procurement agencies because the Chicago area's manufacturing facilities are vital to war production and are not easily duplicated elsewhere where a more ample labor supply may exist. WMC officials themselves have admitted that the diversion of war contracts would have only a limited value.

Also, the 48 hour work week can be installed by WMC order only when it can find suitable employment for the surplus workers who would be released.

Decision Made in Capital.

Spencer disclosed that the determination of the labor scarcity in the Chicago area was made in Washington on the basis of admittedly unsatisfactory statistical studies. These analyses indicate that the area labor supply is adequate numerically, but is not dispersed to meet demands, it was revealed.

Spencer explained also that inadequate housing and transportation facilities were determining factors in the decision that the Chicago area's labor supply would fall short of requirements. He said that the huge geographical area over which the labor force is scattered makes it difficult to move available workers to the centers of industrial activity where they are needed.

Some other industrialists and government officials said, however, that Chicago's position as a leading supplier of munitions and foodstuffs will remain unshaken under the WMC order.

Doubts Ordnance Changes.

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chief of the Chicago ordnance district, said the WMC ruling "would not appear to disturb ordnance contracts, present or future, in this district."

"For the last year in placing new contracts and in distributing orders for ordnance material, the Chicago ordnance district, whenever possible, has followed the practice of taking the work to labor, rather than bringing labor to the work," he said. The ordnance district is one of the largest sources of Chicago war contracts.

The Chicago quartermaster depot reported that the bulk of its activities—procuring nonperishable meat and foodstuffs—will not be affected by the order.

Advisory Committee Ignored.

The WMC action in Washington was taken without consulting the eight man Chicago area man power committee which was organized last Jan. 25 to advise Spencer on man power problems. Industry members of the committee disclosed that they had agreed to a gag rule which prevents them from making individual statements without unanimous agreements.

However, it was learned last night that some of the members of the committee are considering resigning because of the WMC's summary action. For more than six weeks the committee has been considering a labor stabilization agreement to halt job turnover and labor piracy. Both labor and industry members were reported opposed to such an agreement.

"We thought the WMC would consult us if any action such as imposing a mandatory 48 hour work week or freezing war contracts were contemplated," one committee member said. "We have consistently agreed that the Chicago area does not face any serious labor shortage which cannot be met without federal controls. If Washington feels it wise to go ahead without inviting our advice, I don't see the purpose of our committee. We would just as well disband."

FANSTEEL.

I notice that Fansteel Metallurgical corporation stock is selling for more than double the 1942 low. Can you account for this? What is the outlook for the company?—F. N.

Answer: The war created demand for maximum industrial production evidently has accomplished for Fansteel Metallurgical corporation what ordinarily might require extensive promotional efforts over a period of years—namely, broad consumer acceptance of the company's newer products.

Fansteel is the outstanding developer of industrial applications for rare and semi-precious metals. For years the company manufactured tungsten contact points used in automobile distributors, and certain other electrical products. Experience gained in working with tungsten led to the investigation of other rare metals having unusual properties. As a result the company is now producing items made from molybdenum, tantalum, and columbium, as well as alloys using these metals and tungsten. The products are used in the manufacture of acidproof equipment, parts for radio transmitting and X-ray tubes, rectifiers, electrical contacts, mercury switches, and other products of the automotive, chemical, electrical, and radio tube industries.

Manufacture of the cutting tools and dies is carried on by a subsidiary, the Vascoloy-Ramet corporation, with Fansteel furnishing the tantalum and tungsten carbide in powder form. Fansteel owns two-thirds of Vascoloy-Ramet, and the remaining one-third is owned by Vanadium-Alloys Steel company. Earnings of this subsidiary have risen sharply under the war conditions. Net profit for 1941 was $268,817, against $46,636 in 1940. The subsidiary's earnings are not consolidated with those of the parent company.

Fansteel's net income for the year ended Dec. 31, 1941, amounted to $363,154, equal to $1.58 a common share, against $215,540, or 86 cents a share, earned in 1940. Including the two-thirds interest in Vascoloy-Ramet, the 1941 net was $542,365, or $2.45 a common share, against 1940 net of $246,630, or $1.05 a share.

Net income for 1942, including the equity in Vascoloy-Ramet's earnings, has been estimated at more than $3 a share, with the subsidiary accounting for most if not all of the earnings gain.

Capitalization of Fansteel Metallurgical corporation at the end of 1941 consisted of $70,000 in long term bank loans, 7,274 shares of $5 noncumulative no par preferred stock and 206,434 no par common shares. An initial dividend of 25 cents a share was paid on the common in December, 1941, and a similar amount was paid in December, 1942.

The 1941 year-end balance sheets showed both Fansteel and Vascoloy-Ramet to have limited cash resources, indicating a possible need for new financing when the war ends.

VAST RAILROAD CASH OUTLAYS POST-WAR NEED

Predict Stiff Competition from Other Carriers.

Annual expenditures of not less than 1 billion dollars will be required for many years to carry out improvements which will permit the railroads to meet competition, John W. Barriger yesterday told the President's fact finding board at the United States court house. The board is taking information on the dispute between the railroads and the 15 nonoperating unions over the unions' demand for a 20 cents an hour wage increase, with a minimum of 70 cents an hour.

Barriger, vice president of the Union Stock Yard and Transit company and formerly with the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said the railroads will have to meet varied forms of strong competition after the war. Consequently, it is essential that their present income is protected and used to restore their credit, he asserted.

Refers to Auto Industry.

Among other competitors, Barriger mentioned the automobile industry, which he said is undergoing enormous development as a result of the war.

"The automobile industry has been integrated into the manufacture of munitions and military equipment on a huge scale," he said. "These plants will be available for post-war conversion of factories into the manufacture of commercial and pleasure highway vehicles of a type and at production which will represent a marked competitive advance over prewar standards and make them stronger rivals of the railroads than ever before."

Predicts Strong Competition.

Barriger warned that the railroads' entire passenger business, which is second only to coal traffic as a contributor to revenues, is in danger of collapse as a potential source of revenue under post-war competition by big new planes for long haul, and buses and autos for short haul.

A. F. Cleveland, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, said that actual earnings of the railroad industry for 1942 have been overstated by a substantial amount. Governmental agencies, which are providing a large amount of freight and passenger revenues, are paying reduced rates on various classes of traffic, he said.

HOUSE BATTLE LINES DRAWN UP FOR TAX DEBATE

G. O. P. vs. Treasury Over Ruml Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Battle lines were drawn today for house debate next week over the new and controversial income tax legislation involving the question of skipping a year's collections to place every one on a current payment basis.

Rep. J. W. Martin.

The measure approved by the ways and means committee, providing for a 20 per cent withholding tax for wage and salary earners but allowing no direct abatement of tax obligations, was praised glowingly at one end of Pennsylvania avenue and scathingly denounced at the other end of that historic thorofare, all within the space of a few hours.

Near By, Yet Poles Apart.

Those two points, the treasury department and the capitol, geographically are only a short street car ride apart but the views which were expressed, representing the opposing beliefs soon to come to a showdown on the house floor, are as divergent as the poles.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau told a press conference that the committee bill is satisfactory and asserted that the administration is 100 per cent behind it. He had conferred with President Roosevelt shortly before, it was learned.

On Capitol hill meanwhile Rep. Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.] house minority leader, asserted that the majority of G. O. P. members will have no part of the committee proposal. He predicted that, instead, they will support the Ruml plan calling for forgiveness of one year's income taxes to achieve pay-as-you-go.

Can See No Compromise.

Asked whether the Republicans might agree to a compromise somewhere between the Ruml plan and the committee plan, Martin replied bluntly:

"I cannot see where there could be any compromise with this monstrosity reported by the ways and means committee."

The G. O. P. leader said a large majority of Republicans believe it is "a sound progressive move" to adopt pay-as-you-go taxation. Then he made this strong bid for Democratic support to override the committee plan:

"The Republicans, of course, are in the minority in congress. They can and will present what they believe is a constructive contribution to the solution of our tax difficulties. To be successful they must have some Democratic support and we hope this can be secured."

The forthcoming struggle is expected to be a rousing one, and marked by bitterness unknown in recent years even on a domestic issue. The house will receive the measure Thursday and general debate will continue thru Saturday with the main battle due the following week when the chamber begins reading the bill for amendments.

Substitute Bill Ready.

Despite its rejection by the committee, advocates of the Ruml plan have been heartened by the support of Republicans. This plan is embodied in a bill introduced by Rep. Frank Carlson [R., Kas.] which will be brought up on the floor as a substitute for the committee bill.

Beside forgiveness of last year's taxes, Carlson's bill has the 20 per cent withholding tax approved by the committee and would prevent windfalls to individuals who had unusually large incomes last year by requiring those making $20,000 or more per year to pay taxes on either 1942 or 1943, whichever is higher.

The committee proposal provides an optional pay-as-you-go system for taxpayers electing to pay two years taxes in one. As an inducement it provides a 6 per cent "bargain discount" on any part of taxes on 1943 income paid before June 15, after all 1942 taxes have been paid.

Confer on Strategy.

Martin assailed this measure tonight after a long G. O. P. strategy conference on tax legislation by all the party's house members. He said no vote was taken but nearly all who spoke favored the Ruml plan.

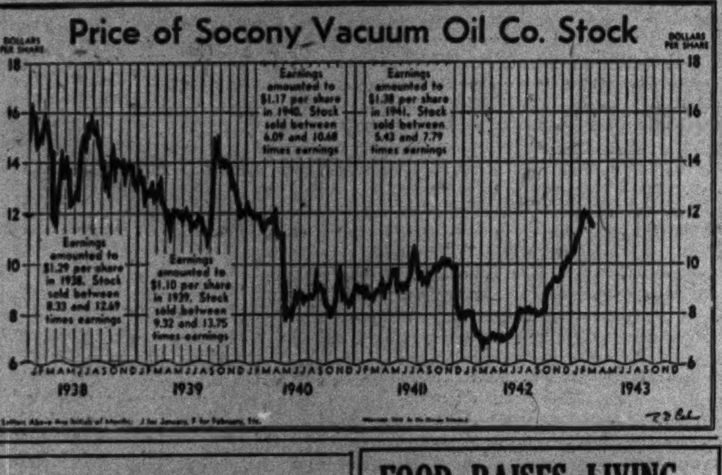
Martin criticized sharply the requirement for a doubling of the present record breaking tax burden before any one can get on an even footing with the tax collector. He asserted that most taxpayers cannot meet more than one year's obligations at a time because of rising living costs, and the necessity for buying bonds and keeping up charity contributions.

Some opposition was expressed to the skip a year proposal at the G. O. P. meeting but this had been expected because Rep. Bertrand Gearhart [R., Cal.], a member of the ways and means committee, has opposed the plan consistently.

Defections from a solid G. O. P. front are expected to be more than offset by additional support the Ruml plan will gain from Democrats.

Northwest Airlines to Ask Uniform Passenger Fare

Northwest Airlines, Inc., said yesterday that it is preparing to ask the civil aeronautics board to establish a uniform rate per mile for air line passenger fares thruout the nation before it orders a proposed blanket reduction of 10 per cent. The company said its rates are lower than the average for the industry.



Fail to Break Casket Maker Strike in N. Y.

New York, March 18 (AP).—Members of local 1728 of the Casket Makers union [AFL] voted today to continue a strike involving 700 of its membership. Spokesmen for casket manufacturing concerns last night estimated there was only a two day supply of caskets in the metropolitan area.

Health Officer Charles V. Craster of Newark, N. J., said poor families are being affected most by a casket shortage, and indicated he might resort to cremation and cold storage of bodies if the strike lasts much longer.

Robert Abelow, executive director of the war labor board regional office, said he had not been informed of the local's determination to continue the strike, but that there would be no deviation by the WLB from its policy of considering the merits of a case only when the men were at work.

Agrees on 20 Points.

Louis A. Bergdoll, president of the local, said after the union meeting that out of 24 points in its contract the union had agreed on 20, was willing to submit to arbitration on three others, but could not arbitrate on the fourth, which involved piece work.

"It is a point that cannot be compromised," he said. "To do so would be in effect asking us to disband."

Abelow said he had telephoned the office of William L. Hutcheson, international president o fthe AFL United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America at Indianapolis to ask him to intervene. He was unable to reach Hutcheson, but said the office promised to look into the situation.

Strike at War Plant.

Springfield, Ill., March 18 (AP).—About 450 employés of the Hummer Manufacturing company, producing war materials, went on strike today and spokesmen for their union, the International Association of Machinists, said they were demanding that about 35 women employés be paid the same wage scales as men.

Joseph Winoski, chairman of the shop committee of the AFL union, said the women workers were receiving 13 to 25 cents an hour less than men doing similar work. Louis D. Torrey, personnel manager for the company, said a new contract covering all employés has been under negotiation for about a year, and that contract questions were awaiting decisions of the WLB.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE ON MINER WORK CONTRACT

New York, March 18 (AP).—Hoping to prevent a possible strike threatened by John L. Lewis for April 1, representatives of northern and southern soft coal mine operators and the United Mine Workers discussed terms for a new contract for 450,000 miners again most of today—but little progress was reported. The present contracts expire March 31.

Southern owners said thru their spokesman, Edward R. Burke, that no agreements had been reached. Charles O'Neill, northern spokesman, reported after his group had met with the UMW and had held caucuses that "general problems" had been discussed. Both groups will resume conferences tomorrow.

Burke said his group rejected a union demand that miners be paid from time of entry into the mine until time of departure, instead of for actual working time. Both owner groups have turned down all other major demands, including a $2 a day wage boost for all miners.

RULES STANDARD MUST PAY TAX ON INCOMING GOODS

Springfield, Ill., March 18 (AP).—The Illinois Supreme court held today that the Standard Oil company [Indiana] is liable for payment of the state sales tax on products shipped into Illinois from its out-of-state refineries, but in the same opinion the court ruled that prior to a 1941 sales tax amendment such sales were tax exempt.

The Supreme court's decision was in a test case involving a legal question which has caused numerous firms to pay taxes on so-called "out of state" sales under formal protest. Their combined payments, totaling about $3,350,000, have been impounded in the state treasury's protest fund pending disposition of the Standard Oil case and others.

Begin Wisconsin-Illinois Electric Line in Few Days

Britton I. Budd, president of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, announced yesterday that construction of the Illinois portion of a 132,000 volt transmission line between Waukegan and Kenosha will be started within a few days. The line will serve as a war emergency connection between the electric systems of the Illinois utility and the Wisconsin Electric Power company. Budd said the new interconnection, being made at the request of WPB, is designed to serve as a mutual reserve for either system in event of emergency arising from heavy concentration of war loads in this area.

FOOD RAISES LIVING COSTS IN CHICAGO 0.6 PER CENT FOR MONTH

The cost of living in Chicago rose 0.6 per cent as a result of the sharp increase in the family food bill from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15, Brunswick A. Bagdon, regional price economist of the bureau of labor statistics, reported yesterday.

"The increase here was greater than that of 0.2 per cent for the average large cities in the United States," he said. "The federal cost of living index reflects actual prices in all types of stores where families with moderate incomes usually trade."

Price Officials Beset by Corn Peg Protests

Approve Wheat Sale

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—The senate agriculture committee approved speedily today a house passed resolution to permit the Commodity Credit corporation to sell 100 million bushels of government owned wheat as feed for live stock, poultry, and milk cows. The wheat would be sold at 100 per cent of the parity price of corn, a competing feed. P. R. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, testified that there was no inducement for farmers to sell corn at present prices and proposed a ceiling of $1.18 a bushel.

Complaints about the permanent price ceiling on corn continue to multiply, and requests for a clarification of the various possible maximum prices on the cash grain and regulations are harrying office of price administration officials in Washington, it was said yesterday.

Two conflicting opinions as to what constituted ceiling prices on cash corn were received by members of the Chicago Board of Trade and held up trading for a short time.

Since the new ceiling prices went into effect elevator interests and other large buyers of cash grain have based their operations on the No. 2 yellow grain which cannot contain more than 15½ per cent moisture.

Take Grain at Discount.

When corn was received of sufficiently good quality to grade No. 2 except for moisture the buyers have been taking the grain at the specified government discount of ¾ cent a bushel for every ½ of 1 per cent moisture in excess of 15½ per cent.

For a time it appeared as tho this trade interpretation of the OPA regulations was wrong, and that dealers had been paying ½ to 1 cent a bushel more than permitted, which would subject them to severe penalty. However, an appeal to Washington for the exact method to be followed in buying the grain disclosed that purchases had not violated the law, and an official announcement in regard to this is expected today.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the Commodity Credit corporation is making every effort to prevent distilleries, manufacturing plants, and other users of corn from curtailing production, and is said to be selling its holdings on a large scale, largely thru the regular grain trade. Farmers continued to show little disposition to sell cash corn.

Corn Futures Trade Is Slow.

Trading in corn futures was relatively slow, with all outright sales at ceiling prices. There was a fair business in exchanging between the various futures. May and December were exchanged early at ¾ cent difference but later the spread narrowed to ⅝ cent a bushel.

Wheat and other grains showed fair strength early. Wheat and rye advanced ½ cent at one time on scattered buying, but heavy selling of rye attributed to eastern interests caused a break of about 2 cents in rye and had a depressing effect on wheat. Closing sales were near the bottom. Wheat was ⅛ to ¼ cent lower and rye lost ¾ to 1 cent.

Tells Purchasing Agents How to Help After War

The purchasing agents of the country can materially aid in solving post-war economic problems by using their resourcefulness and not flooding the market with unneeded goods, Roy C. Haberkern, purchasing director of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, told members of the Purchasing Agents Association of Chicago at a meeting last night in the Hotel Sherman.

BIDS MIDWEST GRASP CHANCE AT LATIN TRADE

Could Lead World, Says Gov. Jones.

If the Chicagoland and midwest areas will take advantage of the tremendous possibilities for export trade with Latin America, they can solve many of their post-war economic problems and become the chief industrial and commercial section of the nation and even the world, Gov. Sam Houston Jones of Louisiana told a joint meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Export Managers Club of Chicago in the La Salle hotel yesterday.

Gov. Jones said that by penetrating southward thru the gulf ports to South America, the midcontinent region can subordinate the eastern seaboard as a competitor. By utilizing present war time growth and increased facilities the post-war economic problem can be solved, he said, and "save America from the great social experts who tax and tax and spend and spend; and thereby elect and elect."

Transportation Is Available.

The destiny of the midwest has been thwarted by the Civil war and east-west development of the railroads, the governor said, but today there are increased facilities of transportation by rail, inland waterway and airplane down the Mississippi valley to the noncompeting gulf ports that fully utilized industrial facilities of the midwest could use to open the vast field of Latin American trade.

Gov. Jones asserted that the end of the war will bring new economic as well as political geography. The Latin American countries, he said, will profit more and suffer less from the war than any other portion of the world and will be more ready to resume and increase their own production for exportation.

Latin nations, however, will need and demand wider varieties and larger quantities of manufactured articles, the governor cautioned, and it is up to the United States and particularly the midwest to furnish those articles.

Imports Rise 200 Per Cent.

Since the war began imports from Latin America have increased 200 per cent, Gov. Jones asserted, and termed it false propaganda to believe that products of the two areas are largely mutually competitive.

In seeking to solve the problem of absorbing men now at war or working in war industries, he said, peace industries and new developments for domestic use will help for a few years but not for long. The United States must export or dry up, he asserted.

The Mississippi valley is substantially behind other sections of the country in export business, he said, because it is wary of foreign trade, despite the tremendous potentialities.

The reason for this timidity is that midwestern industry does not realize it is no more difficult to take care of documents and complicated foreign procedure than to handle the numberless government questionnaires, and that lower freight rates and less competition are available if they look south rather than traditionally east, he said.

New Deal Is No Help.

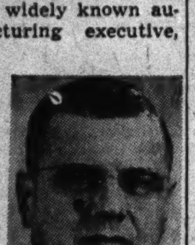
Jones used these three words—"no material progress"—in an interview to describe the south under the New Deal.

"We had great hopes when the Democrats took office in 1933," he said. "We had always voted Democratic and looked to our own party for solution of our problems. The south, with 33 per cent of the people, has only 10 per cent of the income.

"We had hoped for consideration. But we are the forgotten men of the New Deal, despite the fact that several times the south's Democratic votes have saved Roosevelt policies from defeat. I'm not anti-New Deal. I'm pro-south. We want consideration."

People and Events

Wayne H. Eddy, widely known automotive manufacturing executive, has been appointed production manager of the Dodge - Chicago plant of the Chrysler corporation, W. J. O'Neill, general manager, announced yesterday. Eddy, who has specialized in planning and production for many years, formerly was president of the Production Planning company of Detroit, where he directed conversion of a number of manufacturers from normal activities to war production. He served his apprenticeship in the automobile industry in the tool room and design department of the Stewart-Warner corporation's Chicago and Detroit plants.



Wayne H. Eddy.

The securities and exchange commission announced the resignation of John W. Houser of Long Beach, Cal., as director of the public utilities divilson and the appointment of Milton H. Cohen of Milwaukee, Wis., assistant director, to succeed him. The commission announced the appointment of Donald C. Cook of Escanaba, Mich., to succeed Cohen.

Fred Schmid, manager of sales engineering for Albert Pick company, has been elected vice president. He will have charge of sales and manufacture of kitchen equipment.

Electric Firm Has Decline in Sales, Income

Profits of the McGraw Electric company, Elgin, Ill., peace time maker of household electrical appliances and equipment, declined moderately in 1942, President Max McGraw told stockholders yesterday in the annual report. Net income was $995,761, or $2.10 a common share, compared with $1,379,012, or $2.91 a share, in 1941.

A decline was also reported in net sales, which totaled $8,438,014 last year, against $10,317,583 in the preceding year. State and federal income and excess profits taxes were $1,341,000, after deduction of $87,500 post-war refund, compared with $1,600,000 the preceding year.

Because of unusual war time conditions in 1942, comparisons of the company's operations with peacetime years are almost meaningless, McGraw said. The largest part of the company's production last year, devoted to war work, was accounted for by the fuse division, which is engaged entirely in the manufacture and sale of fuses and related products.

Net Income Declines.

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass company had net income of $11,237,132, or $5.09 a common share, in the year ended Dec. 31, compared with $14,989,178, or $6.82 a share, in 1941. Clarence M. Brown, chairman of the board, and R. L. Clause, president, told stockholders that problems arising from the war have largely affected operations because markets were restricted or normal operations adversely affected by shortages of critical material, the discontinuance of automobile production, and severe restrictions on private construction.

Consolidated net income of the American Light and Traction company, Chicago, intermediate holding company of the United Light and Power system, was $5,725,205 in the year ended Dec. 31, compared with $5,818,966 in 1941. Provision for federal income and excess profits taxes totaled $5,285,261 last year, against $3,032,824 the preceding year.

2 NEW ECONOMIC PACTS SIGNED BY U. S. AND BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 18 (AP).—Representatives of Brazil and the United States today signed two economic agreements important to Brazilian industry and the joint campaign to win the war.

The first provides an additional 20 million dollar credit from the United States export-import bank for equipment and construction at Brazil's national steel plant at Volta Redonda. In September, 1940, the United States granted a 25 million dollar credit in connection with the basic Brazilian steel agreement.

The second pact formalized in a contract the accord for development of Itabira and Vale Do Rio Doce enterprises reached at Washington, D. C., last year by Finance Minister Arthur de Souza Costa and the United States and British governments. Itabira is the site of some of the world's finest iron ore. Vale Do Rio Doce enterprises provide for the development and transportation of the Itabira ore seaward.

FEDERAL DEBT DIPS FIRST TIME IN SIX MONTHS

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—For the first time in six months the federal debt halted its climb today and dropped back.

The treasury daily statement for March 16, issued today, reported the debt on that date was $120,442,206, which was $208,037,655 less than the total debt on March 15.

Treasury officials attributed the decline largely to redemption of tax notes and other treasury obligations. The last time the daily debt report showed a decline was on Sept. 11.

BIG PROFIT RISE OF UNITED AIR SETS NEW PEAK

Climbs to 3 Million During 1942.

United Air Lines, sharing with other common carriers in the favorable earnings trend resulting from abnormal war time conditions, yesterday reported a steep rise in profit to $3,134,356 last year, an all-time record for United, compared with $598,050 in 1941. Per share earnings on its stock rose to $2.08 from 40 cents.

W. A. Patterson.

The line's results for the year were outlined by W. A. Patterson, president, in his annual report to stockholders and employés. Patterson said that "a seller's market in transportation," bringing reduced cost of traffic acquisition and increased use of facilities, made it possible for the company to serve the government at less cost than would have been possible otherwise.

Absorb Some Expenses.

"Altho direct contract work for the army, principally on a cost plus a fixed fee basis, produced a profit after federal income taxes of only $115,755, payment for war services had the effect of absorbing some of the indirect and overhead expenses," Patterson said. "However, the continuance of commercial operations enabled United to serve the government at a considerably lower cost than otherwise would have been possible. Fees received under army contracts [before income taxes] were 5.24 per cent of the cost of work performed."

In reporting the large increase in profit, Patterson said it is essential for management and for regulatory authorities to be aware of the temporary nature of the abnormal war conditions when planning rate structures and policies for the future.

Intensifies Use of Equipment.

The company intensified the use of the reduced amount of equipment remaining for commercial service flying after a considerable amount of the fleet was sold, leased, or converted at the direction of the government, Patterson said. This intensified utilization resulted in a "substantial" increase in revenue from regular commercial service, he said. Regularly scheduled revenue passenger miles for the year increased nearly 7 per cent, air mail ton miles 83 per cent, and express ton miles 126 per cent.

"The pay load was greatly augmented despite a 16 per cent decrease in revenue airplane miles flown," Patterson said.

"The war time policy of discontinuing the longer nonstop flights reduced fuel loads, making room for substantially increased pay loads. Interim stops provide greater economy in operation, since refueling can be accomplished at each way station."

Army Uses Most of Mileage.

Patterson said that United's military transport operations involve more air mileage than all of its domestic routes.

"United's crews are transporting army material and personnel across arctic wastes and to tropical countries, under the direction of the army air transport command," he said. "No full accounting can as yet be rendered of the extent to which the company has served.

"When censorship has been lifted the full story can be told of our contract flights for the air transport command on domestic and foreign routes, our military aircraft modification work at the Cheyenne, Wyo., base [where installations and alterations on military planes are made by hundreds of United employés], the training of army air force pilots and ground crews, and other activities."

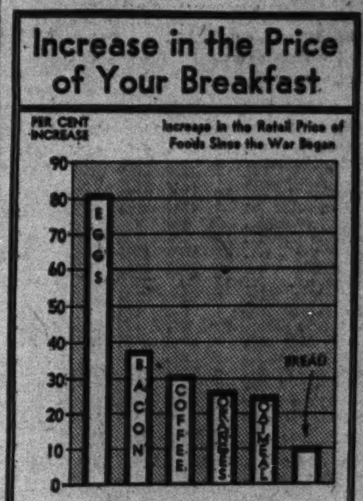
The company set aside 1 million dollars as a reserve for post-war readjustments, and carried $2,134,356 to earned surplus. The company had a net working capital of $7,699,618 at the end of the year, compared with $5,829,868 at the end of 1941. In addition, proceeds from the sale of aircraft during 1942, amounting to $2,675,000, were segregated and earmarked for replacement purposes when new equipment again can be bought.

CHARGE KAISER UNIT VIOLATES WPB PRIORITIES

San Francisco, Cal., March 18 (AP).—The Henry J. Kaiser company, Inc., was named today in a regional WPB subpena alleging 31 violations of priority regulations during the last six months at Kaiser's big Richmond shipyard No. 3.

The WPB charged that the Kaiser company, one of the nation's top producers of merchant ships, purchased carbon alloy steel, rivets, pipe, bearings, copper tubing and engines without proper priorities, or "greatly in excess of authorized use."

[In Washington, D. C., Kaiser said he had not been informed officially that the WPB had charged his Richmond ship yard No. 3 with 31 violations of priority on war supply orders. "It is a sad commentary that industry should be advised by the newspapers of a violation before receiving any official notice from the government," he said. "We have telephoned to the coast, but have been unable to locate any one who knows anything about the charges," Kaiser said.]



Prices of Hogs in Chicago Dip on Bigger Run

Hold Hogs on Farm

Des Moines, Ia., March 18 (AP).—Approximately a million Iowa hogs which normally would be on the market in the form of bacon and lard are being held on farms to raise litters of their own to boost the nation's meat larder, the state AAA estimated today. Iowa farmers plan to farrow 37 per cent more hogs this spring and 50 per cent more next fall than they did in 1942, respectively, the survey showed.

More hogs arrived at all market centers yesterday, causing a decline of 10 to 20 cents a hundred pounds in the Chicago stockyards as the office of price administration and poweral live stock groups continued to wrangle over the problem of placing ceiling prices on hogs. Twenty major packing centers received 88,000 head, compared with 73,000 a week ago and 82,000 the corresponding day a year ago.

Arrivals in Chicago totaled 26,000, including direct shipments to packers, compared with 15,387 last Thursday and 17,364 a year ago. It was the biggest Thursday supply in seven weeks and brought the four day total to 74,900.

Wipe Out Earlier Gains.

All of Wednesday's price gains as well as part of Tuesday's advances were wiped out by the decline. The average dropped 15 cents to $15.55, but held 30 cents above the low of last week. Top loads sold 10 cents lower at $15.70.

The range of prices continued narrow, with prime heavy "lard type" stock moving closer to the top of the price list. Most 200 to 240 pound young hogs sold at $15.55 to $15.65.

Cattle Arrivals Increase.

Cattle arrivals increased slightly. Most classes of beef animals were steady to strong, with sausage animals at new record highs. Bulls gained 15 to 25 cents, with top bolognas at $14.75, the highest on record. Best steers sold at $17 and most from $14.50 to $16.25.

Lambs were steady to 15 cents higher. Top grades reached $16.75 and most brought $16.25 to $16.70.

LOOP JEWELRY COMPANY QUITS AFTER 76 YEARS

Edward Kirchberg Jewelry company, 106 North State street, announced yesterday that it will close its store May 15 "at least while the war continues." The company was founded in 1867 and has been in business in the same block for 50 years.

"Future plans are indefinite," the company said, "but it seems unlikely that a new start can be made in view of conditions which prevail today. Difficulties in securing new merchandise, cost of operations, and a shortage of personnel are leading factors in this decision to cease operations. Under the circumstances, it was thought advisable not to renew the lease."

PRICE INCREASE FOR DRY BEANS GRANTED BY OPA

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—The OPA today authorized increases of 60 cents a hundred pounds for various grades of red kidney beans and 5 to 40 cents a hundred pounds for all other dry beans.

The increases apply to prices paid producers but will be reflected in wholesale and retail prices because these are based on percentage markups. OPA estimated the retail price on most varieties would be increased by far less than 1 cent a pound and by about 1 cent a pound on red kidney beans.

Wilson & Co. Will Seek Approval of Bond Issue

Wilson & Co., meat packers, is preparing to file application this month for registration of a 20 million dollar issue of new 3 per cent first mortgage bonds to provide funds for retiring about the same amount of first mortgage 4 per cent bonds due in 1955 and convertible 3¾ per cent debentures due in 1947. It is expected that if the securities and exchange commission approves the application the new issue will be put on the market early in April.

Absenteeism Will Bar 'E' Awards to War Plants

Washington, D. C., March 18 (AP).—The navy announced today that army-navy "E" awards to manufacturing plants for excellence in war production will be withheld from organizations "failing to show a good employé attendance record.

EXPECT DELAYS IN FIXING PRICE CEILING ON HOGS

Producers Present Case to Byrnes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Plans to impose ceilings on sales of hogs and other live stock will probably be postponed for several weeks as a result of opposition by live stock producers and members of congress, officials of the office of price administration said tonight.

The announcement followed an all day discussion of live stock prices by government officials and representatives of the meat industry. At one meeting OPA officials heard producers opposing the plan charge it would cut meat production and disrupt live stock marketing, and other OPA officials heard meat packers argue that the same things will happen if ceilings are not imposed.

Carry Protests to Byrnes.

Late today a committee representing live stock producers called on Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes to express opposition to the proposed ceilings. The group was headed by P. O. Wilson, secretary of the National Live Stock Marketing association.

Wilson said they urged Byrnes to withhold approval of live stock ceilings at least until other meat controls to be imposed soon are given a chance to correct present price inequities. Such controls include meat rationing, licensing of all meat slaughterers, and dollars and cents ceilings on meat cuts at retail. Byrnes made no commitments, but agreed to consider the whole problem, Wilson said.

Altho OPA has agreed to postpone its plans temporarily, the decision as to whether the ceilings will ultimately be adopted is expected to rest with Byrnes, who acts as referee between OPA and the department of agriculture, which has opposed ceilings as too difficult to administer.

Producers Voice Opposition.

Opposition to the proposed ceilings was expressed earlier by more than 50 stock producers and their representatives, along with some members of congress, at a meeting with James K. Gailbraith, OPA deputy price administrator.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] told Galbraith that the program is inconsistent with the administration's avowed program to attain maximum food production this year. He asserted that price ceilings on live animals would wipe out the incentive for live stock producers to attain maximum output and would create chaos in live stock marketing.

"When a decision must be made between imposing price controls and boosting production of vital food, the need for production must prevail," O'Mahoney said.

He was seconded by Rep. William S. Hill [R., Col.], who said that such regulations would lead to premature marketing of live stock before they are fattened and would create an impossible problem of enforcement because of their complexity.

Believe Rationing Will Aid.

Wilson and other producers' representatives expressed the belief that live stock prices will be brought into line with ceilings on dressed meats when meat rationing starts, because the demand will then be brought into balance with the supply. The producers said it would take an OPA army of 250,000 persons to police live stock ceiling regulations. Galbraith expressed doubt that meat rationing would solve the problem.

Meanwhile, a group of independent meat packers were telling A. C. Hoffman, head of the OPA food price branch, that failure to adopt live stock ceilings is squeezing them out of business, because live stock prices are too high in relation to controled prices on meats.

Offers Ceiling Plan.

Wilbur La Roe, counsel for the National Independent Meat Packers' association, called for an immediate statement by OPA of its policy on the question, and offered to present the association's plan for imposing hog ceilings.

A packers' committee, headed by Earle Thompson, president of the Reliable Packing company of Chicago, will meet with OPA officials tomorrow to outline the price ceiling plan. Representatives of the American Meat Institute, which has headquarters in Chicago, will meet an OPA group next Thursday.

Halsey Offers 5 Millions in City of Boston Notes

Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., is offering, at a price to yield 0.60 per cent, 5 million dollars of City of Boston 0.67 per cent temporary loan notes dated March 22, 1943, due Nov. 3, 1943. The notes are regarded by the bankers as legal investment for savings banks in New York and Massachusetts.

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR AS TRADING SHRINKS

Turnover Slumps Below a Million Shares.

New York, March 18 (AP).—Assorted favorites moved up in the final hour of today's stock trade but many leaders again failed to show strength in an irregular market.

Lightness of selling from the start, combined with persistent tho selective investment demand, was a bolstering influence. War news from Africa and Russia also was on the side of bullish forces. Further profit cashing on the long recovery movement, however, proved a handicap. Reports of impending important international developments caused some speculative caution.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 46.1 the fifth successive day in which it had failed to register a gain. The market also narrowed, 847 individual issues being traded 100 less than yesterday. The ticker tape frequently was at a standstill.

Standard Gas Climbs.

Standard Gas and Electric preferred stocks strengthened near the close, and finished up more than 2 points each at new highs. Also at best levels for 1943 or longer were American Sugar, Cuban-American Sugar, Standard Brands, United Air Lines, and Pan American Airways.

Air transports still reflected optimistic forecasts of post-war prospects in contrast with predictions that rail traffic might undergo a substantial reduction when peace returns. Rail shares, however, maintained their equilibrium and the majority ended a shade ahead. Even the recently weak reorganization carrier stocks steadied.

RAIL BONDS ARE MIXED.

New York, March 18 (AP). — Both strong and weak spots appeared in the rail section of the bond market again today. Trading in carriers was the biggest factor in volume of $15,166,500.

Many of the wide swings in the rails were regarded as further adjustments to the implications of the Supreme court decision Monday in the Milwaukee road reorganization case. Interest in low yield corporate issues lifted some prices fractionally.

Limited activity in United States government and foreign loans involved few important price changes.

CHICAGO PRICES GAIN.

Prices advanced yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange and 10 new highs for the year were set. Turnover declined to 25,000 shares. Volume leaders were Chicago corporation common, Midland United common, and Ken-Rad Tube and Lamp. In the last half hour Stewart-Warner was up ⅛ from New York close.

WOULD
$25 HELP?
$25 FOR 30 DAYS
COSTS ONLY 75c

Quite often $25 in cash is about all it takes to tide a person over until payday

As you can see from the example above the cost on our monthly rate of 3% on balances of $150 or less and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150, is extremely moderate. Of course, if you need a larger amount, just let us know. Loans $10 to $300

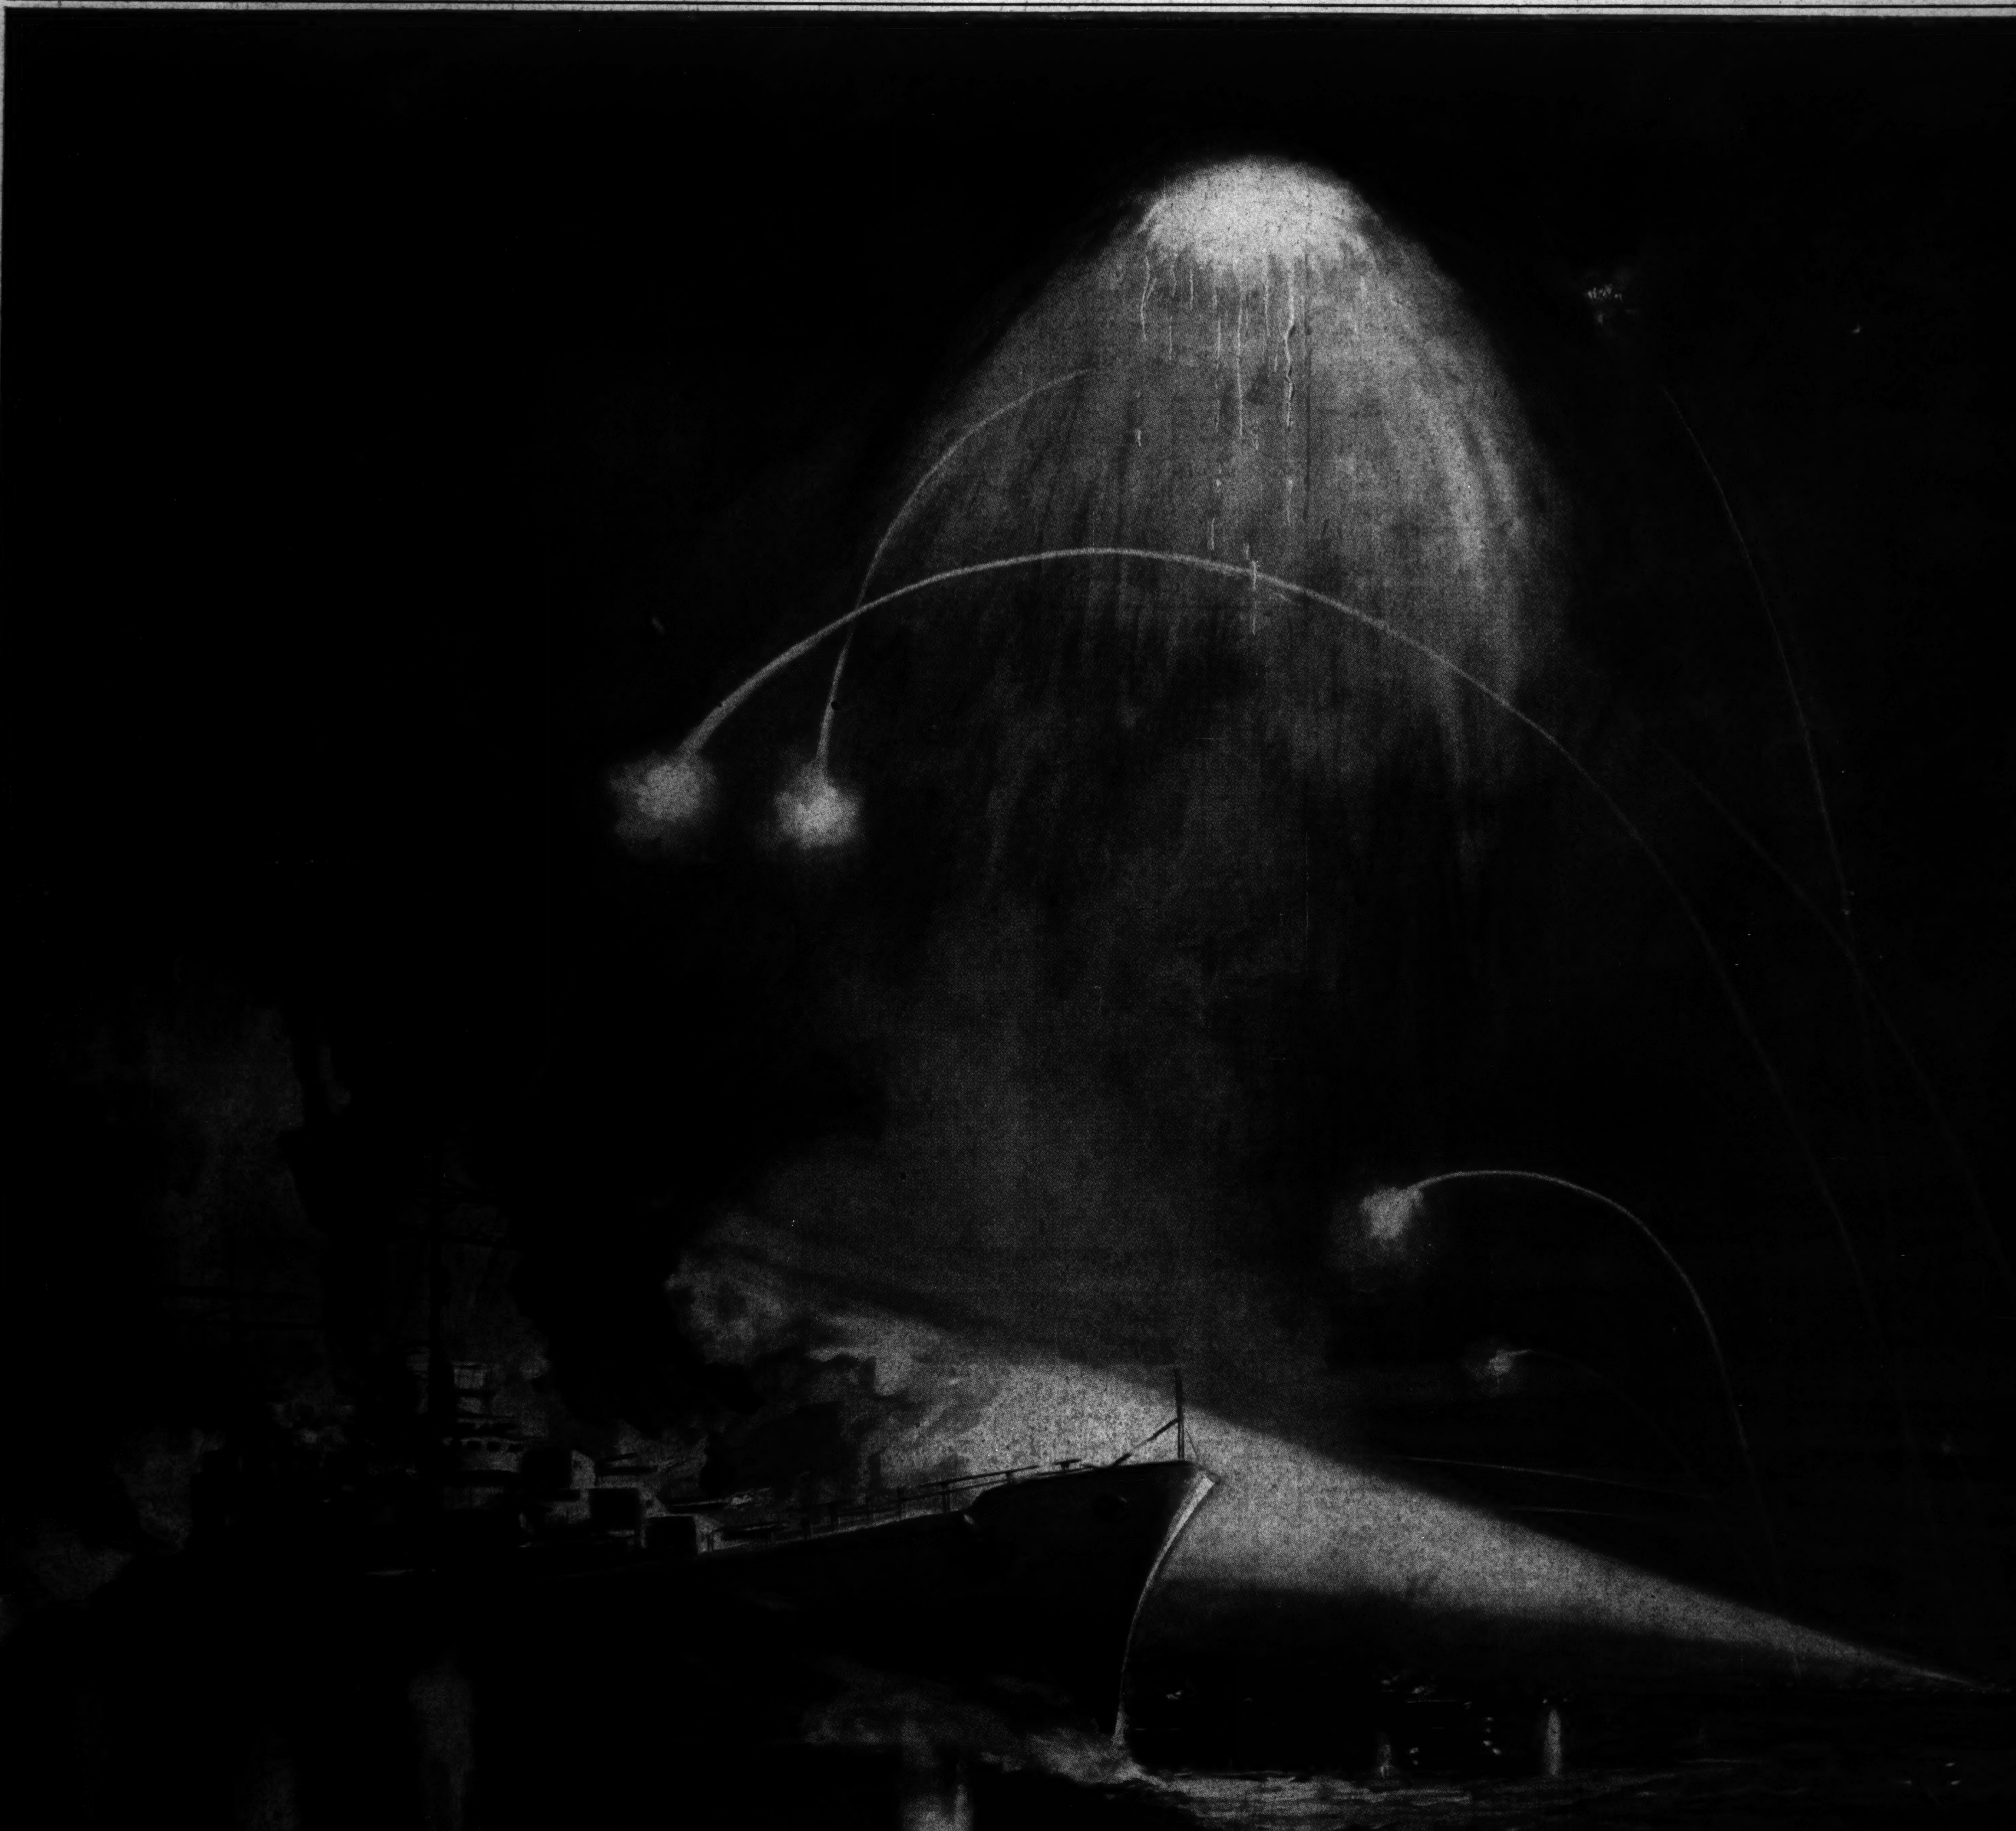
THE LAST FIGHT OF THE GALLANT ATLANTA



THIS is the artist's conception of the last action of the gallant light cruiser Atlanta, in Savo Sound, off Guadalcanal, in the early morning hours of Nov. 13. It was in this battle, the bloodiest and most destructive action of surface ships so far in the war, that the Atlanta was so severely damaged that it could not be saved. It was this battle, so costly to the Japanese, that started their rout from Guadalcanal. An anonymous officer of the ill-fated Atlanta has told his story, "The Log of the Mighty A," to a Tribune writer, and this story will begin in Sunday's Tribune. The dramatic account of this man's experience, covering 75,000 miles at sea and thrilling encounters with the enemy of the Pacific, will be told in 14 instalments. The story starts with the young man's enrollment in a naval officers' candidate school and ends with his return to America, a veteran and hero of the sea. His name is withheld because he wants to avoid publicity and because he feels that there were many others in the battles at sea who performed their duties as well as he. If you want a true word picture of the war against the Japanese don't fail to read this thrilling epic of the Pacific, "The Log of the Mighty A."
